LBJ Signs Nuclear Treaty, New Agreement With Soviet

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson announced today agreement has been reached between the United States and the Soviet Union to begin talks "in the nearest future" on mutual limitation of nuclear weapons.

Johnson, in a speech prepared for a White House ceremony for signing of the nuclear nonproliferation treaty, said:

"At this moment of achievement and hope I am gratified to be able to report and announce to the world a significant agreement—an agreement I have actively sought and worked for since January, 1964.

Reach Accord

"Agreement has been reached between the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics and the United States to enter in the nearest future into discussions on the limitation and reduction of both offensive strategic nuclear weapons delivery systems and systems of defense against ballistic missiles."

U.S. officials said no date or place for the initial meetings with the Soviet Union had been set but they described the agreement as being equivalent in importance to the start of talks in Paris with North Vietnam on the Vietnam War.

The President said discussion on limitation of nuclear weapons would be complex — and they would not be easy.

"We have no illusions that it will be (easy). I know the stubborn, patient persistence it has required to get this far. I know the difficulties that lie ahead. I know the fears, suspicions and anxieties we shall have to overcome."

Officials said the agreement on starting talks about scaling down the nuclear race dates back to a letter sent to the President in December, 1963, by Nikita H. Khrushchev, then Soviet premier, regarding "territorial disputes."

Requested Talks

Johnson used the 1963 letter to specifically request discussion of nuclear weapons limitations when he replied to Khrushchev in January, 1964.

The exchange of letters came soon after Johnson took office following the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

Johnson's announcement came several hours after Alexei Kosygin, who succeeded Khrushchev as Russian premier, announced at a similar treaty signing ceremony in Moscow that the Soviets had asked all nations to make sweeping cutbacks in the arms race, including a reduction of nuclear weapons.

U.S. officials said the subject of nuclear arms had been under discussion between Washington and Moscow since the Johnson-Khrushchev exchange and that the two nations reached "broad agreements" at the Glassboro summit conference between Johnson and Kosygin in June, 1967.

The officials said, however, that "only in the last few days has the Soviet Union agreed to move into these talks."

282ND ANNIVERSARY—The Town of Rhinebeck's birthday celebration this weekend went over with a bang as a score of events, both socially and historically significant marked its 282nd anniversary. Repel Viet Attack, Cite 16 for Valor

By JACK WALSH

SAIGON (UPI)—U.S. Paratroopers smashed a 200-man Viet Cong attack on a nearby base in close combat so fierce that American commanders awarded 16 medals for valor on the spot, military spokesmen said today.

The first battalion of the Army 101st Airborne Division's 3rd Brigade killed at least 38 of the guerrillas who stormed out of the night Sunday, hurling satchel charges and grenades into American foxholes already hit by rockets and mortar shells.

Five Viet Cong pitched over dead within two yards of one U.S. foxhole. One guerrilla crumpled so close that his chinese-made automatic rifle pitched into a U.S. bunker.

No GIs Killed

Military spokesmen said no Americans were killed. Twenty-two suffered wounds during the two hours of a special kind of GI heroism. One medal went to Spec. 5 Ubaldo Meastas of Santa Monica, Calif., a medic who rushed 20 yards through heavy fire to treat three wounded comrades in a four-man foxhole.

As Maestas bent over one wounded man. A Viet Cong scrambled to within five yards of him. The medic dived for an M16 rifle, cut down the guerrilla with a burst of fire and finished bandaging the wounded man. Maestas then carried the most seriously wounded man back to a safer bunker.

The Viet Cong sought to overrun the battalion base as part of a drive in the suburbs that intelligence sources said shows sure signs of building a third major Viet Cong try this year at assaulting Saigon.

Shortly after the Communists were driven off, Maj. Gen. F.K. Mearns inspected the battlefield, talked to the troopers and —in a rare instant action — pinned four Silver Stars and 12 Bronze stars on the chests of the Paratroopers.

Allied troops prepared for more action in the Saigon area. U.S. B52 Stratofortresses eight times today pounded guerrilla base areas in Saigon's outskirts.

The heavy raids followed the Viet Cong's blowing up two bridges, one near Saigon and another near the vital U.S. supply base at Cam Ranh Bay.

The B52s struck targets ranging from 26 to 57 miles from Saigon and Navy warplanes bombed a brick factory two miles west of Vinh. They reported red dust and smoke rose 2,000 feet.

U.S. fighter bombers sank a 150-foot ferry 23 miles northwest of Dong Hoi.

The U.S. is "mighty close" to finding the way to peace in Vietnam despite Communist efforts to use the Paris talks for propaganda. This is the view of Vice-President Humphrey. Story on page 40. Closer to the war, North Vietnam's food problems may be easing because much of the country is free from U.S. bombing. There is evidence that thousands of North Vietnamese civilians are returning to farming. Story on page 2.

For DeGaulle...His Finest Hour

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG

PARIS (UPI) — President Charles de Gaulle today shattered the Communists and won the most stunning landslide election victory in French history. Napoleon never came close to it.

After a second Sunday of voting in parliamentary elections, Frenchmen gave the 77-year-old leader control of 355 seats in the 487-seat national assembly. The parliament's term runs five years.

A month ago De Gaulle's previous 242-seat minority government wobbled as France collapsed into the chaos fo a 10-million man national strike plus worker-student street riots with police. The Communists and other leftwingers proclaimed the De Gaulle era dead and called for leftwing government.

But the voters cut the number of Communist seats from 73 to 33 and their allies, the Federation of the Left, slumped from 121 seats to 57.

Election officials said no single political group had won such a victory since France became a republic in 1793. At 77, Charles de Gaulle may have engineered his finest hour.

True to his image of lonely grandeur, De Gaulle — who had told Frenchmen to choose between himself and Communist "totalitarian dictatorship" —remained silent in his country house, coming back to Paris later in the day.

In Paris, Communist leader Waldeck Rochet, his own dreams of power crumbling, told newsmen the election result was wrought by De Gaulle's "blackmail by fear."

Rochet declared the new parliament will be but a rubber stamp for De Gaulle.

Two Sundays ago Frenchmen voted in the first round of parliamentary elections, giving Gaullist forces 47 per cent of the vote. In the runoffs of 319 seats Sunday they gave his forces 46 per cent.

But since each national assembly seat is decided locally, that percentage was good enough to build a landslide.

With all but two seats decided, Gaullist forces took 6.7 million votes and the leftwingers won 6.1 million.

Provisional final official figures showed the center party—which preached a middle way between De Gaulle and the left-dropped from 41 to 29 seats. Scattered extremists and splinter rightwingers took 11 seats.

When the newly elected French national assembly meets July 11 it must face a major immediate and unpleasant task — figuring out how to pay the staggering cost of the "1966 revolution."

The "revolution" started with a student takeover of much of Paris' Left Bank Latin Quarter involving battles with police and widespread destruction which led to strikes that involved 10 million workers throughout the nation.

Finance Minister Maurice Couve de Murville was expected to ask for immediate revision of the 1968 budget. It was needed to cope with the deficit arising from the sweeping wage increases that were the price for a return to work by striking employes in state-run services.

Officials said the wage increases of 10 to 20 per cent granted to 1.8 million employes of the state administrative services would cost more than $1.4 billion annually.

Viet-Bound GIs and Airliner... A Bid to Kosygin for Its Return

MOSCOW (UPI)—The United States today asked Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin to return the 231-man airliner forced down on a Soviet Pacific island.

Under Investigation

An American Embassy spokesman said Kosygin replied the matter was under investigation.

U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson made the request during a 15-minute talk with Kosygin and First Deputy Foreign Minister Vasili Kuznetsov during a ceremony at the signing of the treaty banning the spread of nuclear arms.

Following the talk with Kosygin and Kuznetsov, Thompson talked with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko. Diplomatic observers said the plane presumably was one topic.

No Soviet Mention

The Soviet press and radio has made no mention of Sunday's Kuriles Island incident.

The Pentagon said the Seaboard World Airways flight chartered by the military was "escorted" by Soviet MIGs to the Russian base on the island of Iturup in the Kurile chain north of Japan.

The Pentagon said the pilot of the American plane radioed that he had landed with no injuries or damages.

In Washington, the State Department was in contact with the Soviet Embassy about the incident.

The last transmission picked up from the pilot of the plane came at 7:42 p.m., Sunday, 27 minutes after it was intercepted, the Defense Department said. Details of what caused the incident were still sketchy.

An airliner with 17 Americans aboard was hijacked and the pilot, who defected to the United States eight years ago, was forced to fly the plane to Havana. Story on page 2.

"It apparently strayed off course," the Pentagon said, "and was intercepted by Soviet aircraft at 7:15 p.m., EDT and escorted to a landing...."

Big Reception Committee

(The pilot of the plane gave a running radio account of his predicament until he met his "big reception committee" on the ground, another pilot said.

(Capt. Dick Rossi of Los Angeles, pilot of a Flying Tiger Airlines plane, was just ahead of the civilian airliner. He said the forced-down pilot talked his way into captivity apparently so that friendly aircraft would know his exact location.

(Rossi said he saw no American military planes in the area at the time the chartered airliner was intercepted.)

The Defense Department said there were 174 soldiers, 31 Navy men, 9 Air Force personnel and 17 crewmen aboard the Seaboard DC8 jet.

Pentagon spokesmen also said its ultimate destination was Vietnam but U.S. military spokesmen in Saigon expressed doubt it was taking the servicemen to the war zone. They said the next scheduled Seaboard plane there was due July 11.

Indications were the transport was 80 to 100 miles off course. This much variation to the north would have put it in the vicinity of the Soviet islands.

It Was a Beach of a Day

By JEAN F. DOLAN

Blue skies and hot weather after a bleak week of rain brought out the sun seekers Saturday and Sunday.

A record crowd of 2,500 jammed Kingston Point beach Sunday as temperatures went to 94 and humidity remained high. Saturday's beach crowd numbered between 677 and 700.

The sunshine was most welcome after a solid week of rain and overcast skies which dampened spirits as well as the landscape.

More of the Same

Norwood Locke at the Kingston City Engineer's office reviewed the record rains of June which dumped a total of 7:30 inches during the 30-day period. The previous record of rainfall in June was a 6.58 accumulation in 1944. Temperatures did not reach any records during the month. Previous hottest day in June was a 103 degrees in 1950.

Today is to continue warm and humid with the mercury slated to go even higher than yesterday. Possible showers and thundershowers are due late today and tomorrow as a cold front comes through.

Crystal Ball Promising

Vacationers and holiday planners can look forward to nice weather for the long weekend, according to extended forecasts at this point. Temperatures will average about normal with a minimum of shower activity showing in the crystal ball.

The descending cold front raised havoc in the west and midwest over the weekend causing severe thunderstorms and tornadoes and dumping six inches of snow in Montana.

In the northeast however, the lazy summer should remain just that with no hint of the white stuff for at least another five months.

Free From U.S. Bombing

Food Problem May be Easing in N. Viet

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. intelligence reports indicate North Vietnam's food problems may be easing because much of the country is free from U.S. bombing.

Analysts say there is evidence that thousands of North Vietnamese civilians, mobilized during the bombings to repair roads and railroads, are returning to farming.

Intensive Farming

U.S. reconnaissance has detected intensive farming on rice lands in the Red River Delta which lay fallow during the bombing period because, analysts said, the peasants were used to keep supply routes open.

For more than a year, North Vietnam reportedly has been sustained by wheat and wheat flour shipments, mostly from the Soviet Union.

But now there are fewer food ships arriving at Haiphong and other North Vietnamese ports, the analysts said.

Cargoes observed being unloaded in North Vietnamese ports include large tonnages of fertilizer. Meanwhile, petroleum products have returned to top place, over food, in shipments landing by sea in North Vietnam.

U.S. intelligence estimates that between 150,000 and 250,000 North Vietnamese civilians have gone back to work since the current U.S. bombing limitations went into effect March 31.

Diverted by Government

Former Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara repeatedly told Congress that more than 500,000 persons had been diverted by the North Vietnamese government from farming and other jobs to maintain and repair lines of communication battered by U.S. bombs and rockets.

He cited this in an effort to show how the bombing created a burden for North Vietnam, a country which always has had a marginal food supply and only a primitive industrial system.

American intelligence officers reported some major permanent repairs to important facilities along lines of communication since President Johnson invoked the ban on U.S. bombing north of the 20th parallel.

The huge Doumer bridge, slammed repeatedly by U.S. bombers, was said to have been rebuilt and two shattered spans replaced.

Using Big Bridge

Trains are starting to use the big bridge which crosses the Red River close to Hanoi. Roadbeds on the bridge have been prepared for trucks, but have not yet been surfaced.

Meanwhile, sources said, the rail lines have been adapted with an adjustable third rail. This is so freight cars can roll along the entire route through China and North Vietnam without, as in the past, requiring transshipment of the North Vietnamese border to cars of a different gauge.

Plan Priority For Power Plant In Upstate Area

MASSENA, N.Y. (AP) — The State Power Authority is planning pumped storage projects it anticipates will be required by the members of the State Power Pool between now and 1985, Chairman James A. Fitzpatrick said today.

Fitzpatrick discussed the prospects in an address for a ceremony celebrating 10 years of power production at the St. Lawrence Power Project.

The authority is giving highest priority, Fitzpatrick said, to a plant proposed for Gilboa, about 40 miles southwest of Albany.

If surveys and sub-surface explorations indicate the site is satisfactory, prompt application will be made to the Federal Power Commission for a license to construct a 1,000-megawatt plant at Gilboa, he said.

The estimated cost is $110 million.

It would involve two reservoirs, one in the bed of the Schoharie Creek between Gilboa and North Blenheim, and a second on Brown Mountain.

Fitzpatrick said the two communities would not be disturbed and very few residents would be displaced in the construction area.

He emphasized that the proposed Gilboa facility would be in no way competitive with the Cornwall plant for which Consolidated Edison Co. is seeking a license.

Recreational facilities also are planned at Gilboa.

Submarine Costs Are Going Up

By BOB HORTON

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy has awarded identically priced contracts to two shipyards for six new nuclear attack submarines, each costing similar ones built in recent years about $7 million more than

While the prices of the contracts are the same—$107.4 million for three submarines from each company—the pacts have significantly different terms.

The Navy is at a loss to explain exactly how the identical awards came about but said the different types of contracts would be "mutually beneficial" to both the government and the shipyards.

Ingalls Shipbuilding Corp., and General Dynamics Corp., were signed to build three Sturgeon class nuclear attack submaries in two contracts announced simultaneously as the Navy wound up buying for the fiscal year ending Sunday at midnight.

Although it wasn't specified in the June 25 announcement, a spokesman said the contract to Ingalls of Pascagoula, Miss., was a "fixed price incentive" award while General Dynamics of Groton, Conn., received merely a letter contract.

This meant, he said, that Ingalls' margin of profit will be higher if it completes the three submarines for $107.4 million or less, than if it exceeds that price.

In the case of General Dynamics, however, the letter contract implies that the $107.4 million is not a fixed cost; rather, "the hope is that we can negotiate a lower price later," the spokesman said.

The reason given for the difference was only that "in the course of negotiations it was found to be mutually beneficial to both the government and the companies," he said.

The spokesman said he could not disclose the maximum margins of profits which might be possible under the awards.

The question of whether defense companies are receiving more than adequate profits from Pentagon orders has become a rather heated item in Congress in recent months.

The six subs under the total $214,833,000 program would cost slightly more than $35.8 million each.

The five previous Sturgeon class subs, of which General Dynamics built three and Ingalls built one, cost an average of $28.9 million each.

The Navy did not advertise for bids on the latest contracts. One other company—the Newport News, Va., shipyard—was considered for the work but lost out because its proposal was termed too costly.

The 3,800-ton vessels are equipped with the SUBROC (submarine rocket) which can launch a nuclear warhead from underwater to fly through the air, dive underwater again and detonate against a hostile submarine.

The 278-foot long craft also has four 21-inch torpedo tubes and glides along at 30 knots.

Seek Safe Return Of Hijacked Pilot

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The wife of Cuban-born pilot George Prellezo pleaded to visit him in a Havana jail today as Southeast Airlines prepared to retrieve its hijacked airliner.

Airline President Irvin L. Jones Jr., who said the Cuban government had promised the safe return of the plane's other occupants, told newsmen a substitute pilot would be flown to Havana today. The airliner, hijacked over the Florida Keys Saturday by one of its 15 passengers, was to be flown to Key West this afternoon.

The other crew members, identified by the airlines only as stewardess A. Kimball and copilot Dave Martin of Miami, are to be returned with the passengers and the plane.

Jones' statement included no mention of Mrs. Prellezo in plans to retrieve the plane.

"I have requested to be on that flight" to Cuba, 33-year-old Olga Prellezo said Sunday. Her husband, naturalized as a U.S. citizen last year, was accused by the Cuban government of being a deserter.

"Since they are leaving my husband there, I see no reason for him to be there alone. I want to be there to plead for him, to do any necessary thing to get him back," Mrs. Prellezo said.

"I beg and demand of the U.S. government to be allowed to travel to Cuba so I can be near my husband," she said.

Prellezo, 36, arrived in Miami June 27, 1960, as the pilot of a regularly scheduled cargo plane from Cuba, his wife said.

"He chose to stay here and that is no crime. The plane was flown back to Cuba," said Mrs. Prellezo, a Puerto Rican-born American.

The Prellezos have five children, ranging in age from 5 to 14. All are naturalized or native-born U.S. citizens.

Prellezo radioed the Federation Avation Agency at Key West Saturday that one of the passengers was holding a "gun at my head" and had ordered him to fly to Cuba.

In Havana, copilot Dave Martin said the gunman entered the cabin as the plane neared Key West.

Mrs. Prellezo, flanked by her children, told a news conference in Miami Sunday that her husband was very proud of his U.S. citizenship.

"I never thought that I would see the day I would have to feel ashamed of being an American citizen. It only gets you in trouble all over the world," she said.

The State Department, whose affairs in Havana are handled by the Swiss Embassy there, said Prellezo was assured all of the protections guaranteed any U.S. citizen.

"We've made all the official protests," said a department spokesman. "What's left to do? An invasion?"

The Southeast plane was the sixth airliner diverted to Cuba this year, and the 14th such incident in the last two years.

Rash of Area Weekend Accidents

NEW PALTZ FATALITY—A car owned by Phillip Dipple, 19, of New Paltz is shown following crash Saturday on North Ohioville Road in the Town of New Paltz. A passenger in the auto, Michael Confer, 18, also of New Paltz died at Vassar Hospital in Poughkeepsie as a result of injuries sustained in the crash. Dipple remains in critical condition. The auto was rounding a left curve on North Ohioville Road when the driver lost control and struck a tree and stone wall. Confer was Ulster County's 22nd traffic fatality of the year.

By JON POWERS

Ulster County recorded its 22nd highway fatality of the year on Saturday when Michael Confer, 18, of R.D. 2, New Paltz, died as a result of injuries sustained in a one-car crash on North Ohioville Road in the Town of New Paltz.

A rash of county highway accidents over the weekend left several persons in serious or critical condition in area hospitals; a Syracuse man narrowly escaped injury when his single-engine plane crashed in Greene County and a one-car accident in the Sullivan County community of Monticello claimed the life of a 37-year-old man.

At 12:20 a. m. Saturday, Confer and 19-year-old Phillip Carl Dipple, both of New Paltz, were traveling south on North Ohioville Road when their auto lost control rounding a sharp left curve. The auto went off the right side of the road and struck a tree stump and a stone wall. Both youths were rushed to Vassar Brothers Hospital in Poughkeepsie, where Confer died at 11:10 a. m. on Saturday. Dipple remains in critical condition as a result of shock and internal injuries.

Stuart Caufman, 37, of Monticello, was pronounced dead at the scene when his car went out of control on Route 17 and struck a guard rail on the side of the road. Caufman was reportedly ejected from the car.

Ronald P. Larkey, 34, of Syracuse escaped injury when his single engine Cessna plane crashed into a tree near the Greene County community of Prattsville at 6:30 p. m. on Sunday.

Police said that Lackey, who was flying alone, attempted to land his plane on a dirt road when he discovered he was low on fuel. When he tried to pull up after the landing attempt, the plane lost power and crashed. The incident was investigated by Leeds troopers.

In other area accidents on Route 32 in Saugerties; a Brooklyn man is in serious condition at Kingston Hospital following a one car crash near mile post 81 on the thruway, and a Kingston man was injured slightly in a crash on route 9W in the Town of Lloyd.

At 7 p. m. Saturday, near the intersections of Routes 32 and 32A in Saugerties an auto driven by George Mayer, 67, of 324 Leona Avenue, Bogota was traveling south on Route 32 when it struck a car driven by Glen Thorne, 17, of Malden-on-the-Hudson traveling north. Thorne suffered lacerations of the head and was taken to Kingston Hospital by Saugerties Ambulance. A passenger in the Mayer vehicle was treated for minor injuries at Kingston Hospital and released. Mayer was issued a summons for failure to yield the right of way at a stop sign.

On Sunday afternoon, James Jackson, 71, of 239 Catherine Street Kingston was attempting a left turn off Route 32 in Saugerties when a motorcycle driven by 20 year old Stephen Sher, of 56 Laurel Avenue, Clifton, New Jersey attempted to pass the Jackson vehicle. The two collided, and Sher was thrown from his motorcycle. He was taken to Benedictine Hospital and treated for abrasions and contusions of the body. Jackson was not injured.

A two-car accident on Route 9W in the Town of Lloyd resulted in minor injuries to two men on Saturday morning. Richard Hogan, 25, of Colonial Gardens, Kingston suffered lacerations of the face when he swerved to avoid a car stopped on the highway and struck an auto driven by Robert Glitt, 27, of the Bronx. Glitt suffered lacerations of the elbow, but did not require hospitalization. He was issued a summons for failure to yield the right of way.

Two accidents were also reported on the Ulster County section of the Thruway. On Sunday morning two persons, Romona Atkins and Louis Smith, both of Brooklyn, were involved in a one-car accident south of milepost 81 south of Kingston. Smith is reported to be in serious condition at Kingston Hospital and Atkins' condition is rated as satisfactory. Details of the accident were not available.

Thruway Accident

A two-car accident was reported on Sunday near milepost 101, south of the Saugerties interchange. Rofina Arigianello and her husband, Octavio, of Toronto, Canada, were taken to Beneditine Hospital and later released. Passengers in the second car were not identified.

Dutchess County troopers reported two minor mishaps over the weekend. At 11:40 p. m. on Saturday an auto driven by Thomas O'Keefe, 27, of Hyde Park struck the rear of an auto operated by Wesley D. Carson Jr., of Stattsburg, on Route 9 in Hyde Park. O'Keefe was arrested on charges of driving while intoxicated and will appear before County Judge Mangold tomorrow. Neither man was injured.

At 11:10 Sunday evening, an auto driven by William Pitcher, 45, of Tivoli, was traveling east on Route 402 in the Town of Red Hook when he drove off the side of the road and struck a utility pole. Pitcher was arrested on charges of driving while intoxicated and was held in lieu of $250 bail. He was not injured.

Rhinebeck Celebrates Its 282nd Anniversary

Several thousand persons watched 500 volunteer firemen from all over New England take part in an antique hand pumping competition at the Dutchess County Fairgrounds Saturday. First place winner in class one of the New England States Veteran League Muster was Gardner No. 4 of West Newbury, Mass., throwing water 179 feet 8½ inches into the air.

The firemen's competition was only one of the many colorful events to take place in Rhinebeck this weekend as the town celebrated its 282nd birthday.

Local volunteers from Rhinebeck did not participate because their pumper, the Pocohontas, is under repair. A hand tub, it was made in 1859. Rhinebeck is the only New York member of the New England group.

Brisk winds played havoc with the water and at times spectators were dowsed with the spray as firemen aimed their strong streams of water at a target. The company able to spew water the farthest was the winner. Judges made the determinations by measuring drops landing on white paper markers.

The first place winner in class two was "Hancock" of Ashburnham, Mass., with a distance of 156 feet, 3½ inches.

Fireman Injured

The actual pumping operation, sometimes a dangerous one, resulted in injury to one fireman who was taken to Northern Dutchess Hospital. He unintentionally released his hold on the pumping brake and was knocked reeling when the brake struck him in the forehead. He was not seriously injured.

In addition to the exertion needed to pump the water, the contest offers its most dangerous moment if the "dome" blows due to pressure behind it. Veterans recalled the death of one of their number when struck by a bursting dome.

The "domes" are very heavy metal containers where water pressure is developed. They blow off when pressure exceeds the capacity of the equipment.

This may occur when firemen strain at handbrakes to build up enough pressure to outdistance their opponents.

Parade Is Held

A parade preceded the pumper contest Saturday and a number of drum crops were on review including the Kip Hose Drum and Fife Corps of Poughkeepsie, the Continentals from Newburgh and the Dutch Arms Drum and Fife Corps of Rhinebeck.

On Sunday, activities began with the decorating of graves of Revolutionary War soldiers located in a cemetery known as God's Acres, adjoining the Old Dutch Church.

Included in the tour were the Beekman Arms, the oldest continuing operating hotel in America and the Dutch Reformed Church in Rhinebeck, founded in 1730 by the Holland dutch.

Also, the Starr Institute, founded by Mrs. Mary R. Miller, grandaughter of General Philip Schuyler, in memory of her husband William Starr Miller, representative to Congress from New York, 1845-47.

Foster's Coach House Tavern, the site of the home of Capt. Cyrus DeWart, Revolutionary War drill master, who trained recruits on the lawn of the Beekman Arms.

Robert Marvin Law office, originally the law office of Congressman Ambrose Wager. Later it became the Temperance Hall at which local followers of Carrie Nation met. More recently it was the law office of the late Harry Hill Jr. who was a representative of the United States at the Nurenburg trials.

Reenactment of Scene

Later in the day, the Junior Historical Society showed slides of further points of interest in the area and a reenactment of the scene that inspired the writing of the Star Spangled Banner was produced at Legion Park in the evening.

Displays of historical interest were placed in store windows and historical markers dotted significant places throughout the village.

Broke on Boom Economy

The new surtax and saving bill will put a brake on the booming economy, government and private economists believe. Once the bill is in effect, the outlook will depend in some degree on whether and when the Federal Reserve Board eases its tight monetary policy. Assuming the easing of monetary policy, here are some expectations:

Jobs: Unemployment will rise to four per cent, and perhaps 4.5 per cent of the labor force by the first quarter of next year, compared to 3.5 per cent now.

Prices: Inflation will not cease quickly. But the rate of increase in the price level, now four per cent a year, should drop by the end of this year.

Interest rates: The outlook is for little, if any, easing of current high interest rates for the rest of this year. There is much more probability now that funds will be available because there is far less danger of funds flowing out of thrift institutions, the main mortgage lenders, in search of higher interest rates.

Money market rates: A decline in the money market rate is expected, with different assessments of how much and how soon.

For personal borrowers: Little change in rates is expected, with different assessments of how much and how soon.

For personal borrowers: Little change in rates is expected for personal borrowers. But again there is much less fear that money might not be available at any price.

Balance of payments: A slowdown in the economy should produce an even greater slowdown in the recent rapid rise in imports. The benefit to the balance of trade, and therefore to the balance of payments, should range between $500 million and $1 billion. Travel and overseas expenditures would not be affected.

Overall, the slowdown in the boom should be beneficial, even though it drops to one per cent from the growth average of five per cent of recent years. It is better than a major depression at home and abroad, which was feared without the surtax and spending cut.

End of a Dream?

Resurrection City has died without a bang and not even much of a whimper.

Police slogging through the muck of the dispirited encampment in Washington's West Potomac Park put an end to the symbol of a dream that began in May with high hopes and a vow to awaken the conscience of the nation.

It had been mostly downhill since then. Instead of stirring the nation's conscience, the movement encountered increasing difficulties with its own. Just as the plywood city became polluted by filth and indiscipline, so did the cause become contaminated by dissension, indecision and irresponsibility.

The inability or unwillingness of its leaders to control militant and hoodlum elements in the ranks rubbed Congress and the public the wrong way.

Martin Luther King, in conceiving the Poor People's March, had called for dignity and purpose. His successors largely conducted it in confusion, squalor and demagoguery.

But although the record on this evidence is sorry and the campaign fell far short of declared goals, it has not been totally without effect. Wheels have been set in motion, however slowly, in Congress and the administration that could lead to new and more rationally conceived programs to deal with the chronic poverty of a minority that shames the increasing affluence of the majority.

The intent was to draw attention to the existence and plight of the poor, and that the Poor People's March has done, no matter how irritating and unpolitic the methods. The haves have been made forcefully aware of the have-nots in this country of economic extremes.

7¼% Mortgage Loan

The prevailing rate of interest on conventional home mortgages throughout the United States is the criterion fixed by law for the New York Banking Board's authority to determine interest rates on mortgage loans. By announcing a rate of 7¼ per cent effective July 1, the board confirms, in effect, that the national rate is now at that figure.

When the New York rate goes to 7¼ per cent, it will replace the six per cent ceiling that had been in force for 88 years, since 1880.

In the past, loan institutions added "points"—a lump sum payment when the loan was made—to the charge for the mortgage. Under the new law, any points will be included in calculating the interest cost. There is also the possibility that the maximum will not be charged. The rate is a ceiling and the ceiling may be breached, depending on circumstances.

A major result will be to make mortgages available to home buyers. Mortgage money at 7¼ per cent is made competitive with other loan rates.

Reforms Long Overdue For Court Appointment

WASHINGTON — Weaknesses in government are sometimes not fully exposed until glaring cases arise. Oddly enough, the Constitution of the United States does not provide a method whereby the people can actually have a direct voice in choosing the nine men who comprise the Supreme Court of the United States. It is more than ever necessary, therefore, in view of recent developments, that a constitutional amendment be adopted which will set forth clearly the qualifications of those individuals who may be selected to sit on the Supreme Court and perform the all-important task of interpreting the Constitution.

Today a president can appoint a political crony or a lawyer with little professional experience and ignore the many able and highly qualified judges who have served their country and are worthy of promotion. One way to cure this defect is to adopt a new amendment to the Constitution, which might read somewhat as follows:

"No person shall be eligible for appointment to the Supreme Court of the United States who has not served at least five years either in the federal or state judiciary.

"Any person nominated for the position of an associate justice or chief justice shall be confirmed only by a two-thirds vote of the Senate.

"No justice of the Supreme Court of the United States shall be eligible to serve after the age of 75. While a member of the Supreme Court, he shall not participate directly or indirectly in any political or governmental operations, including advisory or personal activities, and shall refrain from public comment on issues which are currently involved in cases pending before the courts.

"No person who has been engaged in raising funds for any political party or candidate during a period of at least five years prior to his nomination shall be eligible for an appointment to the bench.

"Before the Senate Judiciary Committee acts upon any nomination submitted by the President for an associate justice or chief justice, full public hearings shall be held at which the previous record of the nominee, whether in the federal or state judiciary, shall be subjected to thorough examination."

These reforms have long been overdue. The fact that a vast number of decisions have been rendered by 5-to-4 majorities is in itself an indication of how far apart many of the justices are in their interpretation of the principles of the Constitution. Likewise, too often the opinions of Supreme Court justices have read like political speeches or treatises on sociological subjects. The high court's opinions have not always adhered to the basic rules of law which have for centuries guided English-speaking peoples. For many years, there have been appointments of judges with conscientious points of view but with prejudices based upon their long-time affiliation with one side or the other of highly controversial questions.

Again and again, federal judicial appointments have been handled as political patronage. Judges for the lower courts have really been sometimes picked through the pressures of members of Congress. Many of the judges, of course, are well-qualified, but frequently they are politically-minded persons whose training actually doesn't qualify them to sit in judgment upon the many important cases that come before the federal courts.

The Constitution speaks of the "Supreme Court" of the United States. This means that the people expect not merely dispassionate and impartial judgments but an adherence to the basic principles of the American Constitution. The founding fathers intended the document to be applied impartially and without regard to the benefits that can be bestowed by various decisions which vitally affect one or the other of the parties to the dispute.

What kind of man really makes a good judge? Certainly a lawyer with a distinctly partisan mind is not as well qualified as another person who, however deep may be his prejudices, knows in all honesty how to be impartial and fair.

Too many justices who have sat on the Supreme Court have been ill-equipped to interpret the Constitution, yet they have had the deciding voice in many a 5-to-4 decision. The time has come for appointments to the highest court of the United States to be completely detached from the ruses and chicanery of American politics.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

No one ever smiles at an airport. The clerks are overworked and harassed. The passengers buck long lines for the privilege of waiting. The operations departments, trying to make a profit on a $6,000,000 investment, make the schedules so tight that the aircraft is barely on the ground before it is swept, dusted, packed with people, and sent winging to a distant city.

My quarrel is not with the airlines. Nor with the rich pilots. The system is obsolete. A flight from Chicago to New York may require 90 minutes. It seems arbitrary and unreasonable to ask the passenger to check into O'Hare 45 minutes before flight time, and wait 15 additional minutes for his luggage at Kennedy. The percentages are exorbitant.

Last year I logged about 53,000 miles of flight. Twenty-three thousand were in a trip around the world. The others were New York to Miami; Miami to Los Angeles; New York to Denver, etc. Jet travel is the fastest, safest, most serene form of travel devised by man. The equipment and the personnel combine to form a dream-like perfection.

The de luxe dinners are a joke. I would prefer to have one fresh sandwich and a cup of coffee than all the spuriously French choices of Cornish hen, roast beef au jus, filet mignon and duck a l'orange, served on a plastic bird cage floor mat with congealed gravy and tiny wells for cold potatoes and beans.

Dinners are served best on overseas flights, and these too are third rate. The seat belt sign harkly blends with the soup. The so-called catering by famous chefs is made ridiculous by the speed with which the stewardesses must serve 150 passengers. From the takeoff onward, four of them chase each other up and down the aisles fighting the clock.

Eliminate the dinners. Give us something solid, like a good sandwich, and coffee or tea, to hold us for an hour or two. Psychologically, the seat belts are bad for business. They can be built into the armrests of each seat, and folded inward on rachets for the comfort and protection of the passenger. They should be kept in place from the moment of seating until the plane stops at the terminal. Clear air turbulence is still not predictable.

The No Smoking sign is a farce. Passengers should be permitted to smoke from the moment of boarding to the time of landing. There is no provable danger from JP-4 or any other jet fuel inside the aircraft. If there is a risk, it is better to have someone light a cigarette while the plane is on the ground, and have it blow up at that time, than wait until it is airborne.

The two government agencies, the Civil Aeronautics Board and the Federal Aviation Agency, are crushed under the weight of expanding traffic and complex regulations. They do the best they can, and it is not good enough. The President should appoint an Aviation Commission to study the characteristics of flight and make proper recommendations to Congress for the handling of ever-increasing traffic.

Both agencies work in fear. CAB, for example, will spend two years reassembling a plane that crashed over a six mile area, merely to learn that the captain of that aircraft should not have headed into a local squall full of cells on takeoff. They spend a fortune just to call it "pilot error." If this is so, then FAA should supervise the routings of all flight captains, exercising the right to veto flight plans that have an element of danger. The dead will not applaud two years later.

The designs of the airports themselves are great if you are an airplane. They are walkathons if you are people. The passengers check in, wait for tickets to be written, get luggage weighed, wander around looking for a gate number, flog their feet, a quarter of a mile, wait like cattle in a corral, show the ticket again to a clerk behind a desk, walk to a plane, climb in, show the ticket again to a stewardess, and collapse in the wrong seat.

The flight itself is a rest for what is coming when you land. You crowd toward the rear just in time to hear a voice say: "We are deplaning from the front only today." Then there is that long walk, that long wait for luggage, and that long face.

The Wright Brothers would have busted out laughing...

Anti-Violence Drive Favored By TV Audience and Industry

WASHINGTON — In response to our columns on TV violence, thousands of advertisers, broadcasters and viewers have written or phoned us that they wish to join in the campaign to eliminate bloodshed from the home screen. Here are the heartening developments:

1. An outpouring of mail has come from parents who have resolved to turn off TV programs that feature violence, and to boycott the products of companies that sponsor TV violence. Some parents have told us that they also intend to stop buying toy guns and other weapons for their children.

2. A group of advertising men, calling themselves Advertising Men for the De-escalation of Violence on TV, has formed on Madison Avenue. Its members agree to urge to stop sponsoring violence on TV.

3. Levi Strauss and Co., makers of slacks, shirts and jackets, has dropped its sponsorship of violent programs. After we identified the company as sponsor of one of the worst shows on television, C. M. Robinson, Jr., the advertising manager, wrote us: "We were tempted to strongly disavow any responsibility for programming which is really controlled by the networks....As I said, this was our first reaction. We are now convinced that you are right and that it is our responsibility to consider program content."

4. Network officials, producers and writers have been reappraising their programs. CBS has taken the lead in editing excessive violence out of future scripts. The other two networks also have rewritten and refilmed some violent episodes.

5. Sen. Tom Dodd, D-Conn., has revived his investigation into TV violence. Six years ago, he suppressed evidence that would have embarrassed his friends on the TV networks, particularly NBC. We happen to have copies of the documents he suppressed, which we promise to publish if he tries again to throttle the investigation.

6. Several newspapers have joined in the outcry against TV brutality and bloodshed. Editorials from coast to coast have called for a cleanup of the TV screen.

Power of the Public

The most effective way for the public to get better television, however, is to stop patronizing the sponsors of TV violence. At our request, the National Association for Better Broadcasting has listed the 10 TV shows their experts consider "most detrimental" for children.

Their list of the 10 worst shows on TV includes (1) The Avengers, ABC; (2) Felony Squad, ABC; (3) Guns of Will Sonnett, ABC; (4) Cimarron Strip, CBS; (5) Man from U.N.C.L.E., Syndicated; (6) Batman, ABC; (7) Wild, Wild West, CBS; (8) The Saint, NBC; (9) Rat Patrol, ABC; and (10) Voyage to the Bottom of the Sea, ABC.

"All 10 of the programs are excessively violent and graphically illustrate terror, horror, brutality and sadism," Frank Orme, the NABB's executive vice president, reported to us. "All 10 are televised during time periods when the sets are readily accessible to almost all children."

Orme also condemned what he called "the Saturday morning ghetto of animated horror." The worst of these cartoon shows, he said, are Super President, Superman, Birdman, Herculoid, Super Six, Mighty Mightor, Space Ghost and Samson and Goliath.

Parents can check for themselves when companies sponsor these kill-for-thrill programs. However, we have gone through the sponsor lists and picked out the companies which have spent the most money on TV violence.

We found more Polaroid Camera commercials than any others on the programs condemned by the Better Broadcasting Group. Polaroid spent $9,377,000 for TV advertising last year, but it was impossible to break down exactly how much went to pay for TV violence.

Next on the list was Beecham Products, manufacturers of MacCleans Toothpaste, Brylcream and Kellog's Tasteless Castor Oil. Beecham spent $8,669,700 on TV commercials last year. Our survey showed that the American Tobaeco Company, which lavished $45,869,700 on TV advertising in 1967, also spent a large portion on violence shows. American Tobacco produces Lucky Strike, Pall Mall, Tareyton, Carlton and Montclair cigarets.

Other companies which seemed to favor violent programs were Warner-Lambert, producer of Dubarry cosmetics and Listerine, which shelled out $42,515,900 for TV commercials last year; Mars, Inc., makers of Three Musketeers, Mars Bars, Milky Way, Snickers, M and M, Forever Yours and Starburst candies, which spent $11,658,500; and Shell Oil, which had a $19,349,500 TV budget.

Even the Bell Telephone Company, which has won acclaim for its high-quality Bell Telephone Hour, has also sponsored more than its share of TV violence.

It is up to the public now to demonstrate that TV violence doesn't pay.

Poetic Briton

There was so much rejoicing at the United Nations over the success of the joint Soviet-American effort to push through a nuclear non-proliferation pact that the British delegate, Lord Caradon, sat down and wrote a poem.

He was most lavish in praising V.V. Kuznetsov, the Soviet deputy foreign minister, who flew to the UN from Moscow to help rescue the treaty. Wrote Lord Caradon:

"He comes like a dove from the communist ark.
And light appears where all was dark.
His coming quickly turns the tide;
The propaganda flood subside.
And now that he has changed the weather,
Lion and lamb can vote together.
God bless the Russian delegation—
I waive consecutive translation."

Fortas and Thornberry

When Chief Justice Earl Warren submitted his resignation to President Johnson, he was asked by the President whom he would recommend to take his place. The answer was "Abe Fortas."

The Chief Justice based this recommendation partly on age — Fortas is 58, which would give him 12 to 15 active years to guide the court — partly on executive ability. The work of the Chief Justice, as Warren has seen it and has so effectively carried it out, is partly that of an administrator. Under the Constitution, the Chief Justice is charged, among other duties, with administering the judicial system of the United States, and for this he is paid the magnificent sum of $500 per year.

But also he must be the administrator — and a tactful one — of the eight other, sometimes differing, Justices of the Supreme Court. The manner in which the Chief Justice assigns the writing of opinions, and the manner in which he gets unanimity or fails to get it, can influence history.

For instance, Warren very carefully and tactfully waited until he could get the entire court to go along with him in the famous 1954 school desegregation decree. Justice Robert Jackson was the most difficult member of the court on this issue. He was the last hold-out. Justice Stanley Reed, of Kentucky, was also reluctant. Finally, after winning over Reed, Warren went to see Jackson, then in the hospital, with the final draft of the decision. Jackson had been wavering but during that hospital visit he okayed the text which made the court unanimous.

Fortas, as his successor, Warren told the President, would have the ability to affect and influence harmony on the court.

Fortas's Closest Friends

Three men have played a dominant role in the life of the new Chief Justice. One of these, Harold Ickes, his old chief in the Interior Department, is dead. The other two are William O. Douglas and Lyndon B. Johnson.

Fortas was a law student at Yale when Douglas was a member of its law school faculty. When Douglas came to Washington as a member of the Securities and Exchange Commission staff and later a commissioner, Fortas came with him. He was Douglas's understudy.

Douglas was close to Harold Ickes, who served as Secretary of the Interior longer and more vigorously than any man in history; and he recommended Fortas to Ickes as an up-and-coming young man who could help him in his battle with the big power companies.

It was while Fortas was handling reclamation and power projects in the Public Works Administration that a gangling young Congressman from Texas walked in to get a dam built for three Texas counties on the Little Colorado River. Thus began the friendship between Abe Fortas and Lyndon B. Johnson, culminating in Abe's appointment to head the Supreme Court of the United States.

It was Fortas who did some fast and effective footwork when Johnson squeaked through by 87 votes in his Senate race over Gov. Coke Stevenson. There was a flap about some of the ballot boxes and Stevenson talked about a recount. Fortas advised getting a quick ruling from Justice Hugo Black. Black, who had jurisdiction over the judiciary of the Southwest, came through with a favorable ruling which made Lyndon Johnson Senator from Texas. Probably it was the most crucial event in Johnson's career which later took him to the White House.

Just after Johnson squeaked through in his Senate victory, he met Homer Thornberry, who had run for Congress to fill Johnson's vacant Congressional seat. Thornberry had won the primary by 37 votes and asked Johnson what his margin was.

Lyndon was on his way to his radio station in Austin, and announced that Thornberry had described his margin as a landslide. Thereafter in Texas the new Senator was nicknamed "Landslide Lyndon."

Abe Fortas went on to become Under Secretary of the Interior under Harold Ickes. His friend and former teacher, Douglas, went on to become Associate Justice on the Supreme Court.

Later, when Lyndon Johnson became President, his first appointment to the court was his old friend Fortas, who then joined his old teacher, Douglas. Today, with Fortas's elevation to Chief Justice, the onetime student for the first time becomes senior to his onetime teacher.

During the years, Fortas has remained intimate with his two friends, Douglas and Johnson. He is a little sensitive regarding the latter friendship, because as a member of the court he is supposed to observe the strict separation of the judiciary from the executive provided by the Constitution. Yet he has been a frequent adviser to his old friend, now President. Johnson has consulted him on a wide range of problems, from the appointment of U.S. Attorney David Bress to be a judge in the District of Columbia, to escalation of the war in Vietnam.

Fortas is extremely touchy about published reports of this advice, and has claimed such reports were libelous.

This points to one of the chief questions on which Fortas differs with the man whom he replaces. Earl Warren had pioneered the New York Times vs. Sullivan decision exemption public officials from protection of the libel laws in most cases Fortas has fumed over this privately and has issued one ringing dissent publicly. He gives promise of being a sensitive Chief Justice when it comes to public criticism.

Generally, Fortas will be a more conservative jurist than the man whom he replaces. He will also be more political. He will tend to adhere to the diagnosis of the famed Mr. Dooley that "the Supreme Court follows the election returns."

On the question of constitutional freedoms, however, Fortas will be just as strong as the Chief Justice. His law firm of Arnold, Fortas and Porter is the only one in Washington which had the courage to defend victims of the late Sen. Joseph McCarthy during the period when government officials were being terrorized by the McCarthy witch hunt. Their law firm undertook the defense of Dr. Owen Lattimore of Johns Hopkins when McCarthy branded him as a communist and, after weeks and months of battling, finally won out.

The Arnold, Fortas and Porter law firm also defended the most famous case of a government civil servant accused by McCarthy, namely Dorothy Bailey.

In both cases they worked without fee, at tremendous cost to themselves and their staff and despite some criticism from the firm's blue ribbon clients on Wall Street.

Among these blue ribbon clients have been corporations prosecuted by the Justice Department for antitrust violations. However, Fortas in his decisions on the court so far has been a vigorous upholder of antitrust laws.

Crook's Nemesis

Homer Thornberry, now elevated to the Supreme Court, will be the second Texan in history to serve on the court. President Johnson emphasized this to some of the Senate leaders from the South whom he consulted before making the Fortas-Thornberry appointments.

Tom Clark, father of Attorney General Ramsey Clark, was the only other Texan ever to serve on the Supreme Court. President Johnson pointed out to some of the Southern Senators that since Clark had bowed out in favor of the first Negro ever appointed to the Supreme Court, Thurgood Marshall, Texas was now due the current vacancy.

Johnson first got to know Thornberry when the latter was a crusading young attorney in Austin, where, as the President has said, "he drove all the crooks out of town."

The President quotes the late Speaker Sam Rayburn as describing Thornberry as "the ablest member of Congress he knew." And since Rayburn also thought very highly of the young Texan who now serves as President of the United States, this was a real compliment.

As a member of the Rules Committee Thornberry was a staunch upholder of the New Deal and a battler for liberal legislation. He left an important hole on the Rules Committee which Lyndon Johnson worried about when President Kennedy appointed Thornberry as U. S. District Judge in Austin.

In Terms of Political Affiliation

Political Events of Last 6 Months Have Not Brought Gains for GOP

By GEORGE GALLUP

Copyright, 1968, American Institute of Public Opinion. All rights reserved. Reproduction in whole or part strictly prohibited, except with written consent of the copyright holders.

PRINCETON, N. J., June 29—Political events of the last six months and the sharp criticism of Administration policies have not brought gains for the Republican party in terms of political affiliation.

The GOP is still very much the minority party in American politics today, as evidenced by the latest measurement of political affiliation, based on a total of 9,136 interviews throughout the nation.

This shows 27 per cent of all adults classifying themselves as Republicans, 46 per cent as Democrats and 27 per cent as Independents. The figures for the previous report in October showed the GOP at the same strength, but the Democratic party with slightly less appeal than today 42 per cent. Thirty-one per cent of adults were classified as Independents in the earlier report.

Dilemma of GOP Candidate

The dilemma facing a GOP presidential candidate is apparent in these findings. In order of win, a Republican not only has to keep his own party adherents in line, but he was make deep inroads into the ranks of Independents and at the same time appeal to as many Democrats as possible. Reliance strictly on party followers can by politically suicidal, as Barry Goldwater discovered in 1964.

Minority Party for 3 Decades

The GOP has had minority party status for nearly three decades. Twenty-eight years ago, in 1940, the Republican and Democratic partes were nearly equal in numerical strength, 38 per cent to 42 per cent respectively, with another 20 per cent of the adult population classified as Independents.

The next 24 years, from 1940 to 1964, marked a long-term decline for the GOP, while the Democratic party made corresponding gains.

The proportion of Independents changed comparatively little over this period.

Independents, is should be pointed out, are the in-between group. When Democrats or Republicans become disenchanted with their own parties or candidates, they tend to move first into the ranks of Independents before going to the other side.

The following question was asked to determine party affiliation:

"In politics, as of today, do you consider yourself a Republican, Democrat, or Independent?"

Following is the 28-year trend (th proportion who did not classify themselves—2 per cent in the latest measurement—has been excluded in each set of figures):

Trend: 1940-1968

	Rep. %	Dem. %	Ind. %
Latest	27	46	27
Oct. '67	27	42	31
Feb. '67	27	46	27
1966	27	48	25
1965	27	50	23
1960	30	47	23
1940	38	42	20

Advantage With One Group

The GOP has greater appeal than the Democratic party with only one group, those with a college background.

The Democratic party has a tremendous advantage among the non-white segment of the population—it is preferred by about 11-to-1 over the GOP.

An encouraging note for the GOP is the high proportion of uncommitted persons in the young adult group who, with the right appeals, could be lured into the Republican ranks in the future.

Memoriam

In loving memory of my husband and our dad Leo T. Arace who passed away five years ago today July 1, 1963.
He had a nature you could not help loving,
And a heart that was purer than gold,
And to those who knew him and loved him,
His memory will never grow cold.
LOVING WIFE, CHILDREN AND GRANDCHILDREN

Memoriam

In loving memory of my brother, Clarence Lee, who passed away four years ago June 29, 1964.
His life was earnest, his actions kind,
A generous hand and an active mind.
Anxious to please, loath to offend.
A loving brother and faithful friend.
SISTER, ALICE

Memoriam

In loving memory of my husband Clarence Lee who passed away four years ago June 29, 1964.

Dutchess Man Named

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Charles J. McEvoy of Dansville is the new president of the New York State Exchange Clubs.

Also elected at the service group's annual meeting Saturday were Gerald Wardell of Martin Schreck of Poughkeepsie, secretary, and Leo Block of Tonawanda, treasurer.

Man Uninjured Faces Violations

A 21-year-old Saugerties man severely damaged his 1968 convertible but escaped uninjured early today when he lost control of the vehicle on Route 212 near Woodstock and rammed into a tree. He faces two traffic violations.

Richard N. Fellows of Route 2, Saugerties was issued summonses by Sheriff's Deputy Donald Van Aken for failure to keep right and speed not reasonable and prudent. He must appear Wednesday before Town of Woodstock Joseph Forno.

Deputy Van Aken said Fellows was proceeding east on Route 212 toward Saugerties when he lost control near Chestnut Hill Road, skidded on the pavement, spun around on the highway with the rear of the vehicle hitting a tree.

Auxiliary Police Meet

Members of Kingston-Ulster Auxiliary Police are holding a special meeting tonight at 8 o'clock at the Moose Hall, 82 Prince Street. All members are urged to attend as final plans will be made for the July 4 parade in Saugerties. All are asked to wear uniforms.

Berger and Mrs. Gottfried Berger of the civic group which raised the donation at a penny social for the third annual Hilda Hopkins Memorial Fund Drive. Other members of the fund raising committee were Mrs. Donald Dawson and Otto Thoden. The donation will benefit the local treatment center for handicapped children. (Freeman photo by Kruh).

SEC in Rare, Open Hearing On Buying, Selling Stocks

By JOSEPH R. COYNE

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Securities and Exchange Commission, in one of its rare open hearings, is investigating the cost of buying and selling stocks in the United States.

In a series of hearings opening today, the SEC expects to question staff experts from the New York Stock Exchange on the minimum fee structure under which the major exchanges set the cost of buying and selling stock.

The SEC w,hich has held public hearings only once or twice over the last 20 years, also will check into the practice of fee splitting among major brokerage houses.

Just last week, in an apparent attempt to strengthen their planned defense of minimum commissions, the New York and American exchanges voted to eliminate fee splitting and grant a discount on fees for large transactions.

The SEC said the initial phase of its hearings will run through July and will be devoted to gathering facts on minimum rates.

In August, the SEC will turn its attention to economic and legal aspects.

Included in the first phase will be an examination into who pays the fees and commissions, how they are computed and how they are distributed and shared.

The Justice Department has challenged the entire system of minimum fees and contends they should be set by competition. If anything, a maximum fee is needed to protect investors from excessive costs, the Justice Department maintains.

In scheduling the hearings, the SEC opened the entire minimum rate schedule for scrutiny and suggested an interim reduction of fees by the New York exchange to take effect Sept. 15.

As an option the exchange could eliminate minimum fees on transactions exceeding $50,000 and open the way for cuts through negotiation between the parties.

Other national exchanges were asked to consider cuts but no deadline or specific proposals were made by the SEC. Normally, the New York exchange sets the pace for the industry.

The interim schedule proposed by the commission could result in substantial savings to investors, especially on large orders.

On a 5,000-share purchase of a $30 stock, for example, the present fee is $1,700. It would be $914 under the commission's schedule, a savings of $786.

Honor Brown At Testimonial

Arthur H. Brown, long time law enforcement officer with the Sheriff's Office and the district attorney was honored at a testimonial dinner Saturday night at the Sky Top Restaurant by friends, members of his family and members of the DA's staff.

Brown, known as the DA's man completed 43 years of public service this week. His retirement became effective July 1. Brown was most recently county investigator for the District Attorney's Office and prior to that held a similar position with the Sheriff's Office.

Every law enforcement agency in the county was represented at the dinner. District Attorney Joseph Torraca served as toastmaster.

Former Kingston Police Chief Robert F. Murphy spoke briefly about the days when Brown and he were both rookie police officers in their respective departments.

Assistant District Attorney Albert Lonstein and County Investigator Thomas F. Mayone were in charge of arrangements.

Patterns: Major Opportunity

State-Wide Hearing on Transit Plan

F. Roy Madgwick, associate director of Mid-Hudson Pattern for Progress, said at hearings June 26 in Albany that the state now has a major opportunity to use transportation facilities for consciously structuring urban development.

"The question today," he said, "is not so much, 'What transportation bottlenecks need our immediate attention,"as it is 'How can transportation facilities be used to achieve the economic, social and environmental objectives of the various regional communities of the state?'"

The hearings were called by New York State Transportation Commissioner J. Burch McMorran to hear testimony relative to the development of a state-wide master plan for transportation, which must be submitted to Governoror Rockefeller by Sept. 1.

The Department of Transportation was created last year as part of a new overall program which included the $2.5 billion transportation bond issue approved by voters in November.

Pattern, a seven-county citizens' regional planning, research and development organization, supported the bond issue locally, and also issued a reconnaissance report on how these funds could be used to strengthen the region's transportation system.

"The master plan," Madgwick said, "offers us an opportunity to guide or redirect the course of development in accordance with state and community goals."

He continued:

"Transportation facilities can be used to consciously create regional urban centers or satellite cities, which will respond to a number of community values. Among them: the desire to curb urban sprawl and preserve open space, to revitalize the downtowns of our older cities, to break up slum densities, and to provide more jobs for the disadvantaged which they can reach more easily.

"The plan also offers us an opportunity to avoid many of the problems caused by unplanned growth: disruptions of city neighborhoods, or the damaging of scenic and historic areas by new highway construction responding to current needs.

"And we can avoid the rapid obsolescence of the highways themselves by more appropriate design, by greater control of adjacent land uses and by providing for needed future rights-of-way."

Urges Tie-in

Madgwick supported the Department's integrated approach to planning for all modes of transportation, and urged that it be related to other planning efforts: city and social planning, utilities, water and sewage, and recreation. He also indicated that such an approach would be instrumental in solving many of the problems associated with the time lag between highway design and actual construction completion.

Recommendations

Madgwick recommended that the Department give its immediate attention to:

— Improvements to the U. S. 9 expressway into Putnam and Dutchess Counties; the West Dutchess Highway; eastwest Routes 44 and 55 on both sides of the river, and Route 209 in Ulster County, including upgrading to expressway standards from Kingston to Port Jervis.

— Launching a study of the development shaping implications of a high-speed rail line between New York City and Buffalo with several transportation centers in the Mid Hudson, in addition to those already proposed for Beacon and Goshen by the Metropolitan Transportation Authority.

— Reevaluating current policy of the New York State Thruway Authority on the spacing of interchanges. If properly planned, additional interchanges would not only solve existing access problems but also promote various aspects of economic, social and recreational development.

— Establishing joint planning with counties in the Interstate Route 84 corridor the control of development at intersecting highways and interchanges, and for upgrading of feeder roads.

— setting up a fund to purchase needed highway rights - of - way well in advance of development. Counties also should be encouraged to adopt official maps designating county roads slated for future improvements.

— Purchasing sufficient land to prevent approaches and exits at expressway interchanges from being clogged by gasoline stations, motels and other roadside development.

New laws and regulations, plus joint efforts in highway and land use planning, to curb garish roadside development, which is not only unsightly, but also interferes with the efficient operation of the highway.

— Continuing to give high priority to systematic planning for general aviation airports, and to selecting and reserving future airport sites well in advance of anticipated urban development.

Madgwick also mentioned that early consideration should be given to reserving a new site for the Dutchess County Airport, a move which is included in the planning program of the Metropolitan Transportation Authority.

Future Proposals

Madgwick ticked off these proposals for future concern:

—Extension of improvements already under way on Routes 210 and 17A near Sterling Forest to provide a more direct connection to Port Jervis in southern Orange County.

— New branch extension of circumferential Interstate Route 287 from Morris County in New Jersey northward to tie into Interstate Route 84 in the vicinity of Montgomery in Orange County. This new branch, built to interstate standards, would serve as an added belt route around the New York Metropolitan area.

— Improvement of Route 32-208 corridor from Kingston south to connect possibly with new interstate belt previously mentioned. This would act as a main spine in the Wallkill Valley and provide an additional route for intraregional travel parallel to the Thruway.

— Examining the need for additional Hudson River bridges between the Rip Van Winkle and Newburgh-Beacon bridges.

Uptown Program

Registration for the Kingston Summer Program Uptown will be held tonight, 7 o'clock, at Clinton Avenue Methodist Church, 122 Clinton Avenue. The program will offer tutoring to children who need help with their school work, recreation for all and a trip program throughout the area. Any child over six years of age is eligible. Parents must register their children in person.

age 18 and over. Prepare now for U. S. Civil Service job openings during the next 12 months.

Government positions pay high starting salaries. They provide much greater security than private employment and excellent opportunity for advancement. Many positions require little or no specialized education or experience.

But to get one of these jobs, you must pass a test. The competition is keen and in some cases only one out of five pass.

Lincoln Service has helped thousands prepare for these tests every year since 1948. It is one of the largest and oldest privately owned schools of its kind and is not connected with the Government.

INVENTION FOR SMOKERS — Herbert Lebert, retired aeronautical engineer from Millbrae, Calif., exhibits invention which he claims cuts not only tars and nicotine in cigarette smoke, but eliminates many other harmful substances forced in the high-temperature gases of a puff. Called a sizing ring, a cigarette is pulled through the device which has a hole slightly smaller than the cigarette. This compresses the paper slightly and forms fluted ridges which act as air passages between the paper and tobacco. The air lowers the temperature ahead of the hot ember from 1600 degrees to about 950 degrees and prevents the formation of high-temperature gases containing harmful tars and other chemicals. West Berlin Socked With Many New Taxes

BERLIN (UPI)—East Germany today puts into effect its tightest squeeze on West Berlin since the building of the Berlin Wall.

In defiance of Western protests against interference with the Western right of free access, the East Germans introduced new taxes on road and canal shipments to and from Berlin.

It was estimated the new taxes will cost shippers about $20 million, almost twice as much as they already pay the Communists in tolls on highway traffic to and from Berlin.

The new squeeze on the isolated Western outpost was ordered by the East German government June 11. Along with the taxes, the government required West Berliners and West Germans to get visas costing $2.50 for trips to and from Berlin.

The visa requirement went into effect immediately but the tax requirement was scheduled for July 1.

The new truck tax is about one-half cent for every ton carried and every kilometer traveled. Barges pay from seven cents a ton to 14 cents.

The Western allies protested the squeeze but took no direct counter-measures.

They said East Germany had no right to place restrictions on Berlin traffic, which they said had been guaranteed by the Soviets in postwar four-power agreements in Berlin.

Both the Soviets and the East Germans paid no apparent attention to Western protests. They said in effect that East Germany had the right to control traffic running through its territory.

There was some talk of Western retaliation. But the Western allies, apparently out of a desire to reach a détente with the Soviet Union, took no forceful reprisals.

Berkeley's Campus Is Sealed Off

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — A curfew virtually sealed off this University of California community during the night after police broke up a mass demonstration, freeing Mayor Walter Johnson from a hostile crowd.

Johnson was pushed and spat upon by some who recognized him after he had gone to the gathering of 1,000 to 1,500 to assess the situation.

It was after his encounter with the crowd at the Civic Center Park about 300 yards from City Hall that the 7 p.m. to 6 a.m. curfew was extended from a 56-block area to the entire city.

Police arrested 50 to 60 persons on charges ranging from disturbing the peace to looting, resisting arrest and carrying illegal weapons.

There were no reports of injuries during the night but police said 31 demonstrators and 11 officers had been injured on the previous two nights of demonstrations.

The dusk-to-dawn curfew sealed off the community of 120,000 to all except those who could show reason for entering.

Police Chief William Beall said most of those arrested were not from Berkeley and to his knowledge no students from the University of California at Berkeley were taken into custody.

Police reinforced by 450 state highway patrolmen, with units from nearby cities standing by, broke up a demonstration that had formed at Civic Center just outside the curfew area.

There were no reports of tear gas used, as had been the case in the more violent clashes on Friday and Saturday nights.

Beall said that a number of windows were broken and a few cases of looting were reported after the crowd dispersed.

When this occurred, city officials decided to extend the curfew to cover the entire city, he said.

The city's troubles started Friday night when the Young Socialist Alliance spearheaded a demonstration which it said was, in support of student strikers in France and the rest of Europe and in protest against the Vietnam war and police actions.

Activist Peter Camejo, a former University of California student, said the Saturday rally stemmed from reaction to police clearing the streets after the previous night's demonstration.

Saturday's disturbance was marked by firebombing, rock throwing, window breaking and other vandalism.

Riot-equipped officers moved in with tear gas and cleared the area and arrested 13 persons. The tense situation brought the decision for a curfew, which Mayor Johnson indicated would be in effect tonight again.

At the start of Sunday night's action, about 250 officers were on patrol. This swelled to about 700 as the demonstration was broken up and the curfew instituted.

Omission

In the obituary on Saturday for James Edwin Phelan the following was omitted: he was a member of the St. Joseph's Church Holy Name Society and the Kingston Rotary Club.

Vodka Stolen

The window showcase of Williams Liquor store at 33 Tinker Street, Woodstock was smashed early Saturday morning and 12 quart bottles of vodka was taken, according to the County Sherfif's Department report.

Deputies J. Walsh and R. Matheson said Frank Williams, proprietor reported the break-in. The matter was turned over to Woodstock Town Police for investigation.

Shandaken Slates Meeting

A meeting, to which all residents of the Town of Shandaken are invited, has been scheduled as a public hearing to be held Monday, July 8 at 7:30 p. m. at Town Hall.

It is being conducted by the Shandaken Planning Board with representatives of the New York State Office of Planning Coordination and the director of planning for Ulster County as guest speakers.

The Shandaken Planning Board, although created as an advisory board one year ago, feels that many people still do not clearly understand the desirability and function of a planning board. The primary reason for a planning board's existance, it maintains, is to have the people represented in the formation of plans for the development of the community as a whole, including private citizens as well as business people.

It is hoped that the public hearing will provide opportunity for all persons interested in economic and cultural progress to find answers to their questions.

Unless plans can become a reality, they are worthless and to make a plan a reality requires active support of foresighted citizens, they claim.

Wiltwyck Meets July 1

The Wiltwyck Hose Co. will hold a regular meeting on July 11 at 32 Joy Lane. The meeting was originally scheduled for July 4.

Court Rules Canadian Must Be Released

OAXACA, Mexico (AP) — A 23-year-old Canadian held in the slaying of Dorothy Putterman, a native of Tupper Lake, N.Y., will be freed this week if Mexican authorities do not appeal a decision by a federal court in the case.

Francois Lavallee of Montreal and two Mexican men were charged with "intervention" in the death of the 31-year-old designer, who was found beaten April 12 on a lonely beach at Puerto Escondido, about 90 miles from here.

Miss Putterman, who had suffered a fractured skull, died as she was being taken to a hospital.

Lavallee sought a court ruling on whether there was sufficient evidence to bring him to trial.

Last week, Lavallee's request for a writ of habeas corpus was granted by a federal court. The decision was construed as an admission by the court that there was not enough evidence to hold a trial.

The court action did not involve the Mexicans, who also were jailed.

Cultural Mission

CAIRO (UPI) — McGeorge Bundy, president of the Ford Foundation, arrived Sunday night for a visit aimed at re-establishing cultural relations between Egypt and the United States, disrupted during the June 5-10, 1967 Middle East War.

Paris Hopes Are Tied to Hanoi Parley

PARIS (UPI)—The United States rests its hopes for a Vietnam settlement on talks getting underway this week in Hanoi among North Vietnam's leaders, U.S. sources said today.

The U.S. expectations were dependent on an expected conference between President Ho Chi Minh, Premier Pham Van Dong, Defense Minister Vo Nguyen Giap and Le Duc Tho of the Paris talks delegation.

The left Paris suddenly Saturday and conferred with Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin Sunday before flying to Peking and further consultations with Chinese officials.

He went on to Hanoi.

The U.S. delegation hopes that during the talks the North Vietnamese will alter their hardline strategy at Paris and decide it is time for some sort of deescalation that would result in real peace negotiations, the sources said.

The six-week-old talks have been stalemated over the issue of North Vietnamese deescalation and a complete U.S. bombing halt.

North Vietnam has confidently contended it is winning the Vietnam war and refused to back down from a demand the United States quit bombing the north before any significant discussion can start.

U.S. diplomatic sources interpreted Tho's trip to Hanoi as signaling a review of North Vietnamese strategy and said they hoped it would result in a change from the previous unbending position.

Won't Ask: Lindsay on Senate Post

NEW YORK (AP) — Mayor John F. Lindsay says he will not ask Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller —as the governor suggested — to appoint him to the Senate seat of the late Robert F. Kennedy.

In Little Rock, Ark., Saturday, Rockefeller said he would not ask Lindsay to leave the mayor's post but would give him "prime consideration" if the mayor requested the appointment.

Lindsay cut the ribbon opening the William Gray park, named after Pvt. William Gray, a neighborhood resident killed in Vietnam in February, 1967.

Among those on hand were the soldier's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Gray. Lindsay said their son's name attached to the park was "dedication of the blood he shed for us all."

The mayor termed vest pocket parks "a sign of the progressive and good neighborhood behind them."

Burns Fatal

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Randolph H. Greig, 23, died Saturday of burns suffered last Tuesday when a fellow worker threw a pail of inflammable liquid on him during a horseplay session, police said.

Greig, of Gainesville, and Lysle J. Richardson, 24, of Churchville, were tossing water at each other while working at the Trojan Division of the Eaton, Yale and Towne plant in Batavia, police said.

Killed in Crash

SCHENECTADY, N.Y. (AP) —Theodore Lott, 42, of Schenectady, was killed early today when his motorcycle struck a highway divider, glanced off a stop sign and slammed into the side of a downtown building.

But Old Bell Survives

Ellenville Landmarks Vanishing

With urban renewal demolition continuing in Ellenville, many of the old landmarks in the Wawarsing village are vanishing, but one of the survivors of the razing is the old village hall bell.

Forged in Baltimore in 1895, the 850-pound bell will be placed in front of the new village hall soon.

Village Manager John Geist said that the bell still "rings like a charm."

According to Town Historian Katherine Terwilliger, the bell was installed at the top of the village hall, or Firemen's Hall, in 1897, 23 years after the construction of the building.

The 1874 Firemen's Hall was originally erected to house the jail and to serve as a storage area for fire fighting equipment. Heading up village government at the time of the construction was William F. Scoresby, an Ellenville doctor, who served as president of the village.

One of the more important landmarks to come down was the Weinberger building, Ellenville's first office building, razed several months ago.

Located at 181 Canal Street, the building was erected in the late 1860's or early '70's, and, from 1897 to about 1912, it served to house the public library.

Miss Terwilliger said that one of the more interesting facets of the two-story brick and wood frame dwelling was that it had contained the dry goods business of Lewis Meinhold, back in the 1870's.

It was either Meinhold or a Mr. Leopold who was the first member of the Jewish faith to move into the village.

Urban Renewal Director John O'Connor said that 50 more biuldings would have to come down to make way for a massive building program and that another victim of the bulldozer would be the two-story, wood frame and stucco Hebrew School, or Talmud-Torah, at 113 Center.

Built in 1900, it had originally been a Hebrew temple.

The Silverman building on Canal Street came down last week. The three-story wood frame structure, erected in 1877, during the "boom" period of Ellenville's growth, was built by two cabinet makers, George H. Dutcher and William Holmes.

Dutcher and Holmes made furniture and coffins, apparently a common thing in those days.

The origin of the name Ellenville has an interesting history.

Miss Terwilliger claimed that the village was about to get its first post office, in 1823, but not before village fathers adopted a name for the place.

Prolonged debate produced a deadlock and the womenfolk of the tiny hamlet were asked to come up with a name.

A visiting young lady, who, said Miss Terwilliger, "must have been very attractive," asked that the village be named after her. For one reason or another, she soon got her wish.

Her name was Ellen Snyder.

Miss Snyder married a Mr. Tremper. The couple moved to Kingston where they lived out the remainder of their lives.

The Stachnik Lumber and Wrecking Co. of Phillipsburg, N. J., will continue demolition operations under a contract which will give the company $11,500.

Commission Members Hit State Crime Agency

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Proposed creation of a single state agency to deal with all persons convicted of crimes, regardless of age, has drawn sharp criticism from two members of the panel that drew up the recommendation.

Social Services Commissioner George K. Wyman and Judge Thomas F. McCoy, state administrator of the Judicial Conference, contend the proposal would constitute taking a backward step if it failed to recognize the need for special handling of juvenile delinquents and youthful offenders.

Wyman and McCoy were members of Gov. Rockefeller's seven-member Special Committee on Criminal Offenders, which made its 328-page report public Saturday.

The report urged sweeping changes, emphasizing reorganization of the state's offender treatment system so administration can be continuous from conviction to final discharge. It charged that fragmentation of the existing system, as well as bar effective rehabilitation efforts.

The proposed new agency would be called the Depart ment of Rehabilitative services and would assume most functions now handled by departments. It also would cut into some court jurisdictional areas, most notably probation.

The agency would supervise some functions of the newly established Narcotics Addiction Control Commission and all those of the Corrections Department and Division of Parole. It also would assume duties now under the Social Services Department and Division for Youth.

The panel was headed by Corrections Commissioner Paul D. McGinnis and Parole Board Chairman Russell G. Oswald. It worked more than two years in drafting the report that now is being studied by a 43-member Citizens Advisory Committee, also appointed by the governor. Public hearings are to be held at an as yet unannounced date.

The other major recommendations of the special committee:

—Adoption of a new system to explore the causes of the return to criminal activity and for linking treatment methods to specific needs.

—Development of a new system of handling diagnosis and treatment through the use of inter-disciplinary panels and treatment teams.

—Establishment of regional centers for diagnosis and preparation of pre-sentence and predisposition reports.

—Creation of separate control boards for children, youths and adults to set program standards, supervise diagnosis and decide who should be under supervision and who should be institutionalized.

Wyman, while approving the need to unify the scattered and and uncoordinated agencies that work toward a common goal, said heed should be taken of the separation of services that would occur, especially in his own department.

McCoy argued that proposed revisions in probation practices will pose problems for judges who may be uneasy about relying on information obtained from personnel not under judicial authority.

Using color photographs from his many travels throughout the world, Al Woolley recently presented an evening program "A Photographic Journey" to the guests of Lake Minnewaska House.

The New Paltz educator and famed photo-journalist showed photos from Iran, South Africa, Spain, India, France, Japan, Thailand and the Philippines.

Wooley also commended that "a visual journey can be no further than one's own backyard," and he showed pictures of fall foliage in the Lake Minnewaska area.

Many of the photographs shown have been used in the 13 books Woolley has written.

The educator is currently assistant director of the Festival of the Arts, Elementary and Secondary Educational Act Title III project, and Democratic senatorial nominee from the 38th district (Ulster and Dutchess Counties).

Torraca, Mayone To Participate At FBI Session

Two officials of Ulster County District Attorney's Office will participate in the annual retaining session of the State Chapter, FBI National Associates Tuesday at Concord Hotel, Kiamesha Lake.

The group is comprised of department heads of all law enforcement agencies in the state.

District Attorney Joseph Torraca will be one of the principal speakers on the subject of narcotics enforcement.

County Investigator Thomas F. Mayone will serve as one of the instructors at the retaining session.

John C. Miller, chief inspector of New York State Police is chapter president.

Seaway Strike Holds

OTTAWA (AP) — A secret, four-hour meeting between officials of the St. Lawrence Seaway Authority and union negotiators has failed to hasten the end of a strike that closed the waterway June 21.

The meeting was held Sunday after an appeal from Prime Minister Pierre TElliot Trudeau that the two sides resume talks.

The Canadian Brotherhood of Railway, Transport and General Workers, which represents 1,300 Seaway workers, modified its wage demand but refused a management request to scale it down still further.

DiBernardo to Coordinate Summer Action Unit Program

Ulster County Community Action Committee announced today the appointment of Albert DiBernardo of West Hurley as coordinator for its summer programs.

DiBernardo, who is chairman of Physical Education and Athletics Director at Ulster County Community College, will supervise all phases of the summer program activities to be financed by $14,000 received from the Office of Economic Opportunity and $1,450 of contributions in space and cash from the local community.

The program will consist of recreational, tutorial and training activities conducted throughout the county and represents the results of joint planning and cooperation of several local public and private agencies.

AT TRAINING SESSION — Discussing plans for the summer recreation program of the Ulster Community Action Committee Inc. are (seated) Richard Nace, county legislator and member of UCCAC board; Mrs. Nan Slutzky, director of Kingston Summer Program Uptown and Brother Alan Smith, Vista Associates program, Highland; (standing) Miguel Villeda, Neighborhood Youth Corps, Plattekill and Lester Hatcher, vocational counselor for UCCAC. A training session was held last week at the Clinton Avenue Methodist Church with workshops and guest speakers. (Freeman photo by Kruh).

At a training session held Thursday and Friday at Clinton Avenue Methodist Church for personnel and volunteers who will be participating in the program, DiBernardo outlined the program as follows:

A recreational and tutorial program under the direction of Mrs. Nan Slutzky will be conducted at the Clinton Avenue Methodist Church, Kingston.

In cooperation with the Rondout Christian Churches, Ulster County Community Action Committee will provide staff assistance and field trip services to the programs conducted by the Rev. James Veatch at Trinity Methodist Church, by the Rev. Father John Farley at St. Mary's School and by Sister Mary Assumpta at the former John Coleman H. S. on Grove Street. A tutorial program under the direction of Miss Ann Vree will be a part of these programs. The entire program will be coordinated with Kingston City Recreation programs at the Downtown parks and at Kingston Point Beach.

In Highland a recreational, tutoring and field trip program will be conducted in cooperation with 12 VISTA volunteers under the auspices of the Marist College supervised by Brother Alan Smith.

A branch of that program will also be conducted in Plattekill.

A similar program will be conducted at the Ellenville Central School under the supervision of Brother Pat Flemming.

Counseling and training services will be provided to summer employes placed by UCCAC with various local private firms and in its own summer programs. These services will be provided by Lester Hatcher and Robert Zaslafsky.

All of the programs will be in full operation beginning July 8. The Clinton Avenue and the Ellenville program will begin operation next week.

The Kingston Recreation Department is cooperating with the two Kingston programs and will plan joint field trips during the summer with Ulster County Community Action Committee.

Neighborhood Youth Corpsmen provided through the YMCA administered program will provide additional staff support for the program. All the programs are receiving the support of volunteer workers.

COUNSELOR AIDES — Cadette Girl Scouts Linda and Susan Plonsky of Kingston and Sharon Schulz of Woodstock go over summer camping program in preparation for a season as counselor aides at Ulster County Council Camp Wendy in Wallkill. The three Cadettes will pioneer a new approach at the camp, serving as staff assistants and utilizing the skills they have learned as Girl Scouts. (Freeman photo by Kruh).

Camp Wendy Now Open

Adventure — skills — friendship — all these and many more are waiting at Camp Wendy. Camp Wendy in Wallkill, is operated by the Ulster County Council of Girl Scouts, Inc. for all girls ages 7 through 17.

Opening date was yesterday with four sessions established as follows: June 30 to July 6 - July 7 to July 20 - July 21 to July 27 - and July 28 to August 10. There are still openings for campers in all sessions, reservations can be made through the council office at 1 Van Buren Street, Kingston.

The one-week sessions, one called the Sparrow, and the other the Red-winged Blackbird, will provide the younger and less experienced girls with an introduction to the Girl Scout program in a camp setting. Activities will include learning basic camping skills, simple outdoor cooking, conservation, arts and nature crafts. The framework for Brownie activities will be the Brownie B's—Be Discovers and Be Friend-Makers. Emphasis for the Juniors will be outdoor badges.

Each two-week session will have its own special emphasis: The Blue Heron Encampment in July will be an all waterfront and allied interests session. The Wood Thrush Encampment, in August, will contain an arts unit, a homespun unit and a bike unit. Both sessions also include conservation and primitive camping opportunities for those who wish them. All sessions are geared to help the children progress in outdoor fun appropriate to their age levels in Scouting.

The Ulster County Council of Girl Scouts, Inc. is a member agency of the Ulster County Community Chest.

Poor People Seek to Hike Ebbing Support

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Poor People's Campaign tried today to bolster its ebbing support among middle-class whites.

Leaders of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC) called a news conference to announce formation of a broadly based "national poor people's coalition."

The coalition was expected to try to mount local antipoverty demonstrations in various cities. But it also was clear SCLC leaders hope it will serve as a focal point for regaining the middle class support the campaign attracted earlier.

The Rev. Andrew M. Young Jr., who took over command of the campaign after the Rev. Ralph David Abernathy was arrested, said Sunday the antipoverty campaign was popular with middle-class whites in its opening weeks.

But then, he told a group of people who earlier marched at Capitol Hill, newspaper editorials urged the marchers to go home and demanded that the nation's capitol "get back to business as usual."

"That's where the fight starts," Young said at the Ebenezer Baptist Church. "We admit as middle-class people that poverty is not a problem of the poor, but that poverty is a problem of the nation."

SCLC leaders said the new coalition would represent all the ethnic and poor people's groups which have supported the campaign.

4th Estimate: 700-800 to Die on Roads

CHICAGO (UPI) — Between 700 and 800 persons will die in automobile accidents during the July 4 holiday weekend, the National Safety Council estimates.

"Anouncing so dismal an estimate gives us no pleasure," Council President Howard Pyle said Sunday.

The traffic count for the 102-hour July 4 weekend begins at 6 p.m. local time Wednesday and ends at midnight Sunday.

A similar nonholiday period averages 650 traffic deaths, Pyle said.

The Cong Terror Rocket

An Eerie Whistle Followed by Tremendous Lightning-Like Bolt

By RICHARD V. OLIVER

SAIGON (UPI)—An eerie whistle followed by a tremendous crack something like a nearby bolt of lightning in a summer thunderstorm. . .

That's the sound of the Viet Cong 122mm rocket—the terror of Saigon—as it courses through the night sky at 800 miles an hour, then crashes down on this crowded capital.

The faster-than-sound speed means that the men, women and children who died in a rocket's blast do not hear the killer. Only the survivors do.

The 122mm rocket is not particularly accurate, but it doesn't have to be when the target is a whole city and its range is up to 6.2 miles.

Range, in such warfare, isn't important either.

Fired from a woodland of northern Virginia, the 122mm rocket could soar over the Pentagon and the Potomac River—and hit the White House. It could be fired from Brooklyn's Prospect Park and smash into the center of Times Square. It could be launched from the University of California campus at Berkeley and explode in downtown San Francisco.

The 122mm rocket, built in the Soviet Union, made its first appearance in South Vietnam in early 1967, but its use was relatively limited until this spring when the rockets began to rain on Saigon and its 3,000,000 people.

There now seems an unlimited supply of the deadly missiles.

According to U.S. intelligence sources it takes the Communists an average of about two weeks to transport a 122mm rocket from Hanoi to the outskirts of Saigon.

Only a few months ago it took four men two months to bring in one rocket.

The reason for the speedup in delivery: High speed roads built by the Communists in Laos and Cambodia—and in some cases leading into South Vietnam itself—permits them to truck the rockets to within about 35 miles of the capital. Then they are loaded into sampans and boated to within one night's march of their eventual firing positions.

Another factor in the speedier transportation, the intelligence people say, has been the partial pause in the bombing of North Vietnam which also has permitted the Communists to double their rate of infiltration.

Weighing only 102 pounds, one of these rockets can be taken apart and carried by two men. It can be set up either on a portable launcher or simply on a mound of earth, in less than five minutes. To aim it, all that's needed is a plumb bob, a ruler, a compass and a city map.

Once the rocket is fired, the launch site can be tracked within minutes by use of sophisticated radar equipment which "locks on" to the rocket's trajectory and plots its origin. When the launch spot is located counter-fire can be called in on it. But often the rocketeers will have departed before the first shell hits.

The naked eye also is used to trace the rockets. Thus, helicopters and planes constantly patrol the rockets. Thus, helicopters and planes constantly patrol the skies around Saigon, their pilots scanning for rocket flashes. This can be difficult, too.

When launched, the 122mm rocket gives off a flash that lasts only seven-tenths of a second. So it can be lost in the blink of an eye or a turn of the head by an observer hovering above in a helicopter or flying over in a plane.

Essentially, the 122mm rocket is nothing more than a six-foot-long, two-inch-wide metal tube with 14.5 pounds of TNT stuffed in its nose. A 55-pound launcher tube to fire the rocket is essential, but a few sticks of bamboo will suffice to get it stood up and aimed.

The TNT load packs enormous destructive power. It can tear through 14 feet of sand, or 17 feet of earth. It can blow up a building—or turn a human body into bloody mush before the victim knows what hit him.

How to stop the 122mm rocket attacks? "Almost an impossibility," Gen. William C. Westmoreland has said. The rockets can be set up and fired too quickly, and the launching place dismantled and vacated even more quickly.

Some Health Precautions For Vacation Travelers

By MURRAY J. BROWN
UPI Travel Editor

Nobody can guarantee you perfect weather or health during your vacation. There's nothing you can do about the weather but precautions can be taken to protect your health.

The wise traveler will get medical and dental checkups and all required and recommended inoculations before departing for foreign lands. He also will pack a first aid kit for emergencies, including something to combat one of the most common ailments of travelers, the "tourist trots" or diarrhea.

As a further precautuion he would become a member of the non-profit International Association for Medical Assistance to Travelers (IAMAT). Membership is free.

There probably is nothing more frightening for the traveler than to fall ill in some foreign country with nothing more than a pocket book of common phrases or dictionary to help him try to overcome language difficulties.

List Centers

That's where IAMAT comes in. IAMAT provides members with a passport-sized directory listing centers in 70 countries in Europe, Asia, South America and Africa, and remote islands in the Pacific and Atlantic Oceans for Americans and Canadians who may need emergency medical help.

All the participating physicians speak English, are specialists in internal medicine or cardiology and have had some training in the United States, Canada or Great Britain.

The centers are manned around-the-clock. All the member-traveler has to do is telephone the local center and he will be given the names of at least two doctors to protect his fight of "freedom of choice."

A standard worldwide fee has been set for medical services: $8 for office calls, $10 for home or hotel visits, and $15 for calls after 10 p.m., on Sundays and local holidays.

IAMAT physicians will provide the traveler with a detailed medical report if further treatment is necessary during his onward travels and also will send a copy along to his doctor at home.

Travelers with chronic ailments should take along a complete medical report from their own doctors, giving details of condition and treatment, IAMAT recommends. Persons with diabetes, heart ailments, hemophilia, severe allergies or other medical problems also should carry tags, bracelets or cards. Such identification could prove invaluable if an amergency arises.

The tags, bracelets and cards may be obtained from the Medical Alert Foundation International at Turlock, Calif., or from the American Medical Association at 535 Dearborn St., Chicago, Ill.

IAMAT cardiologist now practicing in Toronto.

A membership card, good for three years, and the directory can be obtained without charge by writing to IAMAT at 745 Fifth Ave., New York, N.Y., 10022 or 1268 St. Clair Ave., W., Toronto.

IAMAT is a non-profit organization and depends on voluntary contributions to help defray administrative and other expenses. Donations are welcome.

Move Against Hubert

Convention Procedure Issue Aim of McCarthy Crew

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy's campaign crew is groping for an issue of convention procedure to unite a majority of the Democratic delegates against backers of Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

Humphrey's own campaign team is expecting a move of this type, but it is so confident of victory that it is willing to go more than half way to meet the demands of McCarthy spokesmen. But it doubts that the McCarthy supporters will settle for anything short of unconditional surrender.

Since the death of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, Humphrey and McCarthy are the only major national contenders for the Democratic presidential nomination. The vice president appears headed toward a first ballot victory if anything is predictable in this year of unforeseen political events.

Inasmuch as he did not compete in presidential primaries, the Humphrey campaigners are concerned about shouts of "streamroller" and "boss domination" of the convention already coming from the McCarthy side.

The McCarthy camp would like to dramatize that issue at the convention. They are not likely to try a contest over a "peace plank" repudiating the Johnson administration on Vietnam. Anti-Goldwater Republicans tried and failed to win fights over platform planks at the 1964 GOP convention.

McCarthy supporters also are not expected to try to resist the election of pro-Humphrey or pro-administration officers already tapped by the party leadership for key roles at the convention.

But they are talking about fights over seating delegations with arguments that they were denied their legitimate share of delegates from various states. This route was successfully followed by backers of Dwight D. Eisenhower in winning him the 1952 Republican nomination from Robert A. Taft.

That Eisenhower gamble was led by men like Thomas E. Dewey, Herbert Brownell and Henry Cabot Lodge, shrewd political pros of a type not conspicuous in the McCarthy organization.

There also has been talk about demanding repeal of the unit rule, a procedural practice recognized by the Democrats but not by the GOP at national conventions.

Under a unit rule, a state delegation can bind all of its members to vote as a solid bloc on the nomination of a candidate or other questions. Some of the states which have historically followed this practice might resist a change, but the Humphrey leaders might not.

Although some states have not yet chosen delegates, the Humphrey organization believes it already can look ahead to 1,600 first ballot votes or more. The winner needs 1,312.

The McCarthy organization thinks it has 700 in sight. It hopes that improved McCarthy showings in public opinion polls and other tactics will shake 600 more into the McCarthy ham-

HIGH FALLS SIGN — Roger Nickerson (upper right) of the High Falls Civic Association, directs the reconstruction of the village entrance sign. The painting depicts one of the old canal boats, with a team of mules plodding along the towpath. The original, blown down two years ago, was painted in 1940 by S. N. Abbott, an illustrator whose work appeared on the cover of The Saturday Evening Post, among other magazines. The present sign, a near duplicate, was painted by Elayne Kossuth, civic association secretary. Equipment for putting up the sign was provided as a public service by Walter Davenport Sons, Inc. Shown with Nickerson are Bill Davenport (front left), Walt Wright (back left) and Barry Ayers (back right).

Pound Goes Down British Pay More

Foreign News Commentary
By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Ever since 9:30 p.m., Nov. 30 of last year, when the British government reduced the value of the British pound from $2.80 to $2.40, the British consumer has been paying more for everything.

The increase has run from groceries to free medical prescriptions, which are no longer free, to taxes.

Housewives complain that for every pound spent for essentials they get pennies back in change.

The cheapest pack of cigarets costs 41 cents.

Bank savings accounts are down.

For the Labor government of Prime Minister Harold Wilson, devaluation of the pound had been the bitterest of pills. It had pledged itself to protection of the British pound as one of the world's most convertible currencies and to furtherance of the British welfare state.

Yet, faced with a mounting treasury deficit and to ward off total disaster, it finally was forced to retreat on both fronts.

That the British government effort to turn losses into profits so far has been somewhat less than successful may be laid in part at least to human nature, a frailty Americans can understand.

The Americans have greeted the promise of new taxes and even limited austerity with no more enthusiasm than did the British.

The reasons for both government actions were the same. Both were spending more than they were taking in.

In Britain, the 1967 government deficit amounted to more than $700 million, paltry compared to the U.S. deficit but more than a nation of 51 million people and few natural resources could stand after many deficit years.

Unfortunately, trouble for Britain means trouble for the world, including continuing stability of the U.S. dollar.

128 Vessels Are Tied Up

NEW YORK (AP) — An estimated 128 ships have been tied up by the strike of the AFL-CIO National Maritime Union (NMU).

Twelve vessels were immobilized Sunday as they arrived from foreign ports. The union had estimated that 116 ships were tied up Saturday by the strike which began Friday midnight.

Mediator Theodore W. Kheel has scheduled a meeting today between representatives of the union and two groups which act as bargaining agents for 73 companies that operate 576 ships.

The management groups are the Maritime Service Committee and the Tanker Service Committee.

The strike call was against 70 per cent of the American Merchant Marine, but many of the ships are at sea or in foreign ports and have not been affected yet.

Ten and Twenty Years Ago

July 1, 1948 — Ernest A. Steuding, public works superintendent, was elected president of the Ulster County Chapter, Reserve Officers Association of the United States.

Nicholas Necha, 27, of Passaic, N. J., was fatally injured when his car crashed into the west end of the Esopus Creek Bridge.

Willard H. Sahloff, former local resident, was elected vice-president of General Electric.

Summer sessions were due to start at Kingston High School July 7.

* * *

July 1, 1958—Over 200 persons attended dance and program sponsored by the newly organized Colonial Gardens Variety Club Saturday at the Colonial Gardens Traffic Circle. Guest speakers were Mayor Edwin F. Radel and Third Ward Supervisor Christopher Perry.

A "Beautiful Baby Contest" was sponsored by the Port Ewen Businessmen's Association in Ross Memorial Park to encourage the patronizing of local business.

June, 1958, was recorded as the driest month since 1954 with a rainfall of 1.57 inches. Rainfall for the year totaled 15.29 inches.

Poor Example

LONDON (UPI)—Mrs. Anne Kerr said she had nothing against canned tongue or canned potatoes or frozen spinach. But in the House of Commons dining room?

"Food is becoming more and more tasteless and less interesting," she said, "and food at the House of Commons is no exception.

"We have people from all over the world dining there," said Mrs. Kerr, a member of Parliament herself. "I think that is a pretty poor advertisement for British cooking."

Life in Uruguay

Strikes, Disturbances Continue Despite the Tough Line

By ISAAC A. LEVI

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP) — Armed troops in battle fatigues patrol the streets around the clock on the lookout for student demonstrators and labor strikers.

At night, the city is nearly blacked out by a power shortage resulting from a long drought.

All news of strikes and student demonstrations is censored in the Uruguayan press and on radio and television.

Security Measures Tight

Security measures have been tight since President Pacheco Areco suspended constitutional guarantees early in June to keep his once happy and prosperous little country from sliding quickly onto the skid row of nations.

But the strikes and disturbances continue despite the government's tough line.

Garbage lies uncollected for days in the suburbs. The post office stopped functioning weeks ago and clerks and tellers all but paralyzed the banking system with surprise walkouts.

Uruguay, which contented British residents once described as "God's pleasant little heaven on earth," is caught in an ugly spiral of wage-price inflation.

The drought has aggravated the crisis for the second consecutive year, hitting the Uruguayan housewife hardest of all.

Milk, butter, potatoes, flour and edible oil are in short supply. Two-thirds of this Atlantic coast country is normally fueled by hydroelectric power and the lack of rain brought strict rationing of electricity.

This means the housewife cannot use her electric stove, iron, washing machine, hair dryer and hot water shower attachment in daytime. Bottled gas and kerosene are also in short supply.

Dinner out is no help either. Restaurants are affected by the restrictions — lit only with candles or pressure lamps, and the neons are dark.

Life in Uruguay has deteriorated so much that Uruguayans are emigrating at a clip of about 2,000 a month, official sources report. The rush for passports is such that the foreign ministry is issuing them only with three months delay.

Scores of doctors, engineers, technicians and other skilled people, queue up outside the U.S. consulate every day, applying for visas that will permit them to settle in the United States. Others seek jobs and a new life in western Europe, Venezuela, Peru and neighboring Argentina and Brazil.

The fact that Uruguay's population is only 2.6 million and the country has the lowest growth rate in all Latin America makes the exodus doubly felt.

Also, despite the security measures, the government seems unable to cope with a mound of seemingly insurmountable problems. And it is blocked by constant disagreement within the governing Colorado party.

The economy began ailing 18 years ago, when world prices for wool, meat and cereal started to drop. Successive governments did nothing to industrialize and make the country less dependent on agricultural exports and importation of foreign goods.

And they did little to capitalize on the many tourists that visit Uruguay's beaches every summer from Brazil and Argentina. The economic ailment gradually became a chronic crisis.

One result is that today Uruguay imports more than it exports, has a $500-million debt with other countries, and a swollen government bureaucracy that helps cover up some of the unemployment but weighs heavily on the economy as a whole.

The cost of living went up 160 per cent in 15 months, the peso dropped from 76 to 250 to the U.S. dollar, and the government expects to have a $3.9-million budget deficit this fiscal year.

Underdoggery, Overguess, Pollosophy

Candidates Using Coined Words for Political Tactics

By ARNOLD SAWISLAK

WASHINGTON (UPI) —"Underdoggery," "overguess" and "pollosophy" may not be proper dictionary words yet, but they help to describe some of the odd gyrations of the 1968 political campaign.

All three of these coined words are working labels for some of the tactics being practiced by the candidates and their supporters this year.

"Underdoggery," for example, was a favorite gambit for all the candidates in the presidential primaries. It almost became a ritual for spokesmen to announce a short time before the voting that their candidates were fighting an uphill battle against prohibitive odds. It got to the point in the Oregon and California campaigns where it seemed that no one was going to win if you believed the statements from the campaign managers.

Fine Art

An extreme form of "underdoggery"—practiced in different forms by both Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and California Gov. Ronald Reagan—consists of insisting that you are not even trying to win some primary or convention test.

Despite the fact that Humphrey's supporters made an obvious pitch for votes in the district of Columbia and South Dakota, his spokesmen were vociferous in denying after the fact—the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy won both primaries—that the vice president was in any way involved.

Reagan's people took the same position in Oregon and Nebraska, even though the governor's name was on the ballot in both states and someone was out there appealing for votes for him. Reagan's variation is that he steadfastly claims to be only the California "favorite son" presidential candidate.

"Overguess" is sort of a reverse "underdoggery." It consists of making an overestimate of the opposition strength so that no matter what the result, it will appear no better or even no worse than expected.

Nixon's campaign staff is very good at "overguess." One of the former vice president's agents told a UPI reporter at the recent GOP governors' conference that he would not be surprised to see Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller win the endorsement of five or six hitherto uncommitted governors at the Tulsa meeting. Rockefeller, as expected, got one endorsement and from the Nixon camp's view, left Tulsa with a net loss.

Rockefeller himself indulged in a variation of "overguess" at Tulsa by announcing to reporters that he didn't really want a lot of "favorite son" governors to endorse him and free their delegations. He said even where the delegations were heavily pro-Rockefeller, the small groups of Nixon backers might add up to enough to clinch the nomination for the former vice president.

Humphrey's campaign aides also practice "overguess." During the primaries, after a good look at the predicted results, the Humphrey camp always suggested that Sens. Kennedy or Eugene J. McCarthy would be failing to win unless they got some percentage of the vote that seemed out of reach.

"Pollosophy" is everyone's bag. At some time or other, every candidate has come up with a public opinion poll that shows him running ahead of every other candidate. The big national polls, of course, are the favorite subjects for these breathless announcements from the contending camps. But in a pinch they will fall back on supermarket straw votes, disc jockeys' polls of their all night listeners and mock elections at small teachers' colleges.

An interesting application of "overguess" to "pollosophy" was demonstrated recently by a spokesman for Nixon, who announced in advance that Rockefeller would soon begin to rise in the national polls because the New York governor was traveling more and spending a lot of money for advertising.

This seemed a logical possibility, but the idea was to make any Rockefeller gain seem of little significance because it came as no surprise to the Nixon camp.

State Police Major Galvin

Security Chief for the Fifth Presidential Campaign

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) —Ed Galvin is in his fifth presidential campaign and is just about the only man who has seen more front line action than Harold Stassen.

The handsome Galvin, a state police major who heads the security force protecting New York State governors, has been involved in presidential contests for 20 years. New York hasn't been without a governor who would like to be president and made a try for it since Galvin took over.

Liked by Dewey

In 1948, Galvin was a sergeant in the highway patrol and was assigned to the police escort for Thomas E. Dewey, GOP candidate, in northern New York. Dewey liked Galvin's work and, after the trip, requested he be transferred to the Executive Mansion in Albany.

Albin S. Johnson, now deputy superintendent of the police division, and Galvin were in charge of Dewey's security in 1948. They travelled everywhere with him.

At one point, the troopers were credited with averting a serious mishap. Dewey was speaking from the rear platform of a campaign train. Hundreds of persons were gathered near the platform when the train suddenly began backing up.

Galvin and Johnson literally threw themselves at the crowd and pushed the people back.

The problem of security for presidential candidates today is serious and prompted President Johnson and Congress to provide special secret service guards. Galvin, however, is still on the job.

Protecting candidates now involves many things. But, Galvin had a special problem during Dewey's reign.

The New York governor had been a racket buster and district attorney before moving into the Executive Mansion in Albany. As a prosecutor, he broke up "Murder Incorporated", a gang of professional killers. Some went to the electric chair, but other gangsters were just getting out of prison when Dewey became a presidential candidate.

At one time it was reported, a gang leader put a price on Dewey's head. But, Dewey went where he pleased with Galvin always at his side.

Retained by Ave

The Republican governor retired and W. Averell Harriman, a Democrat, was elected. Harriman kept Galvin on at the mansion.

The new governor wasn't long in Albany before he began looking at the White House. He became a potential presidential candidate and hit the campaign trail. So did Galvin.

Nelson A. Rockefeller succeeded Harriman and, in 1960, made his first try for the GOP presidential nomination. There was Galvin, right beside him.

In 1964, Rockefeller made another try and now he is at it again. The major is with him wherever he goes.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Monday, July 1, the 183rd day of 1968. There are 183 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1867, the Dominion of Canada was created by the British North America Act.

On this date:

In 1862, the U.S. Congress established the Bureau of Internal Revenue.

In 1863, the Civil War Battle of Gettysburg began.

In 1898, Theodore Roosevelt and his Rough Riders carried out a victorious assault on San Juan Hill in Cuba in the Spanish-American War.

In 1931, Wiley Post and Harold Gatty completed a round-the-world flight in the monoplane Winnie Mae.

In 1932, New York Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt was nominated for president at the Democratic National Convention in Chicago.

In 1958, the St. Lawrence Seaway was completed.

Ten years ago, it was disclosed that Castro rebels had kidnaped 50 Americans and Canadians in the area around the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo Bay.

Five years ago, President John F. Kennedy visited Rome and sought the support of Italian officials in strengthening the Atlantic Alliance.

One year ago, the Chinese Communist party said China's President Liu Shao-chi had been ousted.

Shandaken Program Starts

The Town of Shandaken Youth Recreation program was scheduled to start today. The program is open to all children residing in the Town of Shandaken who were enrolled in grades 8 through 12 last year. The program will continue until Aug. 16.

The swimming activities will again be conducted at Swim-O-Links in Woodstock on Tuesday and Thursday mornings. Children will be transported by bus, leaving Shandaken Fire House promptly at 9 a. m. with stops at the Parish Hall in Phoenicia and Gustafsons Store in Mt. Tremper. The return trip will terminate in Shandaken at 12 noon. There is no charge for participants.

Other activities will be held at the Phoenicia School and the field behind the Consolidated Laundry in Shandaken. Phoenicia School will be open 9-12 a. m. on Mondays and Wednesdays. Shandaken will be open on Monday, 1-4 p. m. and on Friday, 9-12 a. m.

In the evening there will be organized athletics for boys enrolled in grades 7 through 12. The program is supervised by Gertrude Spoljaric and Michael Patrick, and directed by Willis F. Wither. All children are expected to abide by the commission rules and may be barred for failure to do so. Supervised swimming will only take place at Swim-O-Links.

In case of inclement weather all activities will be cancelled. The procedure for notification of cancellation will be given to participants after the program begins.

Dental Clinic In Wallkill July 9 and 10

A free dental inspection clinic for pre-school children between the ages of four and five will be conducted in Wallkill on July 9 and 10.

The clinic will open operations at the Health Center on Wallkill Avenue in the Shawangunk village.

Participating children will have their teeth inspected and cleaned.

Appointments may be made by calling Mrs. George Brach of Bridge Street, Wallkill.

The clinic is part of a county-wide drive organized by the Ulster County Health Department.

July 4 Closing

All Internal Revenue Service offices will be closed on Independence Day, July 4, Donald T. Hartley, Albany District Director of Internal Revenue announced today.

July 4 is a legal holiday for all government offices. They will reopen on Friday, July 5.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

IT'S FUN TO TEACH — Two sixth grade girls are having plenty of fun these days conducting classes for 12-19 children each day. They are Dorothy Singley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Singley of 18 Overlook Drive, Hurley, and Kim Graham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Graham of 9 Overlook Drive, Hurley. The young girls conduct a play school each morning for neighborhood children ranging in age from 3-7. The sessions include dramatic plays, reading, writing reciting nursery rhymes, singing, dancing and story time. Refreshments are served and this year, like last year, the 11-year-old girls will prepare a program for parents at the end of the summer. It looks like a constructive summer for the would-be teachers and their pupils. Photographed during one of the sessions, standing (L-R) Dorothy Singley and Kim Graham; seated (L-R) Cathy Jansen, 4; Timmy Sgroi, 6; and Lisa Sammons, 3. (Freeman photo by Kruh).

Mrs. Walter McClure Studies for Ph. D

Mrs. Walter McClure Jr., of 24 Sycamore Drive, Hyde Park, has returned to her home from Dearborn, Mich., after attending the annual conference held by the Danforth Foundation for recipients of its Graduate Fellowships for Women, a program designed to assist mature women to become college teachers. The theme of this year's conference was "Higher Education facing the Urbanized World: Responsibility and Response." Speakers included: Dr. Joseph P. Cosand, President, Junior College District of St. Louis; Dr. H. Mark Roelofs, director of the Metropolitan Leadership Program, New York University; Dr. Francis A. J. Ianni, Director of the Horace Mann-Lincoln Institute, Teachers College, Columbia University; Dr. Lawrence C. Howard, Vice-President of the Danforth Foundation, and Dr. Jessie Bernard, Professor Emerita of Sociology, Pennsylvania State Universiyt, and author of "Academic Women."

Mrs. McClure, an alumna of the Evening Division of Dutchess Community College, was graduated from Vassar College, summa cum laude and Phi Beta Kappa, in June, 1967. In addition to her Danforth Fellowship, Mrs. McClure has held a Faculty Fellowship at Columbia University, where she received her M.A. degree on June 4. She plans to continue her studies at Columbia under both fellowships with a Ph.D. in English History as her goal.

Mrs. McClure, a former resident of this city, was graduated from Kingston High School in 1934 and was for many years secretaory to Attorney Lloyd R. LeFever.

RECEPTION AND TEA — Residents at the Home for the Aged, Washington Avenue, Kingston, were feted at a reception and tea by the Board of Managers on June 28. In honor of the occasion, residents wore corsages made by members of the Little Gardens Club. Mr. and Mrs. George Matthews, managers of the home, and members of the board attended. Pictured at the tea table (L-R) are Mrs. William Carvell, treasurer; Mrs. George Matthews, manager; Miss Florence Riseley, new resident; Mrs. Isabelle Hayden, new resident; and Mrs. Herbert DeKay, member of the visiting committee. While in Florida, she and her chaperone will stay at the luxurious Gulf Lane Motel on St. Pete's Treasure Island From St. Petersburg, she and her chaperone will be flown via National Airlines to Hollywood, California where she will receive an opportunity for motion picture or TV stardom.

Toastmistress Club Visits in Albany

The Kingston Toastmistress Club sent a delegation of local women to Albany on June 20 to attend the installation dinner for the Capital City chapter. Mrs. Leo Spira, speech instructor of the Schenectady school system, spoke on "Verbal Projection."

Kingston delegates were Barbara Read, Gloria J. Clark, Jean Fox, Emma Apren, Delores O'Connell, Margaret Jackson and Frances Mitchell. Evaluation of the Club Speaker was the theme and guest speakers from the Uncle Sam Toastmaster, Troy, and the Campus Toastmaster, Troy, and the Campus Toastmaster, Albany, spoke on current events.

The Kingston Toastmistress Club will meet in Britts Community Room in August to plan club elections and a fall program. The women will have an open discussion period about the Toastmistress Pledge which states: "We as members of International Toastmistress, hereby pledge to give active thought to leadership training and speech improvement, hoping through better communication to achieve greater understanding throughout the world."

Course in Study Techniques

"It doesn't make sense to study when they don't know how to. It isn't fair to expect them to pick up this skill in a casualy way any more so than it's fair to expect a person to pick up keyboard skill or skill with brushes and charcoal without some help and supervision, without some understanding of what the study process is all about." So says Harold Wise of Woodstock. "There should be provision made in every curriculum so that the process of study is approached in an orderly, systematic manner. Right now, most people use and most teachers teach what I would call the read-and-guess method."

This summer, Mr. Wise will offer a course of instruction and practice in the use of the natural abilities that should come into play in searching for the author's meaning in a paragraph, a chapter, or an article. It is a course based on specific tasks that are crucial to a thorough grasp of written materials. The course gives a person something definite to do as soon as he sits down in front of a page of words. Following the procedure keeps one's mind on the job and produces rewarding results. The course is designed for high school and college students and for those in adult education programs.

Mr. Wise's course is not a remedial reading course, a rapid reading course, or an advanced reading course in comprehension dealing with "skimming" and "scanning." Its first purpose is to teach a person how to find the main point in the structure of an ordinary paragraph without faltering and without error. From that point on, it branches into more complex written forms using the fundamental abilities every user of the language has.

Classes will meet in the basement classroom of the Woodstock Guild of Craftsmen in Woodstock, beginning on July 2nd. Further information can be obtained from Mr. Wise by writing P. O. Box 538, Woodstock, N. Y.

Mr. Wise, the designer and instructor of the course, is a resident of Woodstock. He holds a Ph.D. degree in Educational Phychology from the University of Iowa. He has taught at the University of Iowa, Western Reserve University, and the University of Oregon as well as at various levels in secondary and elementary schools. He has served as consultant for different institutions and organizations including The Ohio State University, Community Action for Youth in Cleveland, the U.S. Office of Education, and American Education Publications. In addition, he was partially or totally been responsible for the construction of nationally-distributed achievement tests in social studies, English, and reading. These include the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Tests, Literature Tests for Project English and the U.S. Office of Education, and Silent Reading Tests for MY WEEKLY READER, a widely-known and widely-used classroom newspaper.

Currently, Mr. Mise is engaged in independent research in verbal and non-verbal communication. He is about to begin the construction of special individualized reading inventories to be used in public schools in Providence, Hartford, Baltimore, and Washington, D. C. this coming fall. Along with his professional work, he serves as secretary to the Woodstock Township Chamber of Commerce.

MRS. JOHN J. MEIER
(Photo Workshop)

Elliott - Meier Nuptials - Here

Miss Miriam E. Elliott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold H. Elliott of Stone Ridge, N.Y. wed John J. Meier of Albany, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leopold Meier of Syracuse, on Saturday, June 22 at 1 p. m. in the First Baptist Church, Kingston.

The Rev. Edwin Coon officiated in the absence of the Rev. James Braker. Rev. Mr. Coon is minister at the Fair Street Reformed Church. Mrs. Arthur Pedersen was organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white linen gown with a chapel length train. A headband of lace, flowers and seed pearls held her elbow length veil. She carried a Bible with a white hybrid orchid.

Kathy Bowers of Cunningham, Beacon, N.Y., was matron of honor. Serving as attendants were Patricia A. Elliott, Thorofare, N.J., sister-in-law of the bride; Ellen P. Elliott, Kinderhook, N.Y. sister-in-law of the bride; Nancy Csontos, Middleburg. All wore matching gowns of pale blue linen trimmed with white daisies. They carried cascades of white daisies and for headpieces, they wore pale blue ribbon trimmed with daisies.

Carl Meier of Duxborough, Mass., served as best man for his brother. Ushering were Harry M. Elliott, Thorofare, N.J.; Marvin B. Elliott, Kinderhook; Arnold M. Elliott, Stone Ridge, all brothers of the bride.

A reception was given at The Alpine in Rosendale after the church ceremony.

The bride was graduated from Rondout Valley High School and is now attending Albany State University where she is enrolled in the teacher education program.

The bridegroom was graduated from Baker High School, Baldwinsville, and is now employed by Sears, Roebuck and Company in Albany.

When Mr. and Mrs. Meier return from a wedding trip to the Adirondacks and the Thousand Islands, they will be at home at 651 Park Avenue, Albany.

Gessner Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. John C. Gessner of Kingston recently celebrated their 68th wedding anniversary.

Married on June 26, 1900, they have six children: Mrs. William O. Koehler, John J. Gessner, Burton T. Gessner, Miss Catherine E. Gessner, Edward D. Gessner, and Mrs. Kenneth J. Jones.

The Gessners have six grandchildren and eight great grandchildren. They reside at 953-76th Street, Brooklyn and Search End Acres, Elizaville, N. Y.

Krom Twins Are Engaged to Wed

Mr. and Mrs. Benson A. Krom of 77 Valentine Avenue, Kingston, announce the engagement of their twin daughters, Marilyn Charlotte to Vincent Lowe of 105 Hunter Street, Kingston, and Carolyn Betty to John W. Gleason of Rt. 1, Flatbush Road, Kingston.

The Misses Krom are 1968 graduates of Kingston High School and will be attending the Gulf Coast Junior College in Panama City, Fla., and Albany Junior College in Albany, respectively, this September.

Lowe, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Lowe, is a Sergeant in the U. S. Air Force, stationed at Lyndall Air Force Base, Florida.

Gleason, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Gleason, will attend the Simmons School of Embalming and Mortician Service at Syracuse in September.

A combined 18th birthday and engagement party was celebrated by the Krom family on June 21.

Grange News

Ulster Grange

Ulster Grange 969 will hold its annual fair and bazaar on July 4 in the Grange hall. Booths will be erected and articles of clothing will be sold.

A cafeteria supper will be served.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Being an amateur cook (it's a hobby which has resulted in my doing most of the culinary chores around our house!), I happened to stumble onto a new wrinkle that may be of interest to your female readers.

After frying beef steak or veal, or with the drippings from beef or veal roasts, I use water to make the gravy. For poultry and pork drippings, I use milk, or condensed milk and water.

Depending on how much gravy we want, I pour off part of the grease, pour in the liquid I want to use and then stir in the thickening immediately. Before the liquid has even started to heat. Sure prevents lumpy gravy.

As it cooks, I stir continually, adding either thickening or more liquid for the right consistency.

After seasoning, it pours or dips like a cream soup and is delicious.

Mrs. John Coffey Heads Columbiettes

Hudson Valley Chapter of Columbiettes elected Mrs. John F. Coffey of Kingston president for 1968-1969. Also elected from Kingston at the June 22 meeting, held at Knights of Columbus Home, Middletown, were Mrs. Frank Tiano, outer guard; and Mrs. Edward Ahl, trustee. Those elected from Saugerties included: Mrs. Edward Curry, vice president, Mrs. Philip Sweeney, corresponding secretary, and Miss Lucille Nau, treasurer.

Others elected were Mrs. Joseph Furfaro, recording secretary and Mrs. John Bohner, re-elected financial secretary, both being from Triune Auxiliary, Pearl River. Those elected to office from Middletown were Miss Doris Finnegan, inner guard and Miss Clair Hallinan and Mrs. Cassie Oddo, trustees.

Also attending from Kingston Auxiliary were Mrs. Joseph Bruno, Mrs. Frank Castiglione and Mrs. Charles Senor.

Mrs. Joseph Hastings of Nanuet, president of Hudson Valley Chapter 1966-1967, presided during the meeting and elections. President Hastings thanked all the officers and members for their cooperation during her term of office and also for having sent her to the 1968 New York State Convention, June 7, 8 and 9 at the Americana Hotel, New York City. She also reminded that installation of the new officers will take place in the fall.

Steelworkers Industry In Contract Negotiations

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The United Steelworkers union (USW), faced with new warnings that its wage demands would cripple the industry, plunged into a new week of top-level contract negotiations today with the 11 major steelmakers.

Economists claimed the union's demands for a money increase of about six per cent cast a "somber outlook" on the basic steel industry. The producers earlier said they would be forced to boost prices if labor costs increased.

In a magazine published by Mellon Bank, economists said such a settlement would cost the industry an additional $233 million each year, or about 19 per cent of last year's pre tax earnings. Employment already costs the industry 3.9 billion a year, the report said.

"There are few industries less able than steel to afford a wage settlement of a magnitude which would add six or seven per cent to employment costs," an article in Mellon's Market Indicator said.

"Essentially, the steel industry has been bedeviled by highly unfavorable cost-price relationships, which show little sign of improvement." Last year's profits, the article said, dropped a "substantial" 22 per cent.

"Indeed, the somber outlook for the industry earnings that would seemingly result from such an agreement would inevitably raise some serious questions regarding the future prosperity—and hence employment opportqnities — in the industry," it said.

The union began negotiating an economic package with the industry last Monday. The negotiators were faced with an Aug. 1 deadline to settle a contract for about 450,000 workers.

The industry-wide talks were held in secret and neither side would comment on their progress.

Meanwhile, one of the union's strongest districts planned to present its own package of contract demands to the USW negotiators early this week.

The list was drawn up by local presidents of District 15 last Friday in the belief the negotiators would stress wage increases at the expense of improvements in the fringe benefit package.

District 15, representing about 43,000 workers in the nearby Monongahela Valley, called for retirement after 20 years with a pension of $10 a month for each year of service. Currently, the union retirement plan requires 30 years service with a $5 benefit for every year of service.

Msgr. Boland Dies

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — The Rt. Rev.Msgr. John P. Boland, 80, well known throughout the state for his work in the labor mediation, is dead, the victim of a small fire apparently started by a cigar he was smoking.

Police said the elderly Roman Catholic priest's clothing caught fire after a nurse left him to prepare a meal Sunday. Msgr. Boland was confined to a wheelchair for the past 10 years.

Killed in Crash

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (UPI) — Donald R. Graham, 40, of Hilton, was killed when his car left a road near his home and struck a tree Saturday.

Red Cross Safety Tips On Home Swimming Pools

Advice on how to make certain that residential swimming pools are scenes of pleasure rather than tragedy was offered today by J. Brian Steeves, water safety chairman of the Ulster County Chapter of the American Red Cross.

Mindful of the fact that nearly a million American families, or more than four million persons, now utilize home pools of various sizes and shapes, the Red Cross seeks to reduce fatalities and accidents to the absolute minimum.

Steeves said families owning or using home pools should heed the following safety tips in order to make private pools and enjoyable and safe place for themselves and their friends:

The Advice

Consult your local health department for regulations on pool sanitation, learn how to test the purity of water; Be sure the deck is as slip-proof as possible, rough cement or small tiles make a safe surface;

Clearly mark shallow and deep sections of the pool, run buoy lines across to separate; Allow no one to swim alone, Provide supervision for youngsters at all times. Be sure all pool users know how to swim — If there are a number of new swimmers or poor swimmers in the neighborhood, consider giving swimming lessons (If formal classes are not practical, parents will find great value in using the Red Cross manual for parents, "Teaching Johnny to Swim, which is a do-it-yourself booklet in working with children and is available at your local Red Cross chapter.); Fence pool, and include a gate which can be padlocked when the pool is not in use; Make some provision for shade so pool users can be sheltered from the sun; Install a Home Pool Safety Post — with ring buoy, reaching pole, and emergency phone numbers— Your Red Cross chapter can supply, upon request, posters giving instructions for setting up safety post for pond or home pool; Keep a first aid kit on hand and see that it is properly equipped; Allow no running or horseplay around thepool; Be sure some member of the family knows how to administer first aid, especially artificial respiration. Your Ulster County Red Cross Chapter can tell you when the next first aid class starts or make arrangements for your group to have one; Do not permit bottles or glassware around the pool; To help keep the pool clean and guard against infections, provide an antiseptic footbath and some sort of shower arrangement if possible; Remember that a diving board can be a hazard. Be sure the water is deep enough for diving from the board and that the board is properly placed. Caution swimmers to stay away from the area directly in front of the board, small swimming pools with little deep water should not have diving boards; Check your insurance policies to determine whether or not you are covered for accidents in the pool area. Your attorney can tell you what your legal liabilities is.

Paltz Planning Police Changes

Even with New Paltz village police having moved into new headquarters in the town hall this week, another change may be due soon.

Recently, two New Paltz residents and one Dutchess County man took a civil service examination for the post of sergeant.

This would indicate that a formal changeover from a police force to a police department may be due.

Village Mayor Henry DuBois has said that the board will not announce whether they will change the force's structure until after the test results are known, within about two months.

However, Village Trustee Leland E. Heinze predicted even more changes in the law enforcement setup.

Hailing the "pioneering efforts" in the new communications center, Heinze claimed that "in the not-too-distant future," area residents may be seeing "a joint police force."

A day full of Eddie Stanky is easy to take for a ballplayer who has just had a week full of sergeants.

So Tommy John and Tom McCraw, sprung from National Guard duty by weekend passes to spend Sunday with Stankey and the White Sox, led Chicago to a 12-0 romp over Detroit.

John pitched a five-hitter for his seventh straight victory and McCraw slammed three hits including a pair of doubles and scored twice.

Elsewhere in the American League Sunday, New York trimmed Oakland 4-2, California socked Washington 8-4, Cleveland topped Boston 7-5 in 10 innings, and Baltimore dropped Minnesota 6-4.

McCraw and John, both members of an Indiana Air National Guard unit, are halfway through their annual two-week tour of duty at Alpena, Mich. They flew to Detroit for Sunday's game.

Bill Voss and Sandy Alomar, untroubled by military problems, helped John and McCraw carry off the Detroit maneuvers. Voss walloped a grand slam home run—his third major league homer and second in two days against the Tigers—and Alomar slapped four hits, stole three bases, and scored four runs.

John, whose 7-0 record is even more impressive when you consider the White Sox' troubles this season, struck out five and walked none for his first shutout of the year.

Roy White tagged a two-run homer in the seventh inning, giving the Yankees their victory over Oakland. White's seventh homer of the year snapped a 2-2 tie.

Steve Hamilton came out of the bullpen to strike out Reggie Jackson, ending an eighth inning Oakland threat and saving the victory for Steve Barber. Jackson had homered and singled and scored the A's second run earlier.

Kingston Braves backed Charlie Janes 2-hit pitching with a 19-hit barrage of their own to crush Newburgh Nuclears, 17 to 1, in a Hudson Valley Rookie League contest Sunday at Newburgh.

Joe Schabot, the Braves' right fielder, inflicted the heaviest damage on the Nuclears, racking up a "5 for 5" performance, with four singles and a triple and two RBIs.

An unearned run in the third inning robbed Janes, the Kingston High school strikeout ace, of a shutout.

The Braves, meanwhile assaulted Jack Hunter for five runs in the first inning and chased him with a seven-run barrage in the fourth. Steve Miller mopped up. Jones fanned only nine, well below his normal quota, and walked two.

Hawkins Triples

Jerry Hawkins slammed a triple and two singles. Pete Watzka had a trio of singletons and Chick Boice and Mike Patrick two singles apiece, as the Braves staged their finest batting show of the season.

The victory was the third win in four starts for Manager Paul Gianuzzi's tossers. However, one was a second--round game played in advance on the regular date and does not appear in the current standings.

Cappillino, Speirs City Loop Winners

Pitchers again dominated the action in the City Baseball League, as the Kingston Merchants blanked the Lions Club, 2-0, on Greg Cappillino's 5-hitter and the Rosendale Merchants defeated Donnie Vans, 5-1, behind the 2-hit pitching of Bob Speirs.

Frank McGowan of the Lions Club lost a 3-hitter when the Kingston Merchants made two first-inning runs stand up for the victory.

Cappillino, the former Highland High school star, walked two and struck out 12. McGowan, who was relieved by Charlie Moore in the sixth, fanned three but was in trouble with nine walks. McGowan had two hits. Len Whitten singled in one of the two Merchants runs in the first inning.

Speirs, the Ulster Community southpaw, yielded Donnie Vans two hits and a lone run in the fourth inning. Ed Zullo tripled and scored on Chick Boice's single. Spiers fanned seven and walked one to get the nod over Gene Stoutenburg, who allowed ten hits and struck out three.

Rosendale got to Stoutenburg early, picking up two runs on Joe Schabot's double behind an error on Joe Gorman and Bernie Schaeffer's single.

Singles by Doug Doyle and Frank Cerone send Rosendale ahead, 3-0, in the third. The winners closed out the scoring with a pair in the sixth, when Ken Williams singled home Speirs and Chip Schoonmaker, who singled ahead of him.

Speirs and Williams each had two hits for Rosendale.

Hoffman Shuts Out Dino's Tossers 3-0

Hobie Armstrong's lead off home run on the first pitch of the game gave Ray's Chevrolet pitcher, Richie Hoffman all the support he needed. Hoffman hurled a four-hit shutout, winning 3-0 over Dino's Tavern of Middletown Sunday in the Hudson Valley Softball League.

The contest, played at Middletown's Fancher - Davidge Park, saw Armstrong power losing flinger Skip Eggleston's first delivery some 300-feet, sailing over the left-centerfield wall and into the parking lot. The shot, high and arching, cleared the fence with plenty to spare.

Hoffman, who struck out six and walked none, got a perfect fielding performance from his teammates. He made their strong effort stronger by being ultra effective with his drop-ball pitch.

Using the drop and fast ball effectively in the stifling heat, Hoffman handcuffed Vern Darmstader, Ron Barnes, Charlie Cotton and Dan Duff, a quartet of feared Dino's batters.

Ray's other pair of runs came in the fourth on a leadoff double by Mel Williams and a series of three errors by Dino's.

Hoffman walked none and scattered four singles. He gave up a pair to Dick Cotton, one to Tony (Whitey) Zovistoski and another to Dick Harding.

In addition to the homer, Armstrong tagged Eggleston for a single as did Hoffman and Ron Secreto. The loser fanned 13 while issuing a trio of walks.

In other games, Green Haven dumped Didey's of Newburgh, 4-2 and Beacon blanked Stewart Air Force, 5-0.

No Hustle Irks Leo 200 Bucks

By MIKE BRYSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

A lot of things irk Leo Durocher. One of them is a lack of hustle from his Chicago Cubs.

The Lip decided to do something about it Saturday—he slapped a $200 fine on one of his players for loafing on the baselpaths.

Every single Cub hustled Sunday. . .all the way to a 6-2 conquest of St. Louis' National League leaders. It was the second victory in the three-game series for Chicago, loser of 11 of 12 games before the Cardinals came to town.

But St. Louis held on to its 6½ game lead as Cincinnati whipped San Francisco 5-3 and Los Angeles edged Atlanta 3-2. In other games, New York nipped Houston 1-0 and Pittsburgh stopped Philadelphia 5-2.

What made the Cubs' victory especially sweet was that it came against old nemesis Steve Carlton.

The left-hander, who had banished the Cubs twice earlier this season including once on a one-hitter, was the victim of a three-run uprising in the first inning, then was chased with two more in the fifth.

Singles by Glenn Beckert, Billy Williams and Randy Hundley staked starter Bill Hands, 7-5, to the early lead. The Cubs mixed another single by Williams, Ernie Banks' double and an infield out for the two in the fifth and Jim Hickman lashed a solo homer in the eighth.

Bob Tolan had an eighth-inning homer for the Cards.

Pete Rose's two-run homer and four singles by Lee May powered Cincinnati to a 5-0 lead before San Francisco staged a late eruption.

The Giants combined singles by Jim Hart, Bobby Bonds, pinchhitter Dave Marshall and Dick Dietz for two runs in the eighth, and Hart singled in another in the ninth before Gerry Arrigo and Clay Carroll quieted things down.

Los Angeles made Ken Boyer's second RBI of the day in the third inning stand up to turn back Atlanta. The Braves had tied it 2-2 in the third on Felipe Alou's two-run double.

But the Dodgers came right back on Len Gabrielson's double, Tom Haller's single and Boyer's ground out. Jim "Mudcat" Grant, 3-3, won on a five-hitter.

Kuriger, Kithcart Top Lions

Tom Kuriger and Marshall Kithcart combined their talents to lead Kingston Lions to a 14-5 romp over KPA in the Babe Ruth League.

Kuriger allowed only three hits, struck out 13 and collected two singles. Kithcart slugged four doubles and knocked in five runs in four trips to the plate. Dan Brown had two singles for the winners, who scored eight runs in the seventh inning.

Two of the three KPA hits off Kurgier were doubles by Frank Veterre.

Zeeh, Peschel In Tennis Final

Pete Zeeh of Kingston and Paul Peschel advanced to the final round of the Powelton Club's invitational tennis tournament at Newburgh over the weekend.

Zeeh defeated J. Fisher in a first round match, 6-3, 6-0, then eliminated Robert Smith of Middletown, 6-4, 6-2. In the semi-finals he defeated John Chen, 6-4, 7-5.

First seeded Peschel won over Ken Miron of Newburgh by default in the first round, then toppled C. Warburton, 6-2, 6-0, before a 6-1, 6-1 semi-final win over Mike Payne of Newburgh.

The finals are tentatively scheduled for Tuesday evening.

Class 2 Entries Due in Softball

Entries for the class "B" Fast Pitch softball tournament to be held July 13-14 and 20-21 in Middletown must be in to tournament director Ken Van Sciver by July 8.

The tourney, first of its kind in the State ASA, is open to any team in the nine counties that make up District 10—Columbia, Greene, Ulster, Dutchess, Putnam, Orange, Sullivan, Rockland and Westchester.

This year, for the first time, a team may compete in either the class "A" or class "B" tournament, but not in both. The two top finishers of the "B" division will go to Syracuse for the State championships later in the summer.

The entry fee for ASA registered teams is 20 dollars, 28 dollars for non-registered teams.

Lassie League–Summer Softball

The Saugerties Lassie League will begin its first softball season July 12 at the lighted softball diamond at Cantine Field in Saugerties.

The girls will play a double header every Friday, weather permitting, for the following seven Fridays.

Mary Ann Maines will manage the Cuties, a group of married gals who have played under that banner periodically since 1965. Other teams and managers are The Pussycats, Charlie Mullaney; The Leaders, Ann Bogart; and F-X Curle, Tom Manning.

The competition, open to all Saugerties girls over 12, will utilize 11-girl teams, a free substitution system, and play five-inning games.

Wood's Victory Is Number Four

Ellenville's Harold Wood, the 1967 Limited Sportsman champ at Orange County Fair Speedway, took home his fourth feature win there Saturday night, staging a come-from-behind rally to nip Eddie Yonkers.

Wood overtook Yonkers, the leader throughout, on the final lap, making it four wins in seven weeks. John Pennings of High Woods was third.

Will Cagle won his third Modified feature, grabbing the lead after the 11th lap and outracing Sonny Strupp home. Rags Carter was third.

In the Semi-Late Model class, Dick Bohm won the feature after the top three front-runners went out with mechanical trouble.

Mets Win, 4-1

The Pee Wee League version of the Mets defeated the Tigers, 4 to 1, behind the 2-hit pitching of Terrt Myers. Wayne Brooks homered for the lone Tiger run.

Legion Checks Saugerties, 6-2

Pete Helmich fired a 1-hitter and struck out 16 batters, Kingston Post No. 150 American Legion Juniors started their march toward the New York State championship with a decisive 6-2 victory over Lamouree-Hackett Post 72 of Saugerties at Cantine Field.

The teams meet in the second game of the double elimination county playoffs on Monday July 8 at 8 p. m. at Dietz Stadium.

The Kingston High School whiz walked four and lost his shutout on two tainted runs in the sixth inning, when Rick Cyr singled for the only Saugerties hit.

Mike Weishaupt paced Kingston's attack with a double and two singles. Greg Rios had two singles and Gary Schatzel a single and double. Rick Sorenson singled to account for the eight Kingston hits off Gary Silinovich and Bill Wrolsen.

Kingston collected its six runs with two runs in each of the first, third and seventh innings.

Locals Score Early

The locals put two runs on the board in the first inning when Gary Schatzel doubled to left with one out. Charlie Moore tapped to the pitcher and Greg Rios singled scoring Schatzel. Rios stole second and came home on Mike Weishaupt's single.

Rios singled Schatzel, who scored three times, home in the third inning and completed the circuit himself on a passed ball, infield out and another passed ball.

Trailing 4-0, Saugerties scored its two runs in the sixth, as Helmich hit Randy Fury with a pitch to start the inning. Fury stole second, Wrolsen walked and Cyr singled to load the bases.

Fury scored when Schatzel threw wild past third trying for a DP on Bill Perks liner, Wrolsen went all the way to third and later scored on a wild pitch.

Schatzel triggered his third straight rally with a walk in the seventh. The shortstop booted Rios' grounder and the runners wound up on second and third. Weishaupt's single scored both.

Cash Battle Wins Wiltwyck:

MR-Fans Enjoy Record Evening

It was a truly night for records. The warm weather, the fantastic racing card, and a general feeling of excitement all combined to give Monticello Raceway its best night ever. Four marks, two in racing and a pair in betting, fell by the wayside Saturday night with the crowd of 12,678 and Monticello officials both savoring the show.

The Mighty M staged double feature races, slating a pair of $5,000 free-for-all paces, the second honoring Wiltwyck Country Club.

The Wiltwyck, the sixth, saw the first racing mark go down the drain. Cash Battle (3), reined by Ralph Spencer, posted the second fastest time of the season at MR, a two-length victory in 2:01.1. Cash Battle came the last half on the top end in :59.3, clipping four-fifths of a second off his lifetime mark. Only Song Cycle's 1:59.1 mile last week is faster at the Mighty M in 1968.

In the first feature, the fourth race, Charlie King pulled the "I'm on top, come get me," strategy and romped home easily a three-length winner behind C.K. Adios. The time was a nifty 2:02.4

Named for his driver, C. K. Adios let Deputy Hanover (3) gain the lead in the first turn. Coming out of that turn, King brushed C. K., zoomed past Deputy as if he were standing still and moved back on the rail leading before the first quarter. He kept the lead throughout, coming home in a blistering :29.2 final quarter — amazing considering he led for all but the initial three-sixteenths of the mile.

In the final race, three-year-old Torpid Vic, piloted by Carl Ernst, cut a fifth-of-a-second off his best mile ever, winning handily in 2:02.2.

The fans loved the card, applauding throughout. The way they marched to the windows satisfied MR management.

The evening's first perfecta race, the third, saw the perfecta wagering record go down with the patrons dumping in $51,882. Short lived, the betters plunked down $62,610 the next perfecta race, the fifth.

Total handle for the night was $857,530, snapping the old standard of $760,423 set August 5, 1967, when 14,785 were on hand.

Two Seconds Won By Pesky Hawk

Pesky Hawk, a two-year-old colt owned and trained by Linda Van De Mark of Quarter V Ranch in Hurley, placed second twice in a field of 53 horses at the Tri-State Horse Show in Port Jervis Sunday.

The young stallion, a permanent registered quarter horse, was broken only a month ago. He notched seconds in Senior Western Pleasure and Break Your Gait and Out.

Josh Logan Ready For Another Biggie

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) —Director Josh Logan laments: "Whenever they plan a big picture, they say, 'Get Logan.' Some day I'd like to direct a picture for under a million dollars—and I'd be willing to do it for nothing."

Logan is preparing to start another big one, but he's not really as unhappy as he sounds. He seems to enjoy dealing with big casts and masses of extras, as he did in "Picnic," "Fanny," "South Pacific" and "Camelot."

The new one is "Paint Your Wagon," into which Paramount is sinking an estimated $10 million. That's a lot of money for a musical that failed to set broadway afire. It was one of the early collaborations of Alan Jay Lerner and Frederick Loewe.

"It certainly wasn't a very good play," Logan admitted. "I could scarcely sit there when I saw it on Broadway; the only thing that held me were the wonderful songs. The story was a good idea, but it never came off. Alan told me that he rewrote the play three times, but he never was satisfied with it. The story was simply too vast a panorama.

"When Alan was assigned to produce 'Paint Your Wagon' for Paramount, he decided to throw the script out and use as many of the songs as possible."

Lerner hired Paddy Chayefsky to fashion the new story line. He did so, said Logan, by expanding brief scenes at the beginning and end of the play script. The leading characters of an old man, his daughter and a Mexican sweetheart were abandoned. The old man was made younger and cast with Lee Marvin. A new character named Partner was created; he'll be played by Clint Eastwood. The new girl will be portrayed by Jean Seberg.

All will do their own singing, although Logan doesn't think that's important in a film musical. This despite the criticism of the dubbed songs for Audrey Hepburn in "My Fair Lady."

"I don't think it really matters who does the singing," said the director. "Too much is made of voices in musicals. Take a girl like Vanessa Redgrave. Even though she sang every note to her songs in 'Camelot' and spent a lot of time perfecting her singing, she was still accused of having her songs dubbed.

"In 'South Pacific' only one of the singers—Mitzi Gaynor—was not dubbed. Even Juanita Hall didn't do her own songs because Rodgers and Hammerstein thought she had lost her quality."

"Paint Your Wagon" will be filmed almost entirely on location near Baker, Ore.

Brothers Drown

ITHACA, N.Y. (UPI) — Two Cortland brothers drowned Sunday while they swam in a forbidden area below the 215-foot high Taughannock Falls, police said.

The two were identified as Kenneth and Michael Pipcak, both in their late teens. They were swimming in the pool below the falls when caught in an undertow.

INDEX NO. 1968-2712
NOTICE OF SALE

In pursuance of judgement of foreclosure and sale, made and entered in the above-entitled action the 10th day of June, 1968, I, the undersigned, the Referee in said judgment named will sell at public auction, at the Ulster County Courthouse, 285 Wall Street, in the City of Kingston, New York on the 12th day of July, 1968 at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, the premises directed by said judgment to be sold, and therein described as follows:

ALL THAT TRACT PIECE OR PARCEL OF LAND, situate in the Town of Olive, County of Ulster and State of New York.

BEGINNING on the northeast on the line of Jarvis Burger and Rose Apuzzo thence northwest along the lines of Ole Peterson, Charles Carlson and David Smith lot, now Ole Peterson in the same direction to a chestnut tree, a corner on the lands of Sarah Smith deceased and Rose Apuzzo thence northeast on the line of said Sarah Smith to a wood road leading from the wood lot called the Aaron Van Leuven lot, thence along said wood lot in a northeasterly direction to the corner of a stone wall on the farm of Rose Apuzzo formerly owned by Abram F. Markle, thence southeast along said wall to a oak tree a corner between Rose Apuzzo and Harry Hansen, thence southwest along the lands of Harry Hanson and Jarvis Burger to the place of beginning, containing 35 acres of land be the same more or less.

EXCEPTING AND RESERVING therefrom so much as was conveyed by John F. Darling and wife, as described in the following libers: 595/534; 604/370; 607 265; 689/411; 711/126; 726/191; 743/466; 768/453; 887/183; and 889/243.

BEING a portion of the premises conveyed to John F. Darling and Gertrude L. Darling, by deed dated November 4, 1935 and recorded in the Ulster County Clerk's Office in Liber 578 of Deeds at page 516. It being the intention of the grantor herein to convey all of the remaining property in the Town of Olive which was of John Darling and wife, deceased.

The said John F. Darling died a resident of the County of Ulster on the 22nd day of December 1961.

The said Gertrude L. Darling, died a resident of the County of Ulster the 25th day of October, 1963.

ALSO, ALL THAT TRACT, PIECE OR PARCEL OF LAND, situate in the Town of Olive, in the County of Ulster and State of New York, described as follows:

BEGINNING at a stake northwest of the Darling residence on a wood road, thence southwest along lands of Darling 182 feet to corner on lands of Simone, thence 132 feet west along lands of Simone to stone wall; thence 182 feet along said wall North to said wood road, thence along said wood road East 132 feet to place of beginning. Containing one-half acre of land be the same more or less.

BEING the same premises conveyed to Gladys J. Bashall by deeds dated March 26, 1962 recorded in Liber 1119 at page 723 and February 9, 1962 and recorded in Liber 1119 at page 721.

Said premises are to be subject to outstanding general and school taxes.

Dated: June 10th, 1968.

AN OPPORTUNITY IN SALES

We are a well established company supplying the Christmas Club service to financial institutions through representatives operating in exclusive territories. Our men think for themselves, are personable, able to manage their own affairs and to work with little supervision. They travel a lot during the week within their territories and are good family men.

We seek a man from the Kingston area who will work hard for a good income. He will assume an established territory consisting of Eastern New York and the State of Vermont.

This is an unusual opportunity and we would like to find the right man for it. If you think you fit this picture, write in detail and in confidence to:

Dear Abby

Good Act Down the Drain

By ABIGALE VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a divorcee with children. In my capacity as a secretary I had access to all the details of a very messy divorce involving an executive in my company. (His wife deserted him, and he recently divorced her and was given custody of their children.)

I invited him to a party at my home, and on the invitation I wrote, "If I can be of any help in your present predicament, please let me know."

He did not even acknowledge my invitation.

I am very confused about this. Did I use poor taste in offering my help? Did I perhaps embarrass him? Or should I take this as an indication that he doesn't want anything to do with me? Your opinion would be appreciated.

CONFUSED

DEAR CONFUSED: Your offer to help him in his "present predicament" was an innocent blunder, since you learned the details of it from your access to other sources, and not from him. You may gave humiliated, if not irritated, him by your well-intentioned intrusion into his private affairs. Meanwhile, he should have acknowledged your invitation. Let things summer

* * *

DEAR ABBY: A friend of mine who married and moved out of town wrote that she and her husband were coming to town next month. We see each other only once a year and keep in touch by letter. She wrote: "We would love to see you, so why don't you throw a party, inviting some people we know? We'd sure enjoy it."

I had intended to invite her and her husband for an evening, but I didn't plan on throwing a party, mainly because we have no mutual friends.

My husband is furious. He says she has a lot of nerve, and I should not invite her here at all.

She really is a nice person, and our friendship goes back a long way. How can I get out of this gracefully?

STUCK

DEAR STUCK: Proceed with your original plan and ignore her suggestion to "throw a party." Since you consider ger a "nice person," why not dig up a couple of other chums whose friendship goes back a long way and have an all-girl party in the afternoon? That way your husband will gave no complaints, and you won't feel guilty.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: May I say a word about male surgery to prevent unwanted children? My husband had a vasectomy and I am here to testify that it is the greatest! We are in out 70s and are still lovers. We have no regrets for not having our own children, and we've helped 45 delinquent children to become better citizens.

For people with a background of inherited birth defects, or those with occupations which keep them on the run, or for folks like us who were the oldest of large, poor families and have had it, it is a blessing.

RESPECTS HUMAN LIFE

Horoscope

By SYDNEY OMARR

It's In The Stars

("The wise man controls his destiny . . . astrology points the way.")

FORECAST FOR TUESDAY JULY 2, 1968

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Attention focuses on partnerships, including marriage. Important that you are aware of legal nuances. Get expert aid where legal matters are concerned.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Practical affairs dominate. Costs should be evaluated. Applies specifically to vacation activity. Emotions run high. Give logic a chance to compete with emotions.

GEMINI (May 21 - June 20): Good lunar aspect today coincides with romance, creative interests. Featured is change, excitement of discovery. Wonderful for dealing with opposite sex.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Accent on home base. Means innovations which improve comforts, security are advisable. Stress originality. No day to follow. Be a leader. Get going—others will comply.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Short journey emphasized. Relatives and visits could highlight day. Hunch pays off. Heed inner feelings. Don't go against grain of your own nature. Rid yourself of irritating influence.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 - Sept. 22): Money, personal possessions hold attention. Be flexible. Look beyond immediate indications. Gain shown through written word. A little study today could result in profit.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 - Oct. 22): Greater freedom indicated. You can meet people, go places and do things. Moon in your sign stresses personality, appearance. Be confident, optimistic.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Some secrets could be revealed. Be alert. One behind-the scenes works in your behalf. Know this—respond accordingly. Avoid jumping to conclusions. There is delay—but it is necessary.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Some of your desires are fulfilled, due to co-operation from family. Know this, strive for domestic harmony. Don't work against your own interests.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 - Jan. 19): Review ambitions. You could be focusing on wrong direction. Take time to study aspirations, trends. Go with the tide. Gain co-operation of those in authority.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Favorable lunar aspect today coincides with change of personal philosophy. You add to knowledge. Read, write and advertise. Don't be shy. Say what you mean—mean what you say.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Interest spurred in the occult, hidden affairs. You could find out where money is going. Means you make discovery which plugs economic leak.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you may possess musical ability; you are sensitive, receptive and creative. Opposite sex finds you attractive. Change of domestic scene is on horizon.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Cycle high for LIBRA, SCORPIO. Special word to CANCER: orignnal approach could work wonders.

Opening lead—♥ J

By Oswald and James Jacoby

Oswald: "When you have to choose between two suits to attack, you may have to decide by sheer guesswork but most of the time there is some guidelines. You try the suit that promises the greater reward if your play works or if each suit promises the same reward you try the one that allows you to reserve the other suit play for later."

Jim: "Here is a hand which illustrates the latter role. Most players who tried the club finesse wound up down one."

Oswald: "This hand really is a good example. I can imagine the successful declarers complaining that their finesses never win."

Jim: "Part of the trouble here is that most people don't realize just what a finesse is. For instance, the lead of a spade from dummy up to the king would be just as much a finesse as the lead of a club up to the ace-queen. The club finesse allows declarer to make a trick with his queen if East holds the king. The spade finesse allows the king to make a trick if East holds the ace."

Oswald: Perhaps it would simplify matters if we defined a finesse as the attempt to make a trick with a card by leading up to it when the card would not take the trick if you led it."

Jim: "Or maybe we should define a finesse as an attempt to make a card do the work of a higher card because of its position."

Oswald: "Whatever definition you use, it should be obvious that if South starts his finessing by leading a club he will lose his contract any time West holds the king of the suit, since he will have a sure spade loser later. If he starts by leading a spade toward his king and West holds the ace, he will lose that trick but still have a chance to try the club finesse. If East holds the ace of spades South will be able to discard one of dummy's clubs on the king of spades and make his contract without the club finesse."

Mature, Relaxed Les Crane

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—It is always a pleasure to see a performer mature, relax and suddenly find the right groove. It has to happen from within, and when it does it is comfortable for the audience, too. And that is why Les Crane is good television company these days.

It is the same Les Crane who, before Joey Bishop, had the late-night ABC-TV series that didn't work out. But it wasn't really the same Les Crane as a performer.

It used to be, in the early days, that he had an edginess to his video manner, and was employing somewhat of a personally controversial technique that he didn't seem to really believe in 100 per cent. Now, however, he has suddenly blossomed into a most gracious host, and—combined with his admitted gifts as an interviewer—the result is that his syndicated television talk show is one of the best and most rewarding contemporary programs on the air.

Changes Attitude

What happened to bring about the personal change?

"I really wanted to be a success before," he said, "and that, more than anything else, prevented me from being successful.

"I was pushing, pressing, and that television machine is like an X-ray machine, if you are pushing, pressing—if you any anything less than natural and at peace with yourself—it shows it."

Sitting poolside at the house that he and his actress-wife, Tina Louise, recently moved into in the Hidden Valley section of Coldwater Canyon, Crane added:

"Now I don't care any more. The show I'm doing is the only one I'm thinking about. And I think Tina had a lot to do with my change of attitude. She's very cool. She made me relax—as much as anyone in this business can."

Series of Vehicles

Crane first came to public attention with a late-night show in New York. Then, on the five ABC-TV owned and operated stations, he had a week-long tryout of an outstanding, gutty and showmanlike program. But when ABC-TV followed up by giving him the nationwide late-night series, so many people messed around with it that it would up a pale imitation of NBC-TV's Johnny Carson show. Later the network brought him back in a program with Nipsey Russell, but that didn't work out either.

After that, he did some television shows and a movie, "An American Dream," before hitting his stride on his new series.

"When you want to be a success," he says, "the thing you worry about most is failure." Nowadays, however, worry seems to be a thing of the past, and Crane is a very loose cat, as witness his outlook: "Every day a guy should say: Today is the first day of the rest of my life."

As I say, Mr. Les Crane is very good company these days.

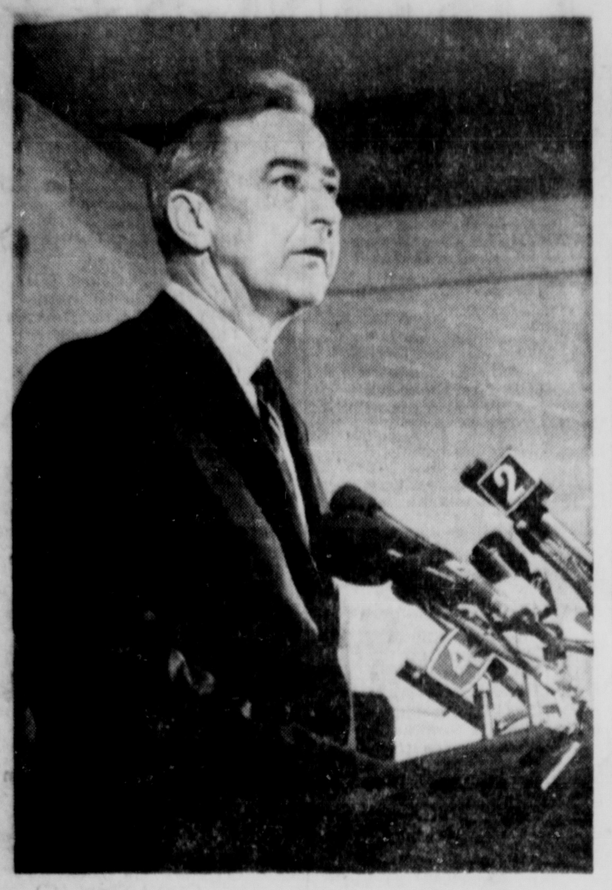
Humphrey on Peace for Vietnam--Mighty Close to Finding the Way



FOR GOPer IF . . . —Sen. Eugene McCarthy addressed the Michigan delegation in East Lansing and according to some delegates, left the impression that he would support a Republican candidate if Vice President Humphrey won the nomination. He is shown at a press conference following the address. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

By United Press International

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey says the United States is "mighty close" to finding the way to peace in Vietnam despite Communist efforts to use the Paris talks for propaganda and the current Red offensive in South Vietnam.

"We're mighty close to finding our way, as I see it," Humphrey said on a Sunday television program (Opinion: Washington—Metromedia).

"I believe with patience, perseverance, tenacity, that we can find that peaceful settlement," the vice president said.

He urged American negotiators in Paris to be steadfast because the North Vietnamese are using their present offensive to "break our will."

"There is no doubt that Hanoi is using the talks, in part, as a propaganda mechanism," he said, but "let's not be propagandized away from the conference table; let's not be baited into a massive escalation in this war . . ."

Enough for Nixon

Humphrey made the statements as a key New York supporter—a former Johnson administration official—suggested that the vice president and President Johnson have differed on the conduct of the war.

At the same time, a top administration official sharply criticized Humphrey's opponent for the Democratic presidential nomination—Eugene J. McCarthy—for his plan to go to Paris to observe the talks.

Eugene P. Foley, former small business administrator under Johnson, said in New York of possible Johnson-Humphrey differences on the conduct of the war: "I believe it's pretty well known that Vice President Humphrey and George Ball . . . were more or less allies in counseling against certain activities and certain policies connected with the Vietnam War."

Declining to be more specific, he said "These are matters that really can't openly be discussed at this time."

It was Ball, the U.N. ambassador, who criticized McCarthy Sunday. "I can't believe he takes this seriously," Ball said of the Minnesota senator's plan to "look in on" the negotiations.

Ball added that such "interference . . . would be mischievous" and said he hoped McCarthy would reconsider.

Suggests Differences

In other developments:

Delegates—A UPI tabulation of convention delegates showed that Richard M. Nixon has, on paper, enough votes to win the Republican presidential nomination. The tabulation showed him with 691 committed and leaning votes with 667 needed to win. Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller had 278 and Gov. Ronald Reagan had 158. Humphrey picked up 126 more votes at weekend Democratic conventions in Missouri, Oklahoma, North Dakota and New Mexico to raise his total to 1,054, with 1,312 needed to nominate. McCarthy was credited with 385 7-10.

Rockefeller—The New York governor Sunday urged states to form community service programs to encourage private initiative in the social services. He stressed such community support would aim especially at city ghetto areas.

The Deficit Outlook Good

WASHINGTON (AP) — Armed with higher taxes and a congressional mandate to cut spending, the federal government headed into a new fiscal year today with the prospect of compiling its smallest deficit in three or perhaps four years.

The budget deficit in the fiscal year which ended at midnight Sunday ran to about $25 billion by the administration's own estimate—the fourth largest in history.

President Johnson gave the government its deficit-cutting tools last Friday when he signed the 10 per cent income tax surcharge and accepted at the same time the $6 billion in spending cuts he doesn't want.

Americans will begin paying higher taxes in paychecks withholding after July 13.

The tax boost and spending cut could drop the deficit for the new fiscal year to as low as $2.5 billion if present spending estimates remain unchanged, an unlikely prospect.

The government last ran a deficit that low in fiscal 1965 at $1.1 billion. The red ink rose to $3.7 billion in 1966 and to $8.8 billion in the fiscal year which ended one year ago.

The only official word from the administration is that the deficit in the new year should move to well below the $8 billion projected last January.

Spending for the Vietnam war at about $27 billion caused the large deficit in the fiscal year just ended. War costs are now figured at about $28.4 billion in the new fiscal year.

Only three World War II deficits were higher all totaled more than $50 billion, with the one in 1943 reading $57.4 billiin.

Pope Paul Defends Papal Doctrines

By ERNEST A. LOTITO

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—Some theologians feel the Roman Catholic Church should expand change to allow married priests and women clergy. But Pope Paul has rebuked Catholics who show "a passion for change and novelty."

The pontiff defended the doctrines of papal infallibility and the virgin birth along with celibacy of priests in addressing 50,000 persons at a Mass Sunday night.

It marked the start of his sixteh year in office and the end of a Catholic "year of faith." The ceremony began at twilight and ended in floodlighted darkness in St. Peter's Square.

John Patrick Cardinal Cody of Chicago was among 42 cardinals who concelebrated Mass with the Pope. Patrick Louis Cardinal O'Boyle of Washington and Archbishop Terence James Cooke of New York were among church dignitaries who attended.

The Pope's sternest words were in a "Credo of the People of God" in which he criticized Catholics who "allow themselves to be seized by a kind of passion for change and novelty."

Catholic sources suggested his defense of doctrine appeared intended mainly for liberal churchmen in Holland and other countires who have come up with ideas regarded as heretical by conservative Catholics.

Vatican observers said the Pope appeared to be suggesting that the liberals stop perpetuating their ideas or face disciplinary action.

He touched on such doctrines as have been called into question:

—The virginity of Mary.

—The real presence of the body and blood of Christ in the Eucharist.

—The infallibility of the Pope.

The pontiff urged priests to remember their situation "will always be paradoxical and incomprehensible to those who have no faith."

LBJ Signs Nuclear Treaty, New Agreement With Soviet

BOSTON DISPERSAL—A Boston Canine Corps policeman uses his police dog to disperse some of the crowd of more than 3000 persons that gathered on the Boston Common late Sunday for the third straight night of disturbances in a row. The crowd was dispersed by scores of helmeted police and a motorcycle platoon. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson announced today agreement has been reached between the United States and the Soviet Union to begin talks "in the nearest future" on mutual limitation of nuclear weapons.

Johnson, in a speech prepared for a White House ceremony for signing of the nuclear nonproliferation treaty, said:

"At this moment of achievement and hope I am gratified to be able to report and announce to the world a significant agreement—an agreement I have actively sought and worked for since January, 1964.

Reach Accord

"Agreement has been reached between the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics and the United States to enter in the nearest future into discussions on the limitation and reduction of both offensive strategic nuclear weapons delivery systems and systems of defense against ballistic missiles."

U.S. officials said no date or place for the initial meetings with the Soviet Union had been set but they described the agreement as being equivalent in importance to the start of talks in Paris with North Vietnam on the Vietnam War.

The President said discussion on limitation of nuclear weapons would be complex — and they would not be easy.

"We have no illusions that it will be (easy). I know the stubborn, patient persistence it has required to get this far. I know the difficulties that lie ahead. I know the fears, suspicions and anxieties we shall have to overcome."

Officials said the agreement on starting talks about scaling down the nuclear race dates back to a letter sent to the President in December, 1963, by Nikita H. Khrushchev, then Soviet premier, regarding "territorial disputes."

Requested Talks

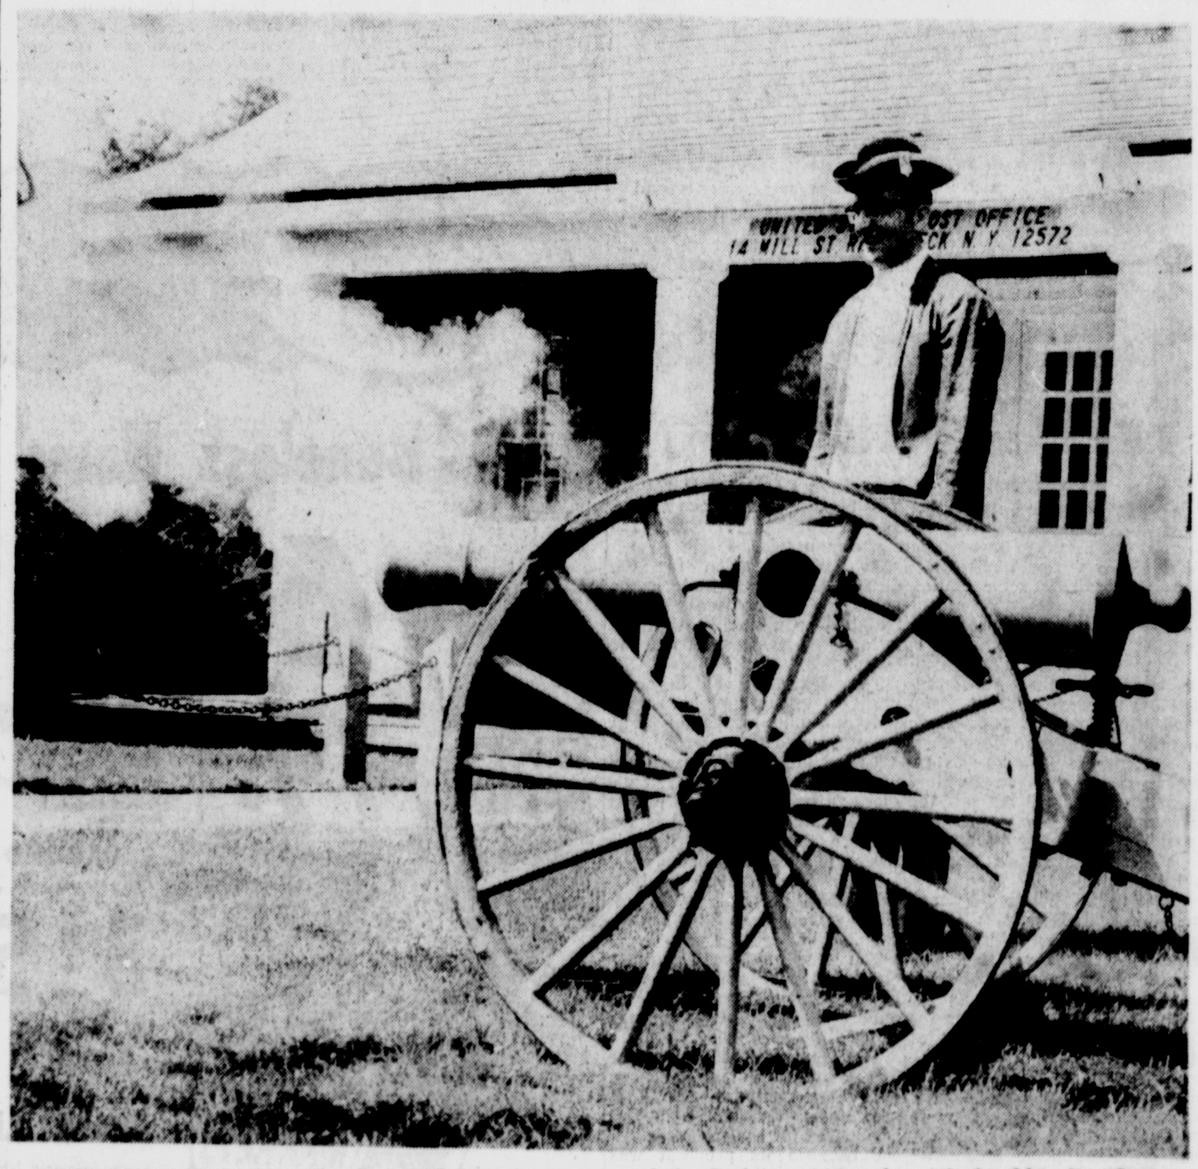
Johnson used the 1963 letter to specifically request discussion of nuclear weapons limitations when he replied to Khrushchev in January, 1964.

The exchange of letters came soon after Johnson took office following the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

Johnson's announcement came several hours after Alexei Kosygin, who succeeded Khrushchev as Russian premier, announced at a similar treaty signing ceremony in Moscow that the Soviets had asked all nations to make sweeping cutbacks in the arms race, including a reduction of nuclear weapons.

U.S. officials said the subject of nuclear arms had been under discussion between Washington and Moscow since the Johnson-Khrushchev exchange and that the two nations reached "broad agreements" at the Glassboro summit conference between Johnson and Kosygin in June, 1967.

The officials said, however, that "only in the last few days has the Soviet Union agreed to move into these talks."



282ND ANNIVERSARY—The Town of Rhinebeck's birthday celebration this weekend went over with a bang as a score of events, both socially and historically significant marked its 282nd anniversary. In the scene pictured, DeWitt Gurnell, president of the Rhinebeck Historical Society, shoots cannon in front of the Beekman Arms, the nation's oldest inn. It was there that a reenactment of General Lafayette's arrival in Rhinebeck was depicted Saturday. A story of further events during the two-day celebration is on page 3. (Freeman photo by Haines)

Repel Viet Attack, Cite 16 for Valor

By JACK WALSH

SAIGON (UPI)—U.S. Paratroopers smashed a 200-man Viet Cong attack on a nearby base in close combat so fierce that American commanders awarded 16 medals for valor on the spot, military spokesmen said today.

The first battalion of the Army 101st Airborne Division's 3rd Brigade killed at least 38 of the guerrillas who stormed out of the night Sunday, hurling satchel charges and grenades into American foxholes already hit by rockets and mortar shells.

Five Viet Cong pitched over dead within two yards of one U.S. foxhole. One guerrilla crumpled so close that his chinese-made automatic rifle pitched into a U.S. bunker.

No GIs Killed

Military spokesmen said no Americans were killed. Twenty-two suffered wounds during the two hours of a special kind of GI heroism. One medal went to Spec. 5 Ubaldo Measatas of Santa Monica, Calif., a medic who rushed 20 yards through heavy fire to treat three wounded comrades in a four-man foxhole.

As Maestas bent over one wounded man. A Viet Cong scrambled to within five yards of him. The medic dived for an M16 rifle, cut down the guerrilla with a burst of fire and finished bandaging the wounded man. Maestas then carried the most seriously wounded man back to a safer bunker.

The Viet Cong sought to overrun the battalion base as part of a drive in the suburbs that intelligence sources said shows sure signs of building a third major Viet Cong try this year at assaulting Saigon.

Shortly after the Communists were driven off, Maj. Gen. F.K. Mearns inspected the battlefield, talked to the troopers and —in a rare instant action — pinned four Silver Stars and 12 Bronze stars on the chests of the Paratroopers.

Allied troops prepared for more action in the Saigon area. U.S. B52 Stratofortresses eight times today pounded guerrilla base areas in Saigon's outskirts.

The heavy raids followed the Viet Cong's blowing up two bridges, one near Saigon and another near the vital U.S. supply base at Cam Ranh Bay.

The B52s struck targets ranging from 26 to 57 miles from Saigon and Navy warplanes bombed a brick factory two miles west of Vinh. They reported red dust and smoke rose 2,000 feet.

U.S. fighter bombers sank a 150-foot ferry 23 miles northwest of Dong Hoi.

The U.S. is "mighty close" to finding the way to peace in Vietnam despite Communist efforts to use the Paris talks for propaganda. This is the view of Vice-President Humphrey. Story on page 40. Closer to the war, North Vietnam's food problems may be easing because much of the country is free from U.S. bombing. There is evidence that thousands of North Vietnamese civilians are returning to farming. Story on page 2.

For DeGaulle...His Finest Hour

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG

PARIS (UPI) — President Charles de Gaulle today shattered the Communists and won the most stunning landslide election victory in French history. Napoleon never came close to it.

After a second Sunday of voting in parliamentary elections, Frenchmen gave the 77-year-old leader control of 355 seats in the 487-seat national assembly. The parliament's term runs five years.

A month ago De Gaulle's previous 242-seat minority government wobbled as France collapsed into the chaos fo a 10-million man national strike plus worker-student street riots with police. The Communists and other leftwingers proclaimed the De Gaulle era dead and called for leftwing government.

But the voters cut the number of Communist seats from 73 to 33 and their allies, the Federation of the Left, slumped from 121 seats to 57.

Election officials said no single political group had won such a victory since France became a republic in 1793. At 77, Charles de Gaulle may have engineered his finest hour.

True to his image of lonely grandeur, De Gaulle — who had told Frenchmen to choose between himself and Communist "totalitarian dictatorship" —remained silent in his country house, coming back to Paris later in the day.

In Paris, Communist leader Waldeck Rochet, his own dreams of power crumbling, told newsmen the election result was wrought by De Gaulle's "blackmail by fear."

Rochet declared the new parliament will be but a rubber stamp for De Gaulle.

Two Sundays ago Frenchmen voted in the first round of parliamentary elections, giving Gaullist forces 47 per cent of the vote. In the runoffs of 319 seats Sunday they gave his forces 46 per cent.

But since each national assembly seat is decided locally, that percentage was good enough to build a landslide.

With all but two seats decided, Gaullist forces took 6.7 million votes and the leftwingers won 6.1 million.

Provisional final official figures showed the center party—which preached a middle way between De Gaulle and the left-dropped from 41 to 29 seats. Scattered extremists and splinter rightwingers took 11 seats.

When the newly elected French national assembly meets July 11 it must face a major immediate and unpleasant task — figuring out how to pay the staggering cost of the "1966 revolution."

The "revolution" started with a student takeover of much of Paris' Left Bank Latin Quarter involving battles with police and widespread destruction which led to strikes that involved 10 million workers throughout the nation.

Finance Minister Maurice Couve de Murville was expected to ask for immediate revision of the 1968 budget. It was needed to cope with the deficit arising from the sweeping wage increases that were the price for a return to work by striking employes in state-run services.

Officials said the wage increases of 10 to 20 per cent granted to 1.8 million employes of the state administrative services would cost more than $1.4 billion annually.

Viet-Bound GIs and Airliner... A Bid to Kosygin for Its Return

MOSCOW (UPI)—The United States today asked Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin to return the 231-man airliner forced down on a Soviet Pacific island.

Under Investigation

An American Embassy spokesman said Kosygin replied the matter was under investigation.

U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson made the request during a 15-minute talk with Kosygin and First Deputy Foreign Minister Vasili Kuznetsov during a ceremony at the signing of the treaty banning the spread of nuclear arms.

Following the talk with Kosygin and Kuznetsov, Thompson talked with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko. Diplomatic observers said the plane presumably was one topic.

No Soviet Mention

The Soviet press and radio has made no mention of Sunday's Kuriles Island incident.

The Pentagon said the Seaboard World Airways flight chartered by the military was "escorted" by Soviet MIGs to the Russian base on the island of Iturup in the Kurile chain north of Japan.

The Pentagon said the pilot of the American plane radioed that he had landed with no injuries or damages.

In Washington, the State Department was in contact with the Soviet Embassy about the incident.

The last transmission picked up from the pilot of the plane came at 7:42 p.m., Sunday, 27 minutes after it was intercepted, the Defense Department said. Details of what caused the incident were still sketchy.

An airliner with 17 Americans aboard was hijacked and the pilot, who defected to the United States eight years ago, was forced to fly the plane to Havana. Story on page 2.

"It apparently strayed off course," the Pentagon said, "and was intercepted by Soviet aircraft at 7:15 p.m., EDT and escorted to a landing . . . ."

Big Reception Committee

(The pilot of the plane gave a running radio account of his predicament until he met his "big reception committee" on the ground, another pilot said.

(Capt. Dick Rossi of Los Angeles, pilot of a Flying Tiger Airlines plane, was just ahead of the civilian airliner. He said the forced-down pilot talked his way into captivity apparently so that friendly aircraft would know his exact location.

(Rossi said he saw no American military planes in the area at the time the chartered airliner was intercepted.)

The Defense Department said there were 174 soldiers, 31 Navy men, 9 Air Force personnel and 17 crewmen aboard the Seaboard DC8 jet.

Pentagon spokesmen also said its ultimate destination was Vietnam but U.S. military spokesmen in Saigon expressed doubt it was taking the servicemen to the war zone. They said the next scheduled Seaboard plane there was due July 11.

Indications were the transport was 80 to 100 miles off course. This much variation to the north would have put it in the vicinity of the Soviet Islands.

It Was a Beach of a Day

By JEAN F. DOLAN

Blue skies and hot weather after a bleak week of rain brought out the sun seekers Saturday and Sunday.

A record crowd of 2,500 jammed Kingston Point beach Sunday as temperatures went to 94 and humidity remained high. Saturday's beach crowd numbered between 677 and 700.

The sunshine was most welcome after a solid week of rain and overcast skies which dampened spirits as well as the landscape.

More of the Same

Norwood Locke at the Kingston City Engineer's office reviewed the record rains of June which dumped a total of 7:30 inches during the 30-day period. The previous record of rainfall in June was a 6.58 accumulation in 1944. Temperatures did not reach any records during the month. Previous hottest day in June was a 103 degrees in 1950.

Today is to continue warm and humid with the mercury slated to go even higher than yesterday. Possible showers and thundershowers are due late today and tomorrow as a cold front comes through.

Crystal Ball Promising

Vacationers and holiday planners can look forward to nice weather for the long weekend, according to extended forecasts at this point. Temperatures will average about normal with a minimum of shower activity showing in the crystal ball.

The descending cold front raised havoc in the west and midwest over the weekend causing severe thunderstorms and tornadoes and dumping six inches of snow in Montana.

In the northeast however, the lazy summer should remain just that with no hint of the white stuff for at least another five months.

Free From U.S. Bombing

Food Problem May be Easing in N. Viet

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. intelligence reports indicate North Vietnam's food problems may be easing because much of the country is free from U.S. bombing.

Analysts say there is evidence that thousands of North Vietnamese civilians, mobilized during the bombings to repair roads and railroads, are returning to farming.

Intensive Farming

U.S. reconnaissance has detected intensive farming on rice lands in the Red River Delta which lay fallow during the bombing period because, analysts said, the peasants were used to keep supply routes open.

For more than a year, North Vietnam reportedly has been sustained by wheat and wheat flour shipments, mostly from the Soviet Union.

But now there are fewer food ships arriving at Haiphong and other North Vietnamese ports, the analysts said.

Cargoes observed being unloaded in North Vietnamese ports include large tonnages of fertilizer. Meanwhile, petroleum products have returned to top place, over food, in shipments landing by sea in North Vietnam.

U.S. intelligence estimates that between 150,000 and 250,000 North Vietnamese civilians have gone back to work since the current U.S. bombing limitations went into effect March 31.

Diverted by Government

Former Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara repeatedly told Congress that more than 500,000 persons had been diverted by the North Vietnamese government from farming and other jobs to maintain and repair lines of communication battered by U.S. bombs and rockets.

He cited this in an effort to show how the bombing created a burden for North Vietnam, a country which always has had a marginal food supply and only a primitive industrial system.

American intelligence officers reported some major permanent repairs to important facilities along lines of communication since President Johnson invoked the ban on U.S. bombing north of the 20th parallel.

The huge Doumer bridge, slammed repeatedly by U.S. bombers, was said to have been rebuilt and two shattered spans replaced.

Using Big Bridge

Trains are starting to use the big bridge which crosses the Red River close to Hanoi. Roadbeds on the bridge have been prepared for trucks, but have not yet been surfaced.

Meanwhile, sources said, the rail lines have been adapted with an adjustable third rail. This is so freight cars can roll along the entire route through China and North Vietnam without, as in the past, requiring transshipment of the North Vietnamese border to cars of a different gauge.

Plan Priority For Power Plant In Upstate Area

MASSENA, N.Y. (AP) — The State Power Authority is planning pumped storage projects it anticipates will be required by the members of the State Power Pool between now and 1985, Chairman James A. Fitzpatrick said today.

Fitzpatrick discussed the prospects in an address for a ceremony celebrating 10 years of power production at the St. Lawrence Power Project.

The authority is giving highest priority, Fitzpatrick said, to a plant proposed for Gilboa, about 40 miles southwest of Albany.

If surveys and sub-surface explorations indicate the site is satisfactory, prompt application will be made to the Federal Power Commission for a license to construct a 1,000-megawatt plant at Gilboa, he said.

The estimated cost is $110 million.

It would involve two reservoirs, one in the bed of the Schoharie Creek between Gilboa and North Blenheim, and a second on Brown Mountain.

Fitzpatrick said the two communities would not be disturbed and very few residents would be displaced in the construction area.

He emphasized that the proposed Gilboa facility would be in no way competitive with the Cornwall plant for which Consolidated Edison Co. is seeking a license.

Recreational facilities also are planned at Gilboa.

Submarine Costs Are Going Up

By BOB HORTON

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy has awarded identically priced contracts to two shipyards for six new nuclear attack submarines, each costing similar ones built in recent years about $7 million more than

While the prices of the contracts are the same—$107.4 million for three submarines from each company—the pacts have significantly different terms.

The Navy is at a loss to explain exactly how the identical awards came about but said the different types of contracts would be "mutually beneficial" to both the government and the shipyards.

Ingalls Shipbuilding Corp., and General Dynamics Corp., were signed to build three Sturgeon class nuclear attack submaries in two contracts announced simultaneously as the Navy wound up buying for the fiscal year ending Sunday at midnight.

Although it wasn't specified in the June 25 announcement, a spokesman said the contract to Ingalls of Pascagoula, Miss., was a "fixed price incentive" award while General Dynamics of Groton, Conn., received merely a letter contract.

This meant, he said, that Ingalls' margin of profit will be higher if it completes the three submarines for $107.4 million or less, than if it exceeds that price.

In the case of General Dynamics, however, the letter contract implies that the $107.4 million is not a fixed cost; rather, "the hope is that we can negotiate a lower price later," the spokesman said.

The reason given for the difference was only that "in the course of negotiations it was found to be mutually beneficial to both the government and the companies," he said.

The spokesman said he could not disclose the maximum margins of profits which might be possible under the awards.

The question of whether defense companies are receiving more than adequate profits from Pentagon orders has become a rather heated item in Congress in recent months.

The six subs under the total $214,833,000 program would cost slightly more than $35.8 million each.

The five previous Sturgeon class subs, of which General Dynamics built three and Ingalls built one, cost an average of $28.9 million each.

The Navy did not advertise for bids on the latest contracts. One other company—the Newport News, Va., shipyard—was considered for the work but lost out because its proposal was termed too costly.

The 3,800-ton vessels are equipped with the SUBROC (submarine rocket) which can launch a nuclear warhead from underwater to fly through the air, dive underwater again and detonate against a hostile submarine.

The 278-foot long craft also has four 21-inch torpedo tubes and glides along at 30 knots.

Seek Safe Return Of Hijacked Pilot

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The wife of Cuban-born pilot George Prellezo pleaded to visit him in a Havana jail today as Southeast Airlines prepared to retrieve its hijacked airliner.

Airline President Irvin L. Jones Jr., who said the Cuban government had promised the safe return of the plane's other occupants, told newsmen a substitute pilot would be flown to Havana today. The airliner, hijacked over the Florida Keys Saturday by one of its 15 passengers, was to be flown to Key West this afternoon.

The other crew members, identified by the airlines only as stewardess A. Kimball and copilot Dave Martin of Miami, are to be returned with the passengers and the plane.

Jones' statement included no mention of Mrs. Prellezo in plans to retrieve the plane.

"I have requested to be on that flight" to Cuba, 33-year-old Olga Prellezo said Sunday. Her husband, naturalized as a U.S. citizen last year, was accused by the Cuban government of being a deserter.

"Since they are leaving my husband there, I see no reason for him to be there alone. I want to be there to plead for him, to do any necessary thing to get him back," Mrs. Prellezo said.

"I beg and demand of the U.S. government to be allowed to travel to Cuba so I can be near my husband," she said.

Prellezo, 36, arrived in Miami June 27, 1960, as the pilot of a regularly scheduled cargo plane from Cuba, his wife said.

"He chose to stay here and that is no crime. The plane was flown back to Cuba," said Mrs. Prellezo, a Puerto Rican-born American.

The Prellezos have five children, ranging in age from 5 to 14. All are naturalized or native-born U.S. citizens.

Prellezo radioed the Federation Avation Agency at Key West Saturday that one of the passengers was holding a "gun at my head" and had ordered him to fly to Cuba.

In Havana, copilot Dave Martin said the gunman entered the cabin as the plane neared Key West.

Mrs. Prellezo, flanked by her children, told a news conference in Miami Sunday that her husband was very proud of his U.S. citizenship.

"I never thought that I would see the day I would have to feel ashamed of being an American citizen. It only gets you in trouble all over the world," she said.

The State Department, whose affairs in Havana are handled by the Swiss Embassy there, said Prellezo was assured all of the protections guaranteed any U.S. citizen.

"We've made all the official protests," said a department spokesman. "What's left to do? An invasion?"

The Southeast plane was the sixth airliner diverted to Cuba this year, and the 14th such incident in the last two years.

NEW PALTZ FATALITY—A car owned by Phillip Dipple, 19, of New Paltz is shown following crash Saturday on North Ohioville Road in the Town of New Paltz. A passenger in the auto, Michael Confer, 18, also of New Paltz died at Vassar Hospital in Poughkeepsie as a result of injuries sustained in the crash. Dipple remains in critical condition. The auto was rounding a left curve on North Ohioville Road when the driver lost control and struck a tree and stone wall. Confer was Ulster County's 22nd traffic fatality of the year.

Rash of Area Weekend Accidents

By JON POWERS

Ulster County recorded its 22nd highway fatality of the year on Saturday when Michael Confer, 18, of R.D. 2, New Paltz, died as a result of injuries sustained in a one-car crash on North Ohioville Road in the Town of New Paltz.

A rash of county highway accidents over the weekend left several persons in serious or critical condition in area hospitals; a Syracuse man narrowly escaped injury when his single-engine plane crashed in Greene County and a one-car accident in the Sullivan County community of Monticello claimed the life of a 37-year-old man.

At 12:20 a. m. Saturday, Confer and 19-year-old Phillip Carl Dipple, both of New Paltz, were traveling south on North Ohioville Road when their auto lost control rounding a sharp left curve. The auto went off the right side of the road and struck a tree stump and a stone wall. Both youths were rushed to Vassar Brothers Hospital in Poughkeepsie, where Confer died at 11:10 a. m. on Saturday. Dipple remains in critical condition as a result of shock and internal injuries.

Stuart Caufman, 37, of Monticello, was pronounced dead at the scene when his car went out of control on Route 17 and struck a guard rail on the side of the road. Caufman was reportedly ejected from the car.

Ronald P. Larkey, 34, of Syracuse escaped injury when his single engine Cessna plane crashed into a tree near the Greene County community of Prattsville at 6:30 p. m. on Sunday.

Police said that Lackey, who was flying alone, attempted to land his plane on a dirt road when he discovered he was low on fuel. When he tried to pull up after the landing attempt, the plane lost power and crashed. The incident was investigated by Leeds troopers.

In other area accidents on Route 32 in Saugerties; a Brooklyn man is in serious condition at Kingston Hospital following a one car crash near mile post 81 on the thruway, and a Kingston man was injured slightly in a crash on route 9W in the Town of Lloyd.

At 7 p. m. Saturday, near the intersections of Routes 32 and 32A in Saugerties an auto driven by George Mayer, 67, of 324 Leona Avenue, Bogota was traveling south on Route 32 when it struck a car driven by Glen Thorne, 17, of Malden-on-the-Hudson traveling north. Thorne suffered lacerations of the head and was taken to Kingston Hospital by Saugerties Ambulance. A passenger in the Mayer vehicle was treated for minor injuries at Kingston Hospital and released. Mayer was issued a summons for failure to yield the right of way at a stop sign.

On Sunday afternoon, James Jackson, 71, of 239 Catherine Street Kingston was attempting a left turn off Route 32 in Saugerties when a motorcycle driven by 20 year old Stephen Sher, of 56 Laurel Avenue, Clifton, New Jersey attempted to pass the Jackson vehicle. The two collided, and Sher was thrown from his motorcycle. He was taken to Benedictine Hospital and treated for abrasions and contusions of the body. Jackson was not injured.

A two-car accident on Route 9W in the Town of Lloyd resulted in minor injuries to two men on Saturday morning. Richard Hogan, 25, of Colonial Gardens, Kingston suffered lacerations of the face when he swerved to avoid a car stopped on the highway and struck an auto driven by Robert Glitt, 27, of the Bronx. Glitt suffered lacerations of the elbow, but did not require hospitalization. He was issued a summons for failure to yield the right of way.

Two accidents were also reported on the Ulster County section of the Thruway. On Sunday morning two persons, Romona Atkins and Louis Smith, both of Brooklyn, were involved in a one-car accident south of milepost 81 south of Kingston. Smith is reported to be in serious condition at Kingston Hospital and Atkins' condition is rated as satisfactory. Details of the accident were not available.

Thruway Accident

A two-car accident was reported on Sunday near milepost 101, south of the Saugerties interchange. Rofina Ariganello and her husband, Octavio, of Toronto, Canada, were taken to Beneditine Hospital and later released. Passengers in the second car were not identified.

Dutchess County troopers reported two minor mishaps over the weekend. At 11:40 p. m. on Saturday an auto driven by Thomas O'Keefe, 27, of Hyde Park struck the rear of an auto operated by Wesley D. Carson Jr., of Stattsburg, on Route 9 in Hyde Park. O'Keefe was arrested on charges of driving while intoxicated and will appear before County Judge Mangold tomorrow. Neither man was injured.

At 11:10 Sunday evening, an auto driven by William Pitcher, 45, of Tivoli, was traveling east on Route 402 in the Town of Red Hook when he drove off the side of the road and struck a utility pole. Pitcher was arrested on charges of driving while intoxicated and was held in lieu of $250 bail. He was not injured.

Rhinebeck Celebrates Its 282nd Anniversary

Several thousand persons watched 500 volunteer firemen from all over New England take part in an antique hand pumping competition at the Dutchess County Fairgrounds Saturday. First place winner in class one of the New England States Veteran League Muster was Gardner No. 4 of West Newbury, Mass., throwing water 179 feet 8½ inches into the air.

The firemen's competition was only one of the many colorful events to take place in Rhinebeck this weekend as the town celebrated its 282nd birthday.

Local volunteers from Rhinebeck did not participate because their pumper, the Pocohontas, is under repair. A hand tub, it was made in 1859. Rhinebeck is the only New York member of the New England group.

Brisk winds played havoc with the water and at times spectators were dowsed with the spray as firemen aimed their strong streams of water at a target. The company able to spew water the farthest was the winner. Judges made the determinations by measuring drops landing on white paper markers.

The first place winner in class two was "Hancock" of Ashburnham, Mass., with a distance of 156 feet, 3½ inches.

Fireman Injured

The actual pumping operation, sometimes a dangerous one, resulted in injury to one fireman who was taken to Northern Dutchess Hospital. He unintentionally released his hold on the pumping brake and was knocked reeling when the brake struck him in the forehead. He was not seriously injured.

In addition to the exertion needed to pump the water, the contest offers its most dangerous moment if the "dome" blows due to pressure behind it. Veterans recalled the death of one of their number when struck by a bursting dome.

The "domes" are very heavy metal containers where water pressure is developed. They blow off when pressure exceeds the capacity of the equipment.

This may occur when firemen strain at handbrakes to build up enough pressure to outdistance their opponents.

Parade Is Held

A parade preceded the pumper contest Saturday and a number of drum crops were on review including the Kip Hose Drum and Fife Corps of Poughkeepsie, the Continentals from Newburgh and the Dutch Arms Drum and Fife Corps of Rhinebeck.

On Sunday, activities began with the decorating of graves of Revolutionary War soldiers located in a cemetery known as God's Acres, adjoining the Old Dutch Church.

Included in the tour were the Beekman Arms, the oldest continuing operating hotel in America and the Dutch Reformed Church in Rhinebeck, founded in 1730 by the Holland dutch.

Also, the Starr Institute, founded by Mrs. Mary R. Miller, grandaughter of General Philip Schuyler, in memory of her husband William Starr Miller, representative to Congress from New York, 1845-47.

Foster's Coach House Tavern, the site of the home of Capt. Cyrus DeWart, Revolutionary War drill master, who trained recruits on the lawn of the Beekman Arms.

Robert Marvin Law office, originally the law office of Congressman Ambrose Wager. Later it became the Temperance Hall at which local followers of Carrie Nation met. More recently it was the law office of the late Harry Hill Jr. who was a representative of the United States at the Nurenburg trials.

Reenactment of Scene

Later in the day, the Junior Historical Society showed slides of further points of interest in the area and a reenactment of the scene that inspired the writing of the Star Spangled Banner was produced at Legion Park in the evening.

Displays of historical interest were placed in store windows and historical markers dotted significant places throughout the village.

Broke on Boom Economy

The new surtax and saving bill will put a brake on the booming economy, government and private economists believe. Once the bill is in effect, the outlook will depend in some degree on whether and when the Federal Reserve Board eases its tight monetary policy. Assuming the easing of monetary policy, here are some expectations:

Jobs: Unemployment will rise to four per cent, and perhaps 4.5 per cent of the labor force by the first quarter of next year, compared to 3.5 per cent now.

Prices: Inflation will not cease quickly. But the rate of increase in the price level, now four per cent a year, should drop by the end of this year.

Interest rates: The outlook is for little, if any, easing of current high interest rates for the rest of this year. There is much more probability now that funds will be available because there is far less danger of funds flowing out of thrift institutions, the main mortgage lenders, in search of higher interest rates.

Money market rates: A decline in the money market rate is expected, with different assessments of how much and how soon.

For personal borrowers: Little change in rates is expected, with different assessments of how much and how soon.

For personal borrowers: Little change in rates is expected for personal borrowers. But again there is much less fear that money might not be available at any price.

Balance of payments: A slowdown in the economy should produce an even greater slowdown in the recent rapid rise in imports. The benefit to the balance of trade, and therefore to the balance of payments, should range between $500 million and $1 billion. Travel and overseas expenditures would not be affected.

Overall, the slowdown in the boom should be beneficial, even though it drops to one per cent from the growth average of five per cent of recent years. It is better than a major depression at home and abroad, which was feared without the surtax and spending cut.

End of a Dream?

Resurrection City has died without a bang and not even much of a whimper.

Police slogging through the muck of the dispirited encampment in Washington's West Potomac Park put an end to the symbol of a dream that began in May with high hopes and a vow to awaken the conscience of the nation.

It had been mostly downhill since then. Instead of stirring the nation's conscience, the movement encountered increasing difficulties with its own. Just as the plywood city became polluted by filth and indiscipline, so did the cause become contaminated by dissension, indecision and irresponsibility.

The inability or unwillingness of its leaders to control militant and hoodlum elements in the ranks rubbed Congress and the public the wrong way.

Martin Luther King, in conceiving the Poor People's March, had called for dignity and purpose. His successors largely conducted it in confusion, squalor and demagoguery.

But although the record on this evidence is sorry and the campaign fell far short of declared goals, it has not been totally without effect. Wheels have been set in motion, however slowly, in Congress and the administration that could lead to new and more rationally conceived programs to deal with the chronic poverty of a minority that shames the increasing affluence of the majority.

The intent was to draw attention to the existence and plight of the poor, and that the Poor People's March has done, no matter how irritating and unpolitic the methods. The haves have been made forcefully aware of the have-nots in this country of economic extremes.

7¼% Mortgage Loan

The prevailing rate of interest on conventional home mortgages throughout the United States is the criterion fixed by law for the New York Banking Board's authority to determine interest rates on mortgage loans. By announcing a rate of 7¼ per cent effective July 1, the board confirms, in effect, that the national rate is now at that figure.

When the New York rate goes to 7¼ per cent, it will replace the six per cent ceiling that had been in force for 88 years, since 1880.

In the past, loan institutions added "points"—a lump sum payment when the loan was made—to the charge for the mortgage. Under the new law, any points will be included in calculating the interest cost. There is also the possibility that the maximum will not be charged. The rate is a ceiling and the ceiling may be breached, depending on circumstances.

A major result will be to make mortgages available to home buyers. Mortgage money at 7¼ per cent is made competitive with other loan rates.

Reforms Long Overdue For Court Appointment

WASHINGTON — Weaknesses in government are sometimes not fully exposed until glaring cases arise. Oddly enough, the Constitution of the United States does not provide a method whereby the people can actually have a direct voice in choosing the nine men who comprise the Supreme Court of the United States. It is more than ever necessary, therefore, in view of recent developments, that a constitutional amendment be adopted which will set forth clearly the qualifications of those individuals who may be selected to sit on the Supreme Court and perform the all-important task of interpreting the Constitution.

Today a president can appoint a political crony or a lawyer with little professional experience and ignore the many able and highly qualified judges who have served their country and are worthy of promotion. One way to cure this defect is to adopt a new amendment to the Constitution, which might read somewhat as follows:

"No person shall be eligible for appointment to the Supreme Court of the United States who has not served at least five years either in the federal or state judiciary.

"Any person nominated for the position of an associate justice or chief justice shall be confirmed only by a two-thirds vote of the Senate.

"No justice of the Supreme Court of the United States shall be eligible to serve after the age of 75. While a member of the Supreme Court, he shall not participate directly or indirectly in any political or governmental operations, including advisory or personal activities, and shall refrain from public comment on issues which are currently involved in cases pending before the courts.

"No person who has been engaged in raising funds for any political party or candidate during a period of at least five years prior to his nomination shall be eligible for an appointment to the bench.

"Before the Senate Judiciary Committee acts upon any nomination submitted by the President for an associate justice or chief justice, full public hearings shall be held at which the previous record of the nominee, whether in the federal or state judiciary, shall be subjected to thorough examination."

These reforms have long been overdue. The fact that a vast number of decisions have been rendered by 5-to-4 majorities is in itself an indication of how far apart many of the justices are in their interpretation of the principles of the Constitution. Likewise, too often the opinions of Supreme Court justices have read like political speeches or treatises on sociological subjects. The high court's opinions have not always adhered to the basic rules of law which have for centuries guided English-speaking peoples. For many years, there have been appointments of judges with conscientious points of view but with prejudices based upon their long-time affiliation with one side or the other of highly controversial questions.

Again and again, federal judicial appointments have been handled as political patronage. Judges for the lower courts have really been sometimes picked through the pressures of members of Congress. Many of the judges, of course, are well-qualified, but frequently they are politically-minded persons whose training actually doesn't qualify them to sit in judgment upon the many important cases that come before the federal courts.

The Constitution speaks of the "Supreme Court" of the United States. This means that the people expect not merely dispassionate and impartial judgments but an adherence to the basic principles of the American Constitution. The founding fathers intended the document to be applied impartially and without regard to the benefits that can be bestowed by various decisions which vitally affect one or the other of the parties to the dispute.

What kind of man really makes a good judge? Certainly a lawyer with a distinctly partisan mind is not as well qualified as another person who, however deep may be his prejudices, knows in all honesty how to be impartial and fair.

Too many justices who have sat on the Supreme Court have been ill-equipped to interpret the Constitution, yet they have had the deciding voice in many a 5-to-4 decision. The time has come for appointments to the highest court of the United States to be completely detached from the ruses and chicanery of American politics.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

No one ever smiles at an airport. The clerks are overworked and harassed. The passengers buck long lines for the privilege of waiting. The operations departments, trying to make a profit on a $6,000,000 investment, make the schedules so tight that the aircraft is barely on the ground before it is swept, dusted, packed with people, and sent winging to a distant city.

My quarrel is not with the airlines. Nor with the rich pilots. The system is obsolete. A flight from Chicago to New York may require 90 minutes. It seems arbitrary and unreasonable to ask the passenger to check into O'Hare 45 minutes before flight time, and wait 15 additional minutes for his luggage at Kennedy. The percentages are exorbitant.

Last year I logged about 53,000 miles of flight. Twenty-three thousand were in a trip around the world. The others were New York to Miami; Miami to Los Angeles; New York to Denver, etc. Jet travel is the fastest, safest, most serene form of travel devised by man. The equipment and the personnel combine to form a dream-like perfection.

The de luxe dinners are a joke. I would prefer to have one fresh sandwich and a cup of coffee than all the spuriously French choices of Cornish hen, roast beef au jus, filet mignon and duck a l'orange, served on a plastic bird cage floor mat with congealed gravy and tiny wells for cold potatoes and beans.

Dinners are served best on overseas flights, and these too are third rate. The seat belt sign harkly blends with the soup. The so-called catering by famous chefs is made ridiculous by the speed with which the stewardesses must serve 150 passengers. From the takeoff onward, four of them chase each other up and down the aisles fighting the clock.

Eliminate the dinners. Give us something solid, like a good sandwich, and coffee or tea, to hold us for an hour or two. Psychologically, the seat belts are bad for business. They can be built into the armrests of each seat, and folded inward on rachets for the comfort and protection of the passenger. They should be kept in place from the moment of seating until the plane stops at the terminal. Clear air turbulence is still not predictable.

The No Smoking sign is a farce. Passengers should be permitted to smoke from the moment of boarding to the time of landing. There is no provable danger from JP-4 or any other jet fuel inside the aircraft. If there is a risk, it is better to have someone light a cigarette while the plane is on the ground, and have it blow up at that time, than wait until it is airborne.

The two government agencies, the Civil Aeronautics Board and the Federal Aviation Agency, are crushed under the weight of expanding traffic and complex regulations. They do the best they can, and it is not good enough. The President should appoint an Aviation Commission to study the characteristics of flight and make proper recommendations to Congress for the handling of ever-increasing traffic.

Both agencies work in fear. CAB, for example, will spend two years reassembling a plane that crashed over a six mile area, merely to learn that the captain of that aircraft should not have headed into a local squall full of cells on takeoff. They spend a fortune just to call it "pilot error." If this is so, then FAA should supervise the routings of all flight captains, exercising the right to veto flight plans that have an element of danger. The dead will not applaud two years later.

The designs of the airports themselves are great if you are an airplane. They are walkathons if you are people. The passengers check in, wait for tickets to be written, get luggage weighed, wander around looking for a gate number, flog their feet a quarter of a mile, wait like cattle in a corral, show the ticket again to a clerk behind a desk, walk to a plane, climb in, show the ticket again to a stewardess, and collapse in the wrong seat.

The flight itself is a rest for what is coming when you land. You crowd toward the rear just in time to hear a voice say: "We are deplaning from the front only today." Then there is that long walk, that long wait for luggage, and that long face.

The Wright Brothers would have busted out laughing...

Anti-Violence Drive Favored By TV Audience and Industry

WASHINGTON — In response to our columns on TV violence, thousands of advertisers, broadcasters and viewers have written or phoned us that they wish to join in the campaign to eliminate bloodshed from the home screen. Here are the heartening developments:

1. An outpouring of mail has come from parents who have resolved to turn off TV programs that feature violence, and to boycott the products of companies that sponsor TV violence. Some parents have told us that they also intend to stop buying toy guns and other weapons for their children.

2. A group of advertising men, calling themselves Advertising Men for the De-escalation of Violence on TV, has formed on Madison Avenue. Its members agree to urge to stop sponsoring violence on TV.

3. Levi Strauss and Co., makers of slacks, shirts and jackets, has dropped its sponsorship of violent programs. After we identified the company as sponsor of one of the worst shows on television, C. M. Robinson, Jr., the advertising manager, wrote us: "We were tempted to strongly disavow any responsibility for programming which is really controlled by the networks....As I said, this was our first reaction. We are now convinced that you are right and that it is our responsibility to consider program content."

4. Network officials, producers and writers have been reappraising their programs. CBS has taken the lead in editing excessive violence out of future scripts. The other two networks also have rewritten and refilmed some violent episodes.

5. Sen. Tom Dodd, D-Conn., has revived his investigation into TV violence. Six years ago, he suppressed evidence that would have embarrassed his friends on the TV networks, particularly NBC. We happen to have copies of the documents he suppressed, which we promise to publish if he tries again to throttle the investigation.

6. Several newspapers have joined in the outcry against TV brutality and bloodshed. Editorials from coast to coast have called for a cleanup of the TV screen.

Power of the Public

The most effective way for the public to get better television, however, is to stop patronizing the sponsors of TV violence. At our request, the National Association for Better Broadcasting has listed the 10 TV shows their experts consider "most detrimental" for children.

Their list of the 10 worst shows on TV includes (1) The Avengers, ABC; (2) Felony Squad, ABC; (3) Guns of Will Sonnett, ABC; (4) Cimarron Strip, CBS; (5) Man from U.N.C.L.E., Syndicated; (6) Batman, ABC; (7) Wild, Wild West, CBS; (8) The Saint, NBC; (9) Rat Patrol, ABC; and (10) Voyage to the Bottom of the Sea, ABC.

"All 10 of the programs are excessively violent and graphically illustrate terror, horror, brutality and sadism," Frank Orme, the NABB's executive vice president, reported to us. "All 10 are televised during time periods when the sets are readily accessible to almost all children."

Orme also condemned what he called "the Saturday morning ghetto of animated horror." The worst of these cartoon shows, he said, are Super President, Superman, Birdman, Herculoid, Super Six, Mighty Mightor, Space Ghost and Samson and Goliath.

Parents can check for themselves when companies sponsor these kill-for-thrill programs. However, we have gone through the sponsor lists and picked out the companies which have spent the most money on TV violence.

We found more Polaroid Camera commercials than any others on the programs condemned by the Better Broadcasting Group. Polaroid spent $9,377,000 for TV advertising last year, but it was impossible to break down exactly how much went to pay for TV violence.

Next on the list was Beecham Products, manufacturers of MacCleans Toothpaste, Brylcream and Kellog's Tasteless Castor Oil. Beecham spent $8,669,700 on TV commercials last year. Our survey showed that the American Tobacco Company, which lavished $45,869,700 on TV advertising in 1967, also spent a large portion on violence shows. American Tobacco produces Lucky Strike, Pall Mall, Tareyton, Carlton and Montclair cigarets.

Other companies which seemed to favor violent programs were Warner-Lambert, producer of Dubarry cosmetics and Listerine, which shelled out $42,515,900 for TV commercials last year; Mars, Inc., makers of Three Musketeers, Mars Bars, Milky Way, Snickers, M and M, Forever Yours and Starburst candies, which spent $11,658,500; and Shell Oil, which had a $19,349,500 TV budget.

Even the Bell Telephone Company, which has won acclaim for its high-quality Bell Telephone Hour, has also sponsored more than its share of TV violence.

It is up to the public now to demonstrate that TV violence doesn't pay.

Poetic Briton

There was so much rejoicing at the United Nations over the success of the joint Soviet-American effort to push through a nuclear non-proliferation pact that the British delegate, Lord Caradon, sat down and wrote a poem.

He was most lavish in praising V.V. Kuznetsov, the Soviet deputy foreign minister, who flew to the UN from Moscow to help rescue the treaty. Wrote Lord Caradon:

"He comes like a dove from the communist ark.

And light appears where all was dark.

His coming quickly turns the tide:

The propaganda flood subside.

And now that he has changed the weather,

Lion and lamb can vote together.

God bless the Russian delegation—

I waive consecutive translation."

Fortas and Thornberry

When Chief Justice Earl Warren submitted his resignation to President Johnson, he was asked by the President whom he would recommend to take his place. The answer was "Abe Fortas."

The Chief Justice based this recommendation partly on age — Fortas is 58, which would give him 12 to 15 active years to guide the court — partly on executive ability. The work of the Chief Justice, as Warren has seen it and has so effectively carried it out, is partly that of an administrator. Under the Constitution, the Chief Justice is charged, among other duties, with administering the judicial system of the United States, and for this he is paid the magnificent sum of $500 per year.

But also he must be the administrator — and a tactful one — of the eight other, sometimes differing, Justices of the Supreme Court. The manner in which the Chief Justice assigns the writing of opinions, and the manner in which he gets unanimity or fails to get it, can influence history.

For instance, Warren very carefully and tactfully waited until he could get the entire court to go along with him in the famous 1954 school desegregation decree. Justice Robert Jackson was the most difficult member of the court on this issue. He was the last hold-out. Justice Stanley Reed, of Kentucky, was also reluctant. Finally, after winning over Reed, Warren went to see Jackson, then in the hospital, with the final draft of the decision. Jackson had been wavering but during that hospital visit he okayed the text which made the court unanimous.

Fortas, as his successor, Warren told the President, would have the ability to affect and influence harmony on the court.

Fortas's Closest Friends

Three men have played a dominant role in the life of the new Chief Justice. One of these, Harold Ickes, his old chief in the Interior Department, is dead. The other two are William O. Douglas and Lyndon B. Johnson.

Fortas was a law student at Yale when Douglas was a member of its law school faculty. When Douglas came to Washington as a member of the Securities and Exchange Commission staff and later a commissioner, Fortas came with him. He was Douglas's understudy.

Douglas was close to Harold Ickes, who served as Secretary of the Interior longer and more vigorously than any man in history; and he recommended Fortas to Ickes as an up-and-coming young man who could help him in his battle with the big power companies.

It was while Fortas was handling reclamation and power projects in the Public Works Administration that a gangling young Congressman from Texas walked in to get a dam built for three Texas counties on the Little Colorado River. Thus began the friendship between Abe Fortas and Lyndon B. Johnson, culminating in Abe's appointment to head the Supreme Court of the United States.

It was Fortas who did some fast and effective footwork when Johnson squeaked through by 87 votes in his Senate race over Gov. Coke Stevenson. There was a flap about some of the ballot boxes and Stevenson talked about a recount. Fortas advised getting a quick ruling from Justice Hugo Black. Black, who had jurisdiction over the judiciary of the Southwest, came through with a favorable ruling which made Lyndon Johnson Senator from Texas. Probably it was the most crucial event in Johnson's career which later took him to the White House.

Just after Johnson squeaked through in his Senate victory, he met Homer Thornberry, who had run for Congress to fill Johnson's vacant Congressional seat. Thornberry had won the primary by 37 votes and asked Johnson what his margin was.

Lyndon was on his way to his radio station in Austin, and announced that Thornberry had described his margin as a landslide. Thereafter in Texas the new Senator was nicknamed "Landslide Lyndon."

Abe Fortas went on to become Under Secretary of the Interior under Harold Ickes. His friend and former teacher, Douglas, went on to become Associate Justice on the Supreme Court.

Later, when Lyndon Johnson became President, his first appointment to the court was his old friend Fortas, who then joined his old teacher, Douglas. Today, with Fortas's elevation to Chief Justice, the onetime student for the first time becomes senior to his onetime teacher.

During the years, Fortas has remained intimate with his two friends, Douglas and Johnson. He is a little sensitive regarding the latter friendship, because as a member of the court he is supposed to observe the strict separation of the judiciary from the executive provided by the Constitution. Yet he has been a frequent adviser to his old friend, now President, Johnson has consulted him on a wide range of problems, from the appointment of U.S. Attorney David Bress to be a judge in the District of Columbia, to escalation of the war in Vietnam.

Fortas is extremely touchy about published reports of this advice, and has claimed such reports were libelous.

This points to one of the chief questions on which Fortas differs with the man whom he replaces. Earl Warren had pioneered the New York Times vs. Sullivan decision exemption public officials from protection of the libel laws in most cases Fortas has fumed over this privately and has issued one ringing dissent publicly. He gives promise of being a sensitive Chief Justice when it comes to public criticism.

Generally, Fortas will be a more conservative jurist than the man whom he replaces. He will also be more political. He will tend to adhere to the diagnosis of the famed Mr. Dooley that "the Supreme Court follows the election returns."

On the question of constitutional freedoms, however, Fortas will be just as strong as the Chief Justice. His law firm of Arnold, Fortas and Porter is the only one in Washington which had the courage to defend victims of the late Sen. Joseph McCarthy during the period when government officials were being terrorized by the McCarthy witch hunt. Their law firm undertook the defense of Dr. Owen Lattimore of Johns Hopkins when McCarthy branded him as a communist and, after weeks and months of battling, finally won out.

The Arnold, Fortas and Porter law firm also defended the most famous case of a government civil servant accused by McCarthy, namely Dorothy Bailey.

In both cases they worked without fee, at tremendous cost to themselves and their staff and despite some criticism from the firm's blue ribbon clients on Wall Street.

Among these blue ribbon clients have been corporations prosecuted by the Justice Department for antitrust violations. However, Fortas in his decisions on the court so far has been a vigorous upholder of antitrust laws.

Crook's Nemesis

Homer Thornberry, now elevated to the Supreme Court, will be the second Texan in history to serve on the court. President Johnson emphasized this to some of the Senate leaders from the South whom he consulted before making the Fortas-Thornberry appointments.

Tom Clark, father of Attorney General Ramsey Clark, was the only other Texan ever to serve on the Supreme Court. President Johnson pointed out to some of the Southern Senators that since Clark had bowed out in favor of the first Negro ever appointed to the Supreme Court, Thurgood Marshall, Texas was now due the current vacancy.

Johnson first got to know Thornberry when the latter was a crusading young attorney in Austin, where, as the President has said, "he drove all the crooks out of town."

The President quotes the late Speaker Sam Rayburn as describing Thornberry as "the ablest member of Congress he knew." And since Rayburn also thought very highly of the young Texan who now serves as President of the United States, this was a real compliment.

As a member of the Rules Committee Thornberry was a staunch upholder of the New Deal and a battler for liberal legislation. He left an important hole on the Rules Committee which Lyndon Johnson worried about when President Kennedy appointed Thornberry as U. S. District Judge in Austin.

In Terms of Political Affiliation

Political Events of Last 6 Months Have Not Brought Gains for GOP

By GEORGE GALLUP

PRINCETON, N. J., June 29—Political events of the last six months and the sharp criticism of Administration policies have not brought gains for the Republican party in terms of political affiliation.

The GOP is still very much the minority party in American politics today, as evidenced by the latest measurement of political affiliation, based on a total of 9,136 interviews throughout the nation.

This shows 27 per cent of all adults classifying themselves as Republicans, 46 per cent as Democrats and 27 per cent as Independents. The figures for the previous report in October showed the GOP at the same strength, but the Democratic party with slightly less appeal than today 42 per cent. Thirty-one per cent of adults were classified as Independents in the earlier report.

Dilemma of GOP Candidate

The dilemma facing a GOP presidential candidate is apparent in these findings. In order of win, a Republican not only has to keep his own party adherents in line, but he was make deep inroads into the ranks of Independents and at the same time appeal to as many Democrats as possible. Reliance strictly on party followers can by politically suicidal, as Barry Goldwater discovered in 1964.

Minority Party for 3 Decades

The GOP has had minority party status for nearly three decades. Twenty-eight years ago, in 1940, the Republican and Democratic partes were nearly equal in numerical strength, 38 per cent to 42 per cent respectively, with another 20 per cent of the adult population classified as Independents.

The next 24 years, from 1940 to 1964, marked a long-term decline for the GOP, while the Democratic party made corresponding gains.

The proportion of Independents changed comparatively little over this period.

Independents, is should be pointed out, are the in-between group. When Democrats or Republicans become disenchanted with their own parties or candidates, they tend to move first into the ranks of Independents before going to the other side.

The following question was asked to determine party affiliation:

"In politics, as of today, do you consider yourself a Republican, Democrat, or Independent?"

Following is the 28-year trend (th proportion who did not classify themselves—2 per cent in the latest measurement—has been excluded in each set of figures):

Trend: 1940-1968

	Rep. %	Dem. %	Ind. %
Latest	27	46	27
Oct. '67	27	42	31
Feb. '67	27	46	27
1966	27	48	25
1965	27	50	23
1960	30	47	23
1940	38	42	20

Advantage With One Group

The GOP has greater appeal than the Democratic party with only one group, those with a college background.

The Democratic party has a tremendous advantage among the non-white segment of the population—it is preferred by about 11-to-1 over the GOP.

An encouraging note for the GOP is the high proportion of uncommitted persons in the young adult group who, with the right appeals, could be lured into the Republican ranks in the future.

Memoriam

In loving memory of my husband and our dad Leo T. Arace who passed away five years ago today July 1, 1963.
He had a nature you could not help loving,
And a heart that was purer than gold,
And to those who knew him and loved him,
His memory will never grow cold.
LOVING WIFE, CHILDREN AND GRANDCHILDREN

Memoriam

In loving memory of my brother, Clarence Lee, who passed away four years ago June 29, 1964.
His life was earnest, his actions kind,
A generous hand and an active mind,
Anxious to please, loath to offend,
A loving brother and faithful friend.

Dutchess Man Named

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Charles J. McEvoy of Dansville is the new president of the New York State Exchange Clubs.

Also elected at the service group's annual meeting Saturday were Gerald Wardell of Martin Schreck of Poughkeepsie, secretary, and Leo Block of Tonawanda, treasurer.

Man Uninjured Faces Violations

A 21-year-old Saugerties man severely damaged his 1968 convertible but escaped uninjured early today when he lost control of the vehicle on Route 212 near Woodstock and rammed into a tree. He faces two traffic violations.

Richard N. Fellows of Route 2, Saugerties was issued summonses by Sheriff's Deputy Donald Van Aken for failure to keep right and speed not reasonable and prudent. He must appear Wednesday before Town of Woodstock Joseph Forno.

Deputy Van Aken said Fellows was proceeding east on Route 212 toward Saugerties when he lost control near Chestnut Hill Road, skidded on the pavement, spun around on the highway with the rear of the vehicle hitting a tree.

Auxiliary Police Meet

Members of Kingston-Ulster Auxiliary Police are holding a special meeting tonight at 8 o'clock at the Moose Hall, 82 Prince Street. All members are urged to attend as final plans will be made for the July 4 parade in Saugerties. All are asked to wear uniforms.

CHECK FOR CP FUND — Oscar Lawatsch, left, a member of the United Cerebral Palsy of Ulster County receives $235 check from Joseph Sills, president of the Union Center Civic Group. On hand for the presentation were Mrs. Robert G. Berger and Mrs. Gottfried Berger of the civic group which raised the donation at a penny social for the third annual Hilda Hopkins Memorial Fund Drive. Other members of the fund raising committee were Mrs. Donald Dawson and Otto Thoden. The donation will benefit the local treatment center for handicapped children. (Freeman photo by Kruh).

SEC in Rare, Open Hearing On Buying, Selling Stocks

By JOSEPH R. COYNE

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Securities and Exchange Commission, in one of its rare open hearings, is investigating the cost of buying and selling stocks in the United States.

In a series of hearings opening today, the SEC expects to question staff experts from the New York Stock Exchange on the minimum fee structure under which the major exchanges set the cost of buying and selling stock.

The SEC w,hich has held public hearings only once or twice over the last 20 years, also will check into the practice of fee splitting among major brokerage houses.

Just last week, in an apparent attempt to strengthen their planned defense of minimum commissions, the New York and American exchanges voted to eliminate fee splitting and grant a discount on fees for large transactions.

The SEC said the initial phase of its hearings will run through July and will be devoted to gathering facts on minimum rates.

In August, the SEC will turn its attention to economic and legal aspects.

Included in the first phase will be an examination into who pays the fees and commissions, how they are computed and how they are distributed and shared.

The Justice Department has challenged the entire system of minimum fees and contends they should be set by competition. If anything, a maximum fee is needed to protect investors from excessive costs, the Justice Department maintains.

In scheduling the hearings, the SEC opened the entire minimum rate schedule for scrutiny and suggested an interim reduction of fees by the New York exchange to take effect Sept. 15.

As an option the exchange could eliminate minimum fees on transactions exceeding $50,000 and open the way for cuts through negotiation between the parties.

Other national exchanges were asked to consider cuts but no deadline or specific proposals were made by the SEC. Normally, the New York exchange sets the pace for the industry.

The interim schedule proposed by the commission could result in substantial savings to investors, especially on large orders.

On a 5,000-share purchase of a $30 stock, for example, the present fee is $1,700. It would be $914 under the commission's schedule, a savings of $786.

Honor Brown At Testimonial

Arthur H. Brown, long time law enforcement officer with the Sheriff's Office and the district attorney was honored at a testimonial dinner Saturday night at the Sky Top Restaurant by friends, members of his family and members of the DA's staff.

Brown, known as the DA's man completed 43 years of public service this week. His retirement became effective July 1. Brown was most recently county investigator for the District Attorney's Office and prior to that held a similar position with the Sheriff's Office.

Every law enforcement agency in the county was represented at the dinner. District Attorney Joseph Torraca served as toastmaster.

Former Kingston Police Chief Robert F. Murphy spoke briefly about the days when Brown and he were both rookie police officers in their respective departments.

Assistant District Attorney Albert Lonstein and County Investigator Thomas F. Mayone were in charge of arrangements.

Patterns: Major Opportunity

State-Wide Hearing on Transit Plan

F. Roy Madgwick, associate director of Mid-Hudson Pattern for Progress, said at hearings June 26 in Albany that the state now has a major opportunity to use transportation facilities for consciously structuring urban development.

"The question today," he said, "is not so much, 'What transportation bottlenecks need our immediate attention,"as it is 'How can transportation facilities be used to achieve the economic, social and environmental objectives of the various regional communities of the state?'"

The hearings were called by New York State Transportation Commissioner J. Burch McMorran to hear testimony relative to the development of a state-wide master plan for transportation, which must be submitted to Governoror Rockefeller by Sept. 1.

The Department of Transportation was created last year as part of a new overall program which included the $2.5 billion transportation bond issue approved by voters in November.

Pattern, a seven-county citizens' regional planning, research and development organization, supported the bond issue locally, and also issued a reconnaissance report on how these funds could be used to strengthen the region's transportation system.

"The master plan," Madgwick said, "offers us an opportunity to guide or redirect the course of development in accordance with state and community goals."

He continued:

"Transportation facilities can be used to consciously create regional urban centers or satellite cities, which will respond to a number of community values. Among them: the desire to curb urban sprawl and preserve open space, to revitalize the downtowns of our older cities, to break up slum densities, and to provide more jobs for the disadvantaged which they can reach more easily.

"The plan also offers us an opportunity to avoid many of the problems caused by unplanned growth: disruptions of city neighborhoods, or the damaging of scenic and historic areas by new highway construction responding to current needs.

"And we can avoid the rapid obsolescence of the highways themselves by more appropriate design, by greater control of adjacent land uses and by providing for needed future rights-of-way."

Urges Tie-in

Madgwick supported the Department's integrated approach to planning for all modes of transportation, and urged that it be related to other planning efforts: city and social planning, utilities, water and sewage, and recreation. He also indicated that such an approach would be instrumental in solving many of the problems associated with the time lag between highway design and actual construction completion.

Recommendations

Madgwick recommended that the Department give its immediate attention to:

— Improvements to the U. S. 9 expressway into Putnam and Dutchess Counties; the West Dutchess Highway; eastwest Routes 44 and 55 on both sides of the river, and Route 209 in Ulster County, including upgrading to expressway standards from Kingston to Port Jervis.

— Launching a study of the development shaping implications of a high-speed rail line between New York City and Buffalo with several transportation centers in the Mid Hudson, in addition to those already proposed for Beacon and Goshen by the Metropolitan Transportation Authority.

— Reevaluating current policy of the New York State Thruway Authority on the spacing of interchanges. If properly planned, additional interchanges would not only solve existing access problems but also promote various aspects of economic, social and recreational development.

— Establishing joint planning with counties in the Interstate Route 84 corridor the control of development at intersecting highways and interchanges, and for upgrading of feeder roads.

— setting up a fund to purchase needed highway rights - of - way well in advance of development. Counties also should be encouraged to adopt official maps designating county roads slated for future improvements.

— Purchasing sufficient land to prevent approaches and exits at expressway interchanges from being clogged by gasoline stations, motels and other roadside development.

New laws and regulations, plus joint efforts in highway and land use planning, to curb garish roadside development, which is not only unsightly, but also interferes with the efficient operation of the highway.

— Continuing to give high priority to systematic planning for general aviation airports, and to selecting and reserving future airport sites well in advance of anticipated urban development.

Madgwick also mentioned that early consideration should be given to reserving a new site for the Dutchess County Airport, a move which is included in the planning program of the Metropolitan Transportation Authority.

Future Proposals

Madgwick ticked off these proposals for future concern:

—Extension of improvements already under way on Routes 210 and 17A near Sterling Forest to provide a more direct connection to Port Jervis in southern Orange County.

— New branch extension of circumferential Interstate Route 287 from Morris County in New Jersey northward to tie into Interstate Route 84 in the vicinity of Montgomery in Orange County. This new branch, built to interstate standards, would serve as an added belt route around the New York Metropolitan area.

— Improvement of Route 32-208 corridor from Kingston south to connect possibly with new interstate belt previously mentioned. This would act as a main spine in the Wallkill Valley and provide an additional route for intraregional travel parallel to the Thruway.

— Examining the need for additional Hudson River bridges between the Rip Van Winkle and Newburgh-Beacon bridges.

Uptown Program

Registration for the Kingston Summer Program Uptown will be held tonight, 7 o'clock, at Clinton Avenue Methodist Church, 122 Clinton Avenue. The program will offer tutoring to children who need help with their school work, recreation for all and a trip program throughout the area. Any child over six years of age is eligible. Parents must register their children in person.

INVENTION FOR SMOKERS — Herbert Lebert, retired aeronautical engineer from Millbrae, Calif., exhibits invention which he claims cuts not only tars and nicotine in cigarette smoke, but eliminates many other harmful substances forced in the high-temperature gases of a puff. Called a sizing ring, a cigarette is pulled through the device which has a hole slightly smaller than the cigarette. This compresses the paper slightly and forms fluted ridges which act as air passages between the paper and tobacco. The air lowers the temperature ahead of the hot ember from 1600 degrees to about 950 degrees and prevents the formation of high-temperature gases containing harmful tars and other chemicals. West Berlin Socked With Many New Taxes

BERLIN (UPI)—East Germany today puts into effect its tightest squeeze on West Berlin since the building of the Berlin Wall.

In defiance of Western protests against interference with the Western right of free access, the East Germans introduced new taxes on road and canal shipments to and from Berlin.

It was estimated the new taxes will cost shippers about $20 million, almost twice as much as they already pay the Communists in tolls on highway traffic to and from Berlin.

The new squeeze on the isolated Western outpost was ordered by the East German government June 11. Along with the taxes, the government required West Berliners and West Germans to get visas costing $2.50 for trips to and from Berlin.

The visa requirement went into effect immediately but the tax requirement was scheduled for July 1.

The new truck tax is about one-half cent for every ton carried and every kilometer traveled. Barges pay from seven cents a ton to 14 cents.

The Western allies protested the squeeze but took no direct counter-measures.

They said East Germany had no right to place restrictions on Berlin traffic, which they said had been guaranteed by the Soviets in postwar four-power agreements in Berlin.

Both the Soviets and the East Germans paid no apparent attention to Western protests. They said in effect that East Germany had the right to control traffic running through its territory.

There was some talk of Western retaliation. But the Western allies, apparently out of a desire to reach a detente with the Soviet Union, took no forceful reprisals.

Berkeley's Campus Is Sealed Off

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — A curfew virtually sealed off this University of California community during the night after police broke up a mass demonstration, freeing Mayor Walter Johnson from a hostile crowd.

Johnson was pushed and spat upon by some who recognized him after he had gone to the gathering of 1,000 to 1,500 to assess the situation.

It was after his encounter with the crowd at the Civic Center Park about 300 yards from City Hall that the 7 p.m. to 6 a.m. curfew was extended from a 56-block area to the entire city.

Police arrested 50 to 60 persons on charges ranging from disturbing the peace to looting, resisting arrest and carrying illegal weapons.

There were no reports of injuries during the night but police said 31 demonstrators and 11 officers had been injured on the previous two nights of demonstrations.

The dusk-to-dawn curfew sealed off the community of 120,000 to all except those who could show reason for entering.

Police Chief William Beall said most of those arrested were not from Berkeley and to his knowledge no students from the University of California at Berkeley were taken into custody.

Police reinforced by 450 state highway patrolmen, with units from nearby cities standing by, broke up a demonstration that had formed at Civic Center just outside the curfew area.

There were no reports of tear gas used, as had been the case in the more violent clashes on Friday and Saturday nights.

Beall said that a number of windows were broken and a few cases of looting were reported after the crowd dispersed.

When this occurred, city officials decided to extend the curfew to cover the entire city, he said.

The city's troubles started Friday night when the Young Socialist Alliance spearheaded a demonstration which it said was, in support of student strikers in France and the rest of Europe and in protest against the Vietnam war and police actions.

Activist Peter Camejo, a former University of California student, said the Saturday rally stemmed from reaction to police clearing the streets after the previous night's demonstration.

Saturday's disturbance was marked by firebombing, rock throwing, window breaking and other vandalism.

Riot-equipped officers moved in with tear gas and cleared the area and arrested 13 persons. The tense situation brought the decision for a curfew, which Mayor Johnson indicated would be in effect tonight again.

At the start of Sunday night's action, about 250 officers were on patrol. This swelled to about 700 as the demonstration was broken up and the curfew instituted.

Omission

In the obituary on Saturday for James Edwin Phelan the following was omitted: he was a member of the St. Joseph's Church Holy Name Society and the Kingston Rotary Club.

Vodka Stolen

The window showcase of Williams Liquor store at 33 Tinker Street, Woodstock was smashed early Saturday morning and 12 quart bottles of vodka was taken, according to the County Sherfif's Department report.

Deputies J. Walsh and R. Matheson said Frank Williams, proprietor reported the break-in. The matter was turned over to Woodstock Town Police for investigation.

Shandaken Slates Meeting

A meeting, to which all residents of the Town of Shandaken are invited, has been scheduled as a public hearing to be held Monday, July 8 at 7:30 p. m. at Town Hall.

It is being conducted by the Shandaken Planning Board with representatives of the New York State Office of Planning Coordination and the director of planning for Ulster County as guest speakers.

The Shandaken Planning Board, although created as an advisory board one year ago, feels that many people still do not clearly understand the desirability and function of a planning board. The primary reason for a planning board's existance, it maintains, is to have the people represented in the formation of plans for the development of the community as a whole, including private citizens as well as business people.

It is hoped that the public hearing will provide opportunity for all persons interested in economic and cultural progress to find answers to their questions.

Unless plans can become a reality, they are worthless and to make a plan a reality requires active support of foresighted citizens, they claim.

Wiltwyck Meets July 1

The Wiltwyck Hose Co. will hold a regular meeting on July 11 at 32 Joy Lane. The meeting was originally scheduled for July 4.

Court Rules Canadian Must Be Released

OAXACA, Mexico (AP) — A 23-year-old Canadian held in the slaying of Dorothy Futterman, a native of Tupper Lake, N.Y., will be freed this week if Mexican authorities do not appeal a decision by a federal court in the case.

Francois Lavallee of Montreal and two Mexican men were charged with "intervention" in the death of the 31-year-old designer, who was found beaten April 12 on a lonely beach at Puerto Escondido, about 90 miles from here.

Miss Futterman, who had suffered a fractured skull, died as she was being taken to a hospital.

Lavallee sought a court ruling on whether there was sufficient evidence to bring him to trial.

Last week, Lavallee's request for a writ of habeas corpus was granted by a federal court. The decision was construed as an admission by the court that there was not enough evidence to hold a trial.

The court action did not involve the Mexicans, who also were jailed.

Cultural Mission

CAIRO (UPI) — McGeorge Bundy, president of the Ford Foundation, arrived Sunday night for a visit aimed at re-establishing cultural relations between Egypt and the United States, disrupted during the June 5-10, 1967 Middle East War.

Paris Hopes Are Tied to Hanoi Parley

PARIS (UPI)—The United States rests its hopes for a Vietnam settlement on talks getting underway this week in Hanoi among North Vietnam's leaders, U.S. sources said today.

The U.S. expectations were dependent on an expected conference between President Ho Chi Minh, Premier Pham Van Dong, Defense Minister Vo Nguyen Giap and Le Duc Tho of the Paris talks delegation.

Tho left Paris suddenly Saturday and conferred with Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin Sunday before flying to Peking and further consultations with Chinese officials.

He went on to Hanoi.

The U.S. delegation hopes that during the talks the North Vietnamese will alter their hardline strategy at Paris and decide it is time for some sort of deescalation that would result in real peace negotiations, the sources said.

The six-week-old talks have been stalemated over the issue of North Vietnamese deescalation and a complete U.S. bombing halt.

North Vietnam has confidently contended it is winning the Vietnam war and refused to back down from a demand the United States quit bombing the north before any significant discussion can start.

U.S. diplomatic sources interpreted Tho's trip to Hanoi as signaling a review of North Vietnamese strategy and said they hoped it would result in a change from the previous unbending position.

Won't Ask: Lindsay on Senate Post

NEW YORK (AP) — Mayor John F. Lindsay says he will not ask Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller — as the governor suggested — to appoint him to the Senate seat of the late Robert F. Kennedy.

Lindsay, at ceremonies Sunday opening a vest pocket park in Corona, Queens, said, "I have produced enough work in the office of mayor and the people of this city," adding:

"I have no intention of asking for the appointment now or in the future. If offered it, I will give it every consideration."

In Little Rock, Ark., Saturday, Rockefeller said he would not ask Lindsay to leave the mayor's post but would give him "prime consideration" if the mayor requested the appointment.

Lindsay cut the ribbon opening the William Gray park, named after Pvt. William Gray, a neighborhood resident killed in Vietnam in February, 1967.

Among those on hand were the soldier's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Gray. Lindsay said their son's name attached to the park was "dedication of the blood he shed for us all."

The mayor termed vest pocket parks "a sign of the progressive and good neighborhood behind them."

Burns Fatal

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Randolph H. Greig, 23, died Saturday of burns suffered last Tuesday when a fellow worker threw a pail of inflammable liquid on him during a horseplay session, police said.

Greig, of Gainesville, and Lysle J. Richardson, 24, of Churchville, were tossing water at each other while working at the Trojan Division of the Eaton, Yale and Towne plant in Batavia, police said.

Killed in Crash

SCHENECTADY, N.Y. (AP) —Theodore Lott, 42, of Schenectady, was killed early today when his motorcycle struck a highway divider, glanced off a stop sign and slammed into the side of a downtown building.

But Old Bell Survives

Ellenville Landmarks Vanishing

With urban renewal demolition continuing in Ellenville, many of the old landmarks in the Wawarsing village are vanishing, but one of the survivors of the razing is the old village hall bell.

Forged in Baltimore in 1895, the 850-pound bell will be placed in front of the new village hall soon.

Village Manager John Geist said that the bell still "rings like a charm."

According to Town Historian Katherine Terwilliger, the bell was installed at the top of the village hall, or Firemen's Hall, in 1897, 23 years after the construction of the building.

The 1874 Firemen's Hall was originally erected to house the jail and to serve as a storage area for fire fighting equipment. Heading up village government at the time of the construction was William F. Scoresby, an Ellenville doctor, who served as president of the village.

One of the more important landmarks to come down was the Weinberger building, Ellenville's first office building, razed several months ago.

Located at 181 Canal Street, the building was erected in the late 1860's or early '70's, and, from 1897 to about 1912, it served to house the public library.

Miss Terwilliger said that one of the more interesting facets of the two-story brick and wood frame dwelling was that it had contained the dry goods business of Lewis Meinhold, back in the 1870's.

It was either Meinhold or a Mr. Leopold who was the first member of the Jewish faith to move into the village.

Urban Renewal Director John O'Connor said that 50 more biuldings would have to come down to make way for a massive building program and that another victim of the bulldozer would be the two-story, wood frame and stucco Hebrew School, or Talmud-Torah, at 113 Center.

Built in 1900, it had originally been a Hebrew temple.

The Silverman building on Canal Street came down last week. The three-story wood frame structure, erected in 1877, during the "boom" period of Ellenville's growth, was built by two cabinet makers, George H. Dutcher and William Holmes.

Dutcher and Holmes made furniture and coffins, apparently a common thing in those days.

The origin of the name Ellenville has an interesting history.

Miss Terwilliger claimed that the village was about to get its first post office, in 1823, but not before village fathers adopted a name for the place.

Prolonged debate produced a deadlock and the womenfolk of the tiny hamlet were asked to come up with a name.

A visiting young lady, who, said Miss Terwilliger, "must have been very attractive," asked that the village be named after her. For one reason or another, she soon got her wish.

Her name was Ellen Snyder.

Miss Snyder married a Mr. Tremper. The couple moved to Kingston where they lived out the remainder of their lives.

The Stachnik Lumber and Wrecking Co. of Phillipsburg, N. J., will continue demolition operations under a contract which will give the company $11,500.

Commission Members Hit State Crime Agency

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Proposed creation of a single state agency to deal with all persons convicted of crimes, regardless of age, has drawn sharp criticism from two members of the panel that drew up the recommendation.

Social Services Commissioner George K. Wyman and Judge Thomas F. McCoy, state administrator of the Judicial Conference, contend the proposal would constitute taking a backward step if it failed to recognize the need for special handling of juvenile delinquents and youthful offenders.

Wyman and McCoy were members of Gov. Rockefeller's seven-member Special Committee on Criminal Offenders, which made its 328-page report public Saturday.

The report urged sweeping changes, emphasizing reorganization of the state's offender treatment system so administration can be continuous from conviction to final discharge. It charged that fragmentation of the existing system, as well as bar effective rehabilitation efforts.

The proposed new agency would be called the Depart ment of Rehabilitative services and would assume most functions now handled by departments. It also would cut into some court jurisdictional areas, most notably probation.

The agency would supervise some functions of the newly established Narcotics Addiction Control Commission and all those of the Corrections Department and Division of Parole. It also would assume duties now under the Social Services Department and Division for Youth.

The panel was headed by Corrections Commissioner Paul D. McGinnis and Parole Board Chairman Russell G. Oswald. It worked more than two years in drafting the report that now is being studied by a 43-member Citizens Advisory Committee, also appointed by the governor. Public hearings are to be held at an as yet unannounced date.

The other major recommendations of the special committee:

—Adoption of a new system to explore the causes of the return to criminal activity and for linking treatment methods to specific needs.

—Development of a new system of handling diagnosis and treatment through the use of inter-disciplinary panels and treatment teams.

—Establishment of regional centers for diagnosis and preparation of pre-sentence and predisposition reports.

—Creation of separate control boards for children, youths and adults to set program standards, supervise diagnosis and decide who should be under supervision and who should be institutionalized.

Wyman, while approving the need to unify the scattered and and uncoordinated agencies that work toward a common goal, said heed should be taken of the separation of services that would occur, especially in his own department.

McCoy argued that proposed revisions in probation practices will pose problems for judges who may be uneasy about relying on information obtained from personnel not under judicial authority.

Using color photographs from his many travels throughout the world, Al Woolley recently presented an evening program "A Photographic Journey" to the guests of Lake Minnewaska House.

The New Paltz educator and famed photo-journalist showed photos from Iran, South Africa, Spain, India, France, Japan, Thailand and the Philippines.

Wooley also commended that "a visual journey can be no further than one's own backyard," and he showed pictures of fall foliage in the Lake Minnewaska area.

Many of the photographs shown have been used in the 13 books Woolley has written.

The educator is currently assistant director of the Festival of the Arts, Elementary and Secondary Educational Act Title III project, and Democratic senatorial nominee from the 38th district (Ulster and Dutchess Counties).

Torraca, Mayone To Participate At FBI Session

Two officials of Ulster County District Attorney's Office will participate in the annual retaining session of the State Chapter, FBI National Associates Tuesday at Concord Hotel, Kiamesha Lake.

The group is comprised of department heads of all law enforcement agencies in the state.

District Attorney Joseph Torraca will be one of the principal speakers on the subject of narcotics enforcement.

County Investigator Thomas F. Mayone will serve as one of the instructors at the retaining session.

John C. Miller, chief inspector of New York State Police is chapter president.

Seaway Strike Holds

OTTAWA (AP) — A secret, four-hour meeting between officials of the St. Lawrence Seaway Authority and union negotiators has failed to hasten the end of a strike that closed the waterway June 21.

The meeting was held Sunday after an appeal from Prime Minister Pierre TElliot Trudeau that the two sides resume talks.

The Canadian Brotherhood of Railway, Transport and General Workers, which represents 1,300 Seaway workers, modified its wage demand but refused a management request to scale it down still further.

DiBernardo to Coordinate Summer Action Unit Program

Ulster County Community Action Committee announced today the appointment of Albert DiBernardo of West Hurley as coordinator for its summer programs.

DiBernardo, who is chairman of Physical Education and Athletics Director at Ulster County Community College, will supervise all phases of the summer program activities to be financed by $14,000 received from the Office of Economic Opportunity and $1,450 of contributions in space and cash from the local community.

The program will consist of recreational, tutorial and training activities conducted throughout the county and represents the results of joint planning and cooperation of several local public and private agencies.

At a training session held Thursday and Friday at Clinton Avenue Methodist Church for personnel and volunteers who will be participating in the program, DiBernardo outlined the program as follows:

A recreational and tutorial program under the direction of Mrs. Nan Slutzky will be conducted at the Clinton Avenue Methodist Church, Kingston.

In cooperation with the Rondout Christian Churches, Ulster County Community Action Committee will provide staff assistance and field trip services to the programs conducted by the Rev. James Veatch at Trinity Methodist Church, by the Rev. Father John Farley at St. Mary's School and by Sister Mary Assumpta at the former John Coleman H. S. on Grove Street. A tutorial program under the direction of Miss Ann Vree will be a part of these programs. The entire program will be coordinated with Kingston City Recreation programs at the Downtown parks and at Kingston Point Beach.

In Highland a recreational, tutoring and field trip program will be conducted in cooperation with 12 VISTA volunteers under the auspices of the Marist College supervised by Brother Alan Smith.

A branch of that program will also be conducted in Plattekill.

A similar program will be conducted at the Ellenville Central School under the supervision of Brother Pat Flemming.

Counseling and training services will be provided to summer employes placed by UCCAC with various local private firms and in its own summer programs. These services will be provided by Lester Hatcher and Robert Zaslafsky.

All of the programs will be in full operation beginning July 8. The Clinton Avenue and the Ellenville program will begin operation next week.

The Kingston Recreation Department is cooperating with the two Kingston programs and will plan joint field trips during the summer with Ulster County Community Action Committee.

Neighborhood Youth Corpsmen provided through the YMCA administered program will provide additional staff support for the program. All the programs are receiving the support of volunteer workers.

AT TRAINING SESSION — Discussing plans for the summer recreation program of the Ulster Community Action Committee Inc. are (seated) Richard Nace, county legislator and member of UCCAC board; Mrs. Nan Slutzky, director of Kingston Summer Program Uptown and Brother Alan Smitn, Vista Associates program, Highland; (standing) Miguel Villeda, Neighborhood Youth Corps, Plattekill and Lester Hatcher, vocational counselor for UCCAC. A training session was held last week at the Clinton Avenue Methodist Church with workshops and guest speakers. (Freeman photo by Kruh).

COUNSELOR AIDES — Cadette Girl Scouts Linda and Susan Plonsky of Kingston and Sharon Schulz of Woodstock go over summer camping program in preparation for a season as counselor aides at Ulster County Council Camp Wendy in Wallkill. The three Cadettes will pioneer a new approach at the camp, serving as staff assistants and utilizing the skills they have learned as Girl Scouts. (Freeman photo by Kruh).

Camp Wendy Now Open

Adventure — skills — friendship — all these and many more are waiting at Camp Wendy. Camp Wendy in Wallkill, is operated by the Ulster County Council of Girl Scouts, Inc. for all girls ages 7 through 17.

Opening date was yesterday with four sessions established as follows: June 30 to July 6 - July 7 to July 20 - July 21 to July 27 - and July 28 to August 10. There are still openings for campers in all sessions, reservations can be made through the council office at 1 Van Buren Street, Kingston.

The one-week sessions, one called the Sparrow, and the other the Red-winged Blackbird, will provide the younger and less experienced girls with an introduction to the Girl Scout program in a camp setting. Activities will include learning basic camping skills, simple outdoor cooking, conservation, arts and nature crafts. The framework for Brownie activities will be the Brownie B's—Be Discovers and Be Friend-Makers. Emphasis for the Juniors will be outdoor badges.

Each two-week session will have its own special emphasis: The Blue Heron Encampment in July will be an all waterfront and allied interests session. The Wood Thrush En-Campment, in August, will contain an arts unit, a homespun unit and a bike unit. Both sessions also include conservation and primitive camping opportunities for those who wish them. All sessions are geared to help the children progress in outdoor fun appropriate to their age levels in Scouting.

The Ulster County Council of Girl Scouts, Inc. is a member agency of the Ulster County Community Chest.

Poor People Seek to Hike Ebbing Support

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Poor People's Campaign tried today to bolster its ebbing support among middle-class whites.

Leaders of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC) called a news conference to announce formation of a broadly based "national poor people's coalition."

The coalition was expected to try to mount local antipoverty demonstrations in various cities. But it also was clear SCLC leaders hope it will serve as a local point for regaining the middle class support the campaign attracted earlier.

The Rev. Andrew M. Young Jr., who took over command of the campaign after the Rev. Ralph David Abernathy was arrested, said Sunday the antipoverty campaign was popular with middle-class whites in its opening weeks.

But then, he told a group of people who earlier marched at Capitol Hill, newspaper editorials urged the marchers to go home and demanded that the nation's capitol "get back to business as usual."

"That's where the fight starts," Young said at the Ebenezer Baptist Church. "We admit as middle-class people that poverty is not a problem of the poor, but that poverty is a problem of the nation."

SCLC leaders said the new coalition would represent all the ethnic and poor people's groups which have supported the campaign.

4th Estimate: 700-800 to Die on Roads

CHICAGO (UPI) — Between 700 and 800 persons will die in automobile accidents during the July 4 holiday weekend, the National Safety Council estimates.

"Anouncing so dismal an estimate gives us no pleasure," Council President Howard Pyle said Sunday.

The traffic count for the 102-hour July 4 weekend begins at 6 p.m. local time Wednesday and ends at midnight Sunday.

A similar nonholiday period averages 650 traffic deaths, Pyle said.

The Cong Terror Rocket

An Eerie Whistle Followed by Tremendous Lightning-Like Bolt

By RICHARD V. OLIVER

SAIGON (UPI)—An eerie whistle followed by a tremendous crack something like a nearby bolt of lightning in a summer thunderstorm. . .

That's the sound of the Viet Cong 122mm rocket—the terror of Saigon—as it courses through the night sky at 800 miles an hour, then crashes down on this crowded capital.

The faster-than-sound speed means that the men, women and children who died in a rocket's blast do not hear the killer. Only the survivors do.

The 122mm rocket is not particularly accurate, but it doesn't have to be when the target is a whole city and its range is up to 6.2 miles.

Range, in such warfare, isn't important either.

Fired from a woodland of northern Virginia, the 122mm rocket could soar over the Pentagon and the Potomac River—and hit the White House. It could be fired from Brooklyn's Prospect Park and smash into the center of Times Square. It could be launched from the University of California campus at Berkeley and explode in downtown San Francisco.

The 122mm rocket, built in the Soviet Union, made its first appearance in South Vietnam in early 1967, but its use was relatively limited until this spring when the rockets began to rain on Saigon and its 3,000,000 people.

There now seems an unlimited supply of the deadly missiles.

According to U.S. intelligence sources it takes the Communists an average of about two weeks to transport a 122mm rocket from Hanoi to the outskirts of Saigon.

Only a few months ago it took four men two months to bring in one rocket.

The reason for the speedup in delivery: High speed roads built by the Communists in Laos and Cambodia—and in some cases leading into South Vietnam itself—permits them to truck the rockets to within about 35 miles of the capital. Then they are loaded into sampans and boated to within one night's march of their eventual firing positions.

Another factor in the speedier transportation, the intelligence people say, has been the partial pause in the bombing of North Vietnam which also has permitted the Communists to double their rate of infiltration.

Weighing only 102 pounds, one of these rockets can be taken apart and carried by two men. It can be set up either on a portable launcher or simply on a mound of earth, in less than five minutes. To aim it, all that's needed is a plumb bob, a ruler, a compass and a city map.

Once the rocket is fired, the launch site can be tracked within minutes by use of sophisticated radar equipment which "locks on" to the rocket's trajectory and plots its origin. When the launch spot is located counter-fire can be called in on it. But often the rocketeers will have departed before the first shell hits.

The naked eye also is used to trace the rockets. Thus, helicopters and planes constantly patrol the rockets. Thus, helicopters and planes constantly patrol the skies around Saigon, their pilots scanning for rocket flashes. This can be difficult, too.

When launched, the 122mm rocket gives off a flash that lasts only seven-tenths of a second. So it can be lost in the blink of an eye or a turn of the head by an observer hovering above in a helicopter or flying over in a plane.

Essentially, the 122mm rocket is nothing more than a six-foot-long, two-inch-wide metal tube with 14.5 pounds of TNT stuffed in its nose. A 55-pound launcher tube to fire the rocket is essential, but a few sticks of bamboo will suffice to get it stood up and aimed.

The TNT load packs enormous destructive power. It can tear through 14 feet of sand, or 17 feet of earth. It can blow up a building—or turn a human body into bloody mush before the victim knows what hit him.

How to stop the 122mm rocket attacks? "Almost an impossibility," Gen. William C. Westmoreland has said. The rockets can be set up and fired too quickly, and the launching place dismantled and vacated even more quickly.

Some Health Precautions For Vacation Travelers

By MURRAY J. BROWN
UPI Travel Editor

Nobody can guarantee you perfect weather or health during your vacation. There's nothing you can do about the weather but precautions can be taken to protect your health.

The wise traveler will get medical and dental checkups and all required and recommended inoculations before departing for foreign lands. He also will pack a first aid kit for emergencies, including something to combat one of the most common ailments of travelers, the "tourist trots" or diarrhea.

As a further precautuion he would become a member of the non-profit International Association for Medical Assistance to Travelers (IAMAT). Membership is free.

There probably is nothing more frightening for the traveler than to fall ill in some foreign country with nothing more than a pocket book of common phrases or dictionary to help him try to overcome language difficulties.

List Centers

That's where IAMAT comes in. IAMAT provides members with a passport-sized directory listing centers in 70 countries in Europe, Asia, South America and Africa, and remote islands in the Pacific and Atlantic Oceans for Americans and Canadians who may need emergency medical help.

All the participating physicians speak English, are specialists in internal medicine or cardiology and have had some training in the United States, Canada or Great Britain.

The centers are manned around-the-clock. All the member-traveler has to do is telephone the local center and he will be given the names of at least two doctors to protect his fight of "freedom of choice."

A standard worldwide fee has been set for medical services: $8 for office calls, $10 for home or hotel visits, and $15 for calls after 10 p.m., on Sundays and local holidays.

IAMAT physicians will provide the traveler with a detailed medical report if further treatment is necessary during his onward travels and also will send a copy along to his doctor at home.

Travelers with chronic ailments should take along a complete medical report from their own doctors, giving details of condition and treatment, IAMAT recommends. Persons with diabetes, heart ailments, hemophilia, severe allergies or other medical problems also should carry tags, bracelets or cards. Such identification could prove invaluable if an amergency arises.

The tags, bracelets and cards may be obtained from the Medical Alert Foundation International at Turlock, Calif., or from the American Medical Association at 535 Dearborn St., Chicago, Ill.

IAMAT cardiologist now practicing in Toronto.

A membership card, good for three years, and the directory can be obtained without charge by writing to IAMAT at 745 Fifth Ave., New York, N.Y., 10022 or 1268 St. Clair Ave., W., Toronto.

IAMAT is a non-profit organization and depends on voluntary contributions to help defray administrative and other expenses. Donations are welcome.

Move Against Hubert

Convention Procedure Issue Aim of McCarthy Crew

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Eugene . J. McCarthy's campaign crew is groping for an issue of convention procedure to unite a majority of the Democratic delegates against backers of Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

Humphrey's own campaign team is expecting a move of this type, but it is so confident of victory that it is willing to go more than half way to meet the demands of McCarthy spokesmen. But it doubts that the McCarthy supporters will settle for anything short of unconditional surrender.

Since the death of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, Humphrey and McCarthy are the only major national contenders for the Democratic presidential nomination. The vice president appears headed toward a first ballot victory if anything is predictable in this year of unforeseen political events.

Inasmuch as he did not compete in presidential primaries, the Humphrey campaigners are concerned about shouts of "streamroller" and "boss domination" of the convention already coming from the McCarthy side.

The McCarthy camp would like to dramatize that issue at the convention. They are not likely to try a contest over a "peace plank" repudiating the Johnson administration on Vietnam. Anti-Goldwater Republicans tried and failed to win fights over platform planks at the 1964 GOP convention.

McCarthy supporters also are not expected to try to resist the election of pro-Humphrey or pro-administration officers already tapped by the party leadership for key roles at the convention.

But they are talking about fights over seating delegations with arguments that they were denied their legitimate share of delegates from various states. This route was successfully followed by backers of Dwight D. Eisenhower in winning him the 1952 Republican nomination from Robert A. Taft.

That Eisenhower gamble was led by men like Thomas E. Dewey, Herbert Brownell and Henry Cabot Lodge, shrewd political pros of a type not conspicuous in the McCarthy organization.

There also has been talk about demanding repeal of the unit rule, a procedural practice recognized by the Democrats but not by the GOP at national conventions.

Under a unit rule, a state delegation can bind all of its members to vote as a solid bloc on the nomination of a candidate or other questions. Some of the states which have historically followed this practice might resist a change, but the Humphrey leaders might not.

Although some states have not yet chosen delegates, the Humphrey organization believes it already can look ahead to 1,600 first ballot votes or more. The winner needs 1,312.

The McCarthy organization thinks it has 700 in sight. It hopes that improved McCarthy showings in public opinion polls and other tactics will shake 600 more into the McCarthy ham-

HIGH FALLS SIGN — Roger Nickerson (upper right) of the High Falls Civic Association, directs the reconstruction of the village entrance sign. The painting depicts one of the old canal boats, with a team of mules plodding along the towpath. The original, blown down two years ago, was painted in 1940 by S. N. Abbott, an illustrator whose work appeared on the cover of The Saturday Evening Post, among other magazines. The present sign, a near duplicate, was painted by Elayne Kossuth, civic association secretary. Equipment for putting up the sign was provided as a public service by Walter Davenport Sons, Inc. Shown with Nickerson are Bill Davenport (front left), Walt Wright (back left) and Barry Ayers (back right).

Pound Goes Down British Pay More

Foreign News Commentary
By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Ever since 9:30 p.m., Nov. 30 of last year, when the British government reduced the value of the British pound from $2.80 to $2.40, the British consumer has been paying more for everything.

The increase has run from groceries to free medical prescriptions, which are no longer free, to taxes.

Housewives complain that for every pound spent for essentials they get pennies back in change.

The cheapest pack of cigarets costs 41 cents.

Bank savings accounts are down.

For the Labor government of Prime Minister Harold Wilson, devaluation of the pound had been the bitterest of pills. It had pledged itself to protection of the British pound as one of the world's most convertible currencies and to furtherance of the British welfare state.

Yet, faced with a mounting treasury deficit and to ward off total disaster, it finally was forced to retreat on both fronts.

That the British government effort to turn losses into profits so far has been somewhat less than successful may be laid in part at least to human nature, a frailty Americans can understand.

The Americans have greeted the promise of new taxes and even limited austerity with no more enthusiasm than did the British.

The reasons for both government actions were the same. Both were spending more than they were taking in.

In Britain, the 1967 government deficit amounted to more than $700 million, paltry compared to the U.S. deficit but more than a nation of 51 million people and few natural resources could stand after many deficit years.

Unfortunately, trouble for Britain means trouble for the world, including continuing stability of the U.S. dollar.

128 Vessels Are Tied Up

NEW YORK (AP) — An estimated 128 ships have been tied up by the strike of the AFL-CIO National Maritime Union (NMU).

Twelve vessels were immobilized Sunday as they arrived from foreign ports. The union had estimated that 116 ships were tied up Saturday by the strike which began Friday midnight.

Mediator Theodore W. Kheel has scheduled a meeting today between representatives of the union and two groups which act as bargaining agents for 73 companies that operate 576 ships.

The management groups are the Maritime Service Committee and the Tanker Service Committee.

The strike call was against 70 per cent of the American Merchant Marine, but many of the ships are at sea or in foreign ports and have not been affected yet.

Poor Example

LONDON (UPI)—Mrs. Anne Kerr said she had nothing against canned tongue or canned potatoes or frozen spinach. But in the House of Commons dining room?

"Food is becoming more and more tasteless and less interesting," she said, "and food at the House of Commons is no exception.

"We have people from all over the world dining there," said Mrs. Kerr, a member of Parliament herself. "I think that is a pretty poor advertisement for British cooking."

Life in Uruguay

Strikes, Disturbances Continue Despite the Tough Line

By ISAAC A. LEVI

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP) — Armed troops in battle fatigues patrol the streets around the clock on the lookout for student demonstrators and labor strikers.

At night, the city is nearly blacked out by a power shortage resulting from a long drought.

All news of strikes and student demonstrations is censored in the Uruguayan press and on radio and television.

Security Measures Tight

Security measures have been tight since President Pacheco Areco suspended constitutional guarantees early in June to keep his once happy and prosperous little country from sliding quickly onto the skid row of nations.

But the strikes and disturbances continue despite the government's tough line.

Garbage lies uncollected for days in the suburbs. The post office stopped functioning weeks ago and clerks and tellers all but paralyzed the banking system with surprise walkouts.

Uruguay, which contented British residents once described as "God's pleasant little heaven on earth," is caught in an ugly spiral of wage-price inflation.

The drought has aggravated the crisis for the second consecutive year, hitting the Uruguayan housewife hardest of all.

Milk, butter, potatoes, flour and edible oil are in short supply. Two-thirds of this Atlantic coast country is normally fueled by hydroelectric power and the lack of rain brought strict rationing of electricity.

This means the housewife cannot use her electric stove, iron, washing machine, hair dryer and hot water shower attachment in daytime. Bottled gas and kerosene are also in short supply.

Dinner out is no help either. Restaurants are affected by the restrictions — lit only with candles or pressure lamps, and the neons are dark.

Life in Uruguay has deteriorated so much that Uruguayans are emigrating at a clip of about 2,000 a month, official sources report. The rush for passports is such that the foreign ministry is issuing them only with three months delay.

Scores of doctors, engineers, technicians and other skilled people, queue up outside the U.S. consulate every day, applying for visas that will permit them to settle in the United States. Others seek jobs and a new life in western Europe, Venezuela, Peru and neighboring Argentina and Brazil.

The fact that Uruguay's population is only 2.6 million and the country has the lowest growth rate in all Latin America makes the exodus doubly felt.

Also, despite the security measures, the government seems unable to cope with a mound of seemingly insurmountable problems. And it is blocked by constant disagreement within the governing Colorado party.

The economy began ailing 18 years ago, when world prices for wool, meat and cereal started to drop. Successive governments did nothing to industrialize and make the country less dependent on agricultural exports and importation of foreign goods.

And they did little to capitalize on the many tourists that visit Uruguay's beaches every summer from Brazil and Argentina. The economic ailment gradually became a chronic crisis.

One result is that today Uruguay imports more than it exports, has a $500-million debt with other countries, and a swollen government bureaucracy that helps cover up some of the unemployment but weighs heavily on the economy as a whole.

The cost of living went up 160 per cent in 15 months, the peso dropped from 76 to 250 to the U.S. dollar, and the government expects to have a $3.9-million budget deficit this fiscal year.

Underdoggery, Overguess, Pollosophy

Candidates Using Coined Words for Political Tactics

By ARNOLD SAWISLAK

WASHINGTON (UPI) —"Underdoggery," "overguess" and "pollosophy" may not be proper dictionary words yet, but they help to describe some of the odd gyrations of the 1968 political campaign.

All three of these coined words are working labels for some of the tactics being practiced by the candidates and their supporters this year.

"Underdoggery," for example, was a favorite gambit for all the candidates in the presidential primaries. It almost became a ritual for spokesmen to announce a short time before the voting that their candidates were fighting an uphill battle against prohibitive odds. It got to the point in the Oregon and California campaigns where it seemed that no one was going to win if you believed the statements from the campaign managers.

Fine Art

An extreme form of "underdoggery"—practiced in different forms by both Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and California Gov. Ronald Reagan—consists of insisting that you are not even trying to win some primary or convention test.

Despite the fact that Humphrey's supporters made an obvious pitch for votes in the district of Columbia and South Dakota, his spokesmen were vociferous in denying after the fact—the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy won both primaries—that the vice president was in any way involved.

Reagan's people took the same position in Oregon and Nebraska, even though the governor's name was on the ballot in both states and someone was out there appealing for votes for him. Reagan's variation is that he steadfastly claims to be only the California "favorite son" presidential candidate.

"Overguess" is sort of a reverse "underdoggery." It consists of making an overestimate of the opposition strength so that no matter what the result, it will appear no better or even no worse than expected.

Nixon's campaign staff is very good at "overguess." One of the former vice president's agents told a UPI reporter at the recent GOP governors' conference that he would not be surprised to see Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller win the endorsement of five or six hitherto uncommitted governors at the Tulsa meeting. Rockefeller, as expected, got one endorsement and from the Nixon camp's view, left Tulsa with a net loss.

Rockefeller himself indulged in a variation of "overguess" at Tulsa by announcing to reporters that he didn't really want a lot of "favorite son" governors to endorse him and free their delegations. He said even where the delegations were heavily pro-Rockefeller, the small groups of Nixon backers might add up to enough to clinch the nomination for the former vice president.

Humphrey's campaign aides also practice "overguess." During the primaries, after a good look at the predicted results, the Humphrey camp always suggested that Sens. Kennedy or Eugene J. McCarthy would be failing to win unless they got some percentage of the vote that seemed out of reach.

"Pollosophy" is everyone's bag. At some time or other, every candidate has come up with a public opinion poll that shows him running ahead of every other candidate. The big national polls, of course, are the favorite subjects for these breathless announcements from the contending camps. But in a pinch they will fall back on supermarket straw votes, disc jockeys' polls of their all night listeners and mock elections at small teachers' colleges.

An interesting application of "overguess" to "pollosophy" was demonstrated recently by a spokesman for Nixon, who announced in advance that Rockefeller would soon begin to rise in the national polls because the New York governor was traveling more and spending a lot of money for advertising.

This seemed a logical possibility, but the idea was to make any Rockefeller gain seem of little significance because it came as no surprise to the Nixon camp.

State Police Major Galvin

Security Chief for the Fifth Presidential Campaign

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) —Ed Galvin is in his fifth presidential campaign and is just about the only man who has seen more front line action than Harold Stassen.

The handsome Galvin, a state police major who heads the security force protecting New York State governors, has been involved in presidential contests for 20 years. New York hasn't been without a governor who would like to be president and made a try for it since Galvin took over.

Liked by Dewey

In 1948, Galvin was a sergeant in the highway patrol and was assigned to the police escort for Thomas E. Dewey, GOP candidate, in northern New York. Dewey liked Galvin's work and, after the trip, requested he be transferred to the Executive Mansion in Albany.

Albin S. Johnson, now deputy superintendent of the police division, and Galvin were in charge of Dewey's security in 1948. They travelled everywhere with him.

At one point, the troopers were credited with averting a serious mishap. Dewey was speaking from the rear platform of a campaign train. Hundreds of persons were gathered near the platform when the train suddenly began backing up.

Galvin and Johnson literally threw themselves at the crowd and pushed the people back.

The problem of security for presidential candidates today is serious and prompted President Johnson and Congress to provide special secret service guards. Galvin, however, is still on the job.

Protecting candidates now involves many things. But, Galvin had a special problem during Dewey's reign.

The New York governor had been a racket buster and district attorney before moving into the Executive Mansion in Albany. As a prosecutor, he broke up "Murder Incorporated", a gang of professional killers. Some went to the electric chair, but other gangsters were just getting out of prison when Dewey became a presidential candidate.

At one time it was reported, a gang leader put a price on Dewey's head. But, Dewey went where he pleased with Galvin always at his side.

Retained by Ave

The Republican governor retired and W. Averell Harriman, a Democrat, was elected. Harriman kept Galvin on at the mansion.

The new governor wasn't long in Albany before he began looking at the White House. He became a potential presidential candidate and hit the campaign trail. So did Galvin.

Nelson A. Rockefeller succeeded Harriman and, in 1960, made his first try for the GOP presidential nomination. There was Galvin, right beside him.

In 1964, Rockefeller made another try and now he is at it again. The major is with him wherever he goes.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Monday, July 1, the 183rd day of 1968. There are 183 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1867, the Dominion of Canada was created by the British North America Act.

On this date:

In 1862, the U.S. Congress established the Bureau of Internal Revenue.

In 1863, the Civil War Battle of Gettysburg began.

In 1898, Theodore Roosevelt and his Rough Riders carried out a victorious assault on San Juan Hill in Cuba in the Spanish-American War.

In 1931, Wiley Post and Harold Gatty completed a round-the-world flight in the monoplane Winnie Mae.

In 1932, New York Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt was nominated for president at the Democratic National Convention in Chicago.

In 1958, the St. Lawrence Seaway was completed.

Ten years ago, it was disclosed that Castro rebels had kidnaped 50 Americans and Canadians in the area around the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo Bay.

Five years ago, President John F. Kennedy visited Rome and sought the support of Italian officials in strengthening the Atlantic Alliance.

One year ago, the Chinese Communist party said China's President Liu Shao-chi had been ousted.

Shandaken Program Starts

The Town of Shandaken Youth Recreation program was scheduled to start today. The program is open to all children residing in the Town of Shandaken who were enrolled in grades 8 through 12 last year. The program will continue until Aug. 16.

The swimming activities will again be conducted at Swim-O-Links in Woodstock on Tuesday and Thursday mornings. Children will be transported by bus, leaving Shandaken Fire House promptly at 9 a. m. with stops at the Parish Hall in Phoenicia and Gustafsons Store in Mt. Tremper. The return trip will terminate in Shandaken at 12 noon. There is no charge for participants.

Other activities will be held at the Phoenicia School and the field behind the Consolidated Laundry in Shandaken. Phoenicia School will be open 9-12 a. m. on Mondays and Wednesdays. Shandaken will be open on Monday, 1-4 p. m. and on Friday, 9-12 a. m.

In the evening there will be organized athletics for boys enrolled in grades 7 through 12. The program is supervised by Gertrude Spoljaric and Michael Patrick, and directed by Willis F. Wither. All children are expected to abide by the commission rules and may be barred for failure to do so. Supervised swimming will only take place at Swim-O-Links.

In case of inclement weather all activities will be cancelled. The procedure for notification of cancellation will be given to participants after the program begins.

Dental Clinic In Wallkill July 9 and 10

A free dental inspection clinic for pre-school children between the ages of four and five will be conducted in Wallkill on July 9 and 10.

The clinic will open operations at the Health Center on Wallkill Avenue in the Shawangunk village.

Participating children will have their teeth inspected and cleaned.

Appointments may be made by calling Mrs. George Brach of Bridge Street, Wallkill.

The clinic is part of a county-wide drive organized by the Ulster County Health Department.

July 4 Closing

All Internal Revenue Service offices will be closed on Independence Day, July 4, Donald T. Hartley, Albany District Director of Internal Revenue announced today.

July 4 is a legal holiday for all government offices. They will reopen on Friday, July 5.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

IT'S FUN TO TEACH — Two sixth grade girls are having plenty of fun these days conducting classes for 12-19 children each day. They are Dorothy Singley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Singley of 18 Overlook Drive, Hurley, and Kim Graham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Graham of 9 Overlook Drive, Hurley. The young girls conduct a play school each morning for neighborhood children ranging in age from 3-7. The sessions include dramatic plays, reading, writing reciting nursery rhymes, singing, dancing and story time. Refreshments are served and this year, like last year, the 11-year-old girls will prepare a program for parents at the end of the summer. It looks like a constructive summer for the would-be teachers and their pupils. Photographed during one of the sessions, standing (L-R) Dorothy Singley and Kim Graham; seated (L-R) Cathy Jansen, 4; Timmy Sgroi, 6; and Lisa Sammons, 3. (Freeman photo by Kruh).

Mrs. Walter McClure Studies for Ph. D

Mrs. Walter McClure Jr., of 24 Sycamore Drive, Hyde Park, has returned to her home from Dearborn, Mich., after attending the annual conference held by the Danforth Foundation for recipients of its Graduate Fellowships for Women, a program designed to assist mature women to become college teachers. The theme of this year's conference was "Higher Education facing the Urbanized World: Responsibility and Response." Speakers included: Dr. Joseph P. Cosand, President, Junior College District of St. Louis; Dr. H. Mark Roelofs, director of the Metropolitan Leadership Program, New York University; Dr. Francis A. J. Ianni, Director of the Horace Mann-Lincoln Institute, Teachers College, Columbia University; Dr. Lawrence C. Howard, Vice-President of the Danforth Foundation, and Dr. Jessie Bernard, Professor Emerita of Sociology, Pennsylvania State Universiyt, and author of "Academic Women."

Mrs. McClure, an alumna of the Evening Division of Dutchess Community College, was graduated from Vassar College, summa cum laude and Phi Beta Kappa, in June, 1967. In addition to her Danforth Fellowship, Mrs. McClure has held a Faculty Fellowship at Columbia University, where she received her M.A. degree on June 4. She plans to continue her studies at Columbia under both fellowships with a Ph.D. in English History as her goal.

Mrs. McClure, a former resident of this city, was graduated from Kingston High School in 1934 and was for many years secretaory to Attorney Lloyd R. LeFever.

RECEPTION AND TEA — Residents at the Home for the Aged, Washington Avenue, Kingston, were feted at a reception and tea by the Board of Managers on June 28. In honor of the occasion, residents wore corsages made by members of the Little Gardens Club. Mr. and Mrs. George Matthews, managers of the home, and members of the board attended. Pictured at the tea table (L-R) are Mrs. William Carvell, treasurer; Mrs. George Matthews, manager; Miss Florence Riseley, new resident; Mrs. Isabelle Hayden, new resident; and Mrs. Herbert DeKay, member of the visiting committee. American Starlet Contest Now Open

Entries are now open in the Miss American Starlet Contest, at Palasades Amusement Park, N. J. for girls 17 through 25. The contest, which offers an opportunity for motion picture or TV stardom, now has preliminaries every Wednesday evening at Palisades Amusement Park, N. J.

Weekly winners will be selected to compete in the contest's semifinals on Wednesday August 14. The national grand finals of the Miss Amarican Starlet Contest will be televised from Palisades Amusement Park, N. J. on Monday evening, August 19 via WPIX-TV, Channel 11.

There is no entry fee and nothing to buy to enter this year's Miss American Starlet Contest. Talent is not required. Contestants will be judged in preliminaries and in the finals in one piece bathing suits on the basis of beauty of face, figure, poise and personality. All single girls who are between the ages of 17 through 25, who are American citizens, may enter by writing to: Miss American Starlet Contest, Palisades Park, Palisades, N. J. 07024 for free entry blanks.

The winner of this year's Miss American Starlet Contest will recieve a dream trip to St. Petersburg, Florida and Hollywood, California for herself and her chaperone via National Airlines. While in Florida, she and her chaperone will stay at the luxurious Gulf Lane Motel on St. Pete's Treasure Island From St. Petersburg, she and her chaperone will be flown via National Airlines to Hollywood, California where she will receive an opportunity for motion picture or TV stardom.

Toastmistress Club Visits in Albany

The Kingston Toastmistress Club sent a delegation of local women to Albany on June 20 to attend the installation dinner for the Capital City chapter. Mrs. Leo Spira, speech instructor of the Schenectady school system, spoke on "Verbal Projection."

Kingston delegates were Barbara Read, Gloria J. Clark, Jean Fox, Emma Apren, Delores O'Connell, Margaret Jackson and Frances Mitchell. Evaluation of the Club Speaker was the theme and guest speakers from the Uncle Sam Toastmaster, Troy, and the Campus Toastmaster, Troy, and the Campus Toastmaster, Albany, spoke on current events.

The Kingston Toastmistress Club will meet in Britts Community Room in August to plan club elections and a fall program. The women will have an open discussion period about the Toastmistress Pledge which states: "We as members of International Toastmistress, hereby pledge to give active thought to leadership training and speech improvement, hoping through better communication to achieve greater understanding throughout the world."

Course in Study Techniques

"It doesn't make sense to study when they don't know how to. It isn't fair to expect them to pick up this skill in a casualy way any more so than it's fair to expect a person to pick up keyboard skill or skill with brushes and charcoal without some help and supervision, without some understanding of what the study process is all about." So says Harold Wise of Woodstock. "There should be provision made in every curriculum so that the process of study is approached in an orderly, systematic manner. Right now, most people use and most teachers teach what I would call the read-and-guess method."

This summer, Mr. Wise will offer a course of instruction and practice in the use of the natural abilities that should come into play in searching for the author's meaning in a paragraph, a chapter, or an article. It is a course based on specific tasks that are crucial to a thorough grasp of written materials. The course gives a person something definite to do as soon as he sits down in front of a page of words. Following the procedure keeps one's mind on the job and produces rewarding results. The course is designed for high school and college students and for those in adult education programs.

Mr. Wise's course is not a remedial reading course, a rapid reading course, or an advanced reading course in comprehension dealing with "skimming" and "scanning." Its first purpose is to teach a person how to find the main point in the structure of an ordinary paragraph without faltering and without error. From that point on, it branches into more complex written forms using the fundamental abilities every user of the language has.

Classes will meet in the basement classroom of the Woodstock Guild of Craftsmen in Woodstock, beginning on July 2nd. Further information can be obtained from Mr. Wise by writing P. O. Box 538, Woodstock, N. Y.

Mr. Wise, the designer and instructor of the course, is a resident of Woodstock. He holds a Ph.D. degree in Educational Phychology from the University of Iowa. He has taught at the University of Iowa, Western Reserve University, and the University of Oregon as well as at various levels in secondary and elementary schools. He has served as consultant for different institutions and organizations including The Ohio State University, Community Action for Youth in Cleveland, the U.S. Office of Education, and American Education Publications. In addition, he was partially or totally been responsible for the construction of nationally-distributed achievement tests in social studies, English, and reading. These include the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Tests, Literature Tests for Project English and the U.S. Office of Education, and Silent Reading Tests for MY WEEKLY READER, a widely-known and widely-used classroom newspaper.

Currently, Mr. Mise is engaged in independent research in verbal and non-verbal communication. He is about to begin the construction of special individualized reading inventories to be used in public schools in Providence, Hartford, Baltimore, and Washington, D. C. this coming fall. Along with his professional work, he serves as secretary to the Woodstock Township Chamber of Commerce.

MRS. JOHN J. MEIER

Elliott - Meier Nuptials - Here

Miss Miriam E. Elliott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold H. Elliott of Stone Ridge, N.Y. wed John J. Meier of Albany, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leopold Meier of Syracuse, on Saturday, June 22 at 1 p. m. in the First Baptist Church, Kingston.

The Rev. Edwin Coon officiated in the absence of the Rev. James Braker. Rev. Mr. Coon is minister at the Fair Street Reformed Church. Mrs. Arthur Pedersen was organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white linen gown with a chapel length train. A headband of lace, flowers and seed pearls held her elbow length veil. She carried a Bible with a white hybrid orchid.

Kathy Bowers of Cunningham, Beacon, N.Y., was matron of honor. Serving as attendants were Patricia A. Elliott, Thorofare, N.J., sister-in-law of the bride; Ellen P. Elliott, Kinderhook, N.Y. sister-in-law of the bride; Nancy Csontos, Middleburg. All wore matching gowns of pale blue linen trimmed with white daisies. They carried cascades of white daisies and for headpieces, they wore pale blue ribbon trimmed with daisies.

Carl Meier of Duxborough, Mass., served as best man for his brother. Ushering were Harry M. Elliott, Thorofare, N.J.; Marvin B. Elliott, Kinderhook; Arnold M. Elliott, Stone Ridge, all brothers of the bride.

A reception was given at The Alpine in Rosendale after the church ceremony.

The bride was graduated from Rondout Valley High School and is now attending Albany State University where she is enrolled in the teacher education program.

The bridegroom was graduated from Baker High School, Baldwinsville, and is now employed by Sears, Roebuck and Company in Albany.

When Mr. and Mrs. Meier return from a wedding trip to the Adirondacks and the Thousand Islands, they will be at home at 651 Park Avenue, Albany.

Gessner Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. John C. Gessner of Kingston recently celebrated their 68th wedding anniversary.

Married on June 26, 1900, they have six children: Mrs. William O. Koehler, John J. Gessner, Burton T. Gessner, Miss Catherine E. Gessner, Edward D. Gessner, and Mrs. Kenneth J. Jones.

The Gessners have six grandchildren and eight great grandchildren. They reside at 953-76th Street, Brooklyn and Search End Acres, Elizaville, N. Y.

Krom Twins Are Engaged to Wed

Mr. and Mrs. Benson A. Krom of 77 Valentine Avenue, Kingston, announce the engagement of their twin daughters, Marilyn Charlotte to Vincent Lowe of 105 Hunter Street, Kingston, and Carolyn Betty to John W. Gleason of Rt. 1, Flatbush Road, Kingston.

The Misses Krom are 1968 graduates of Kingston High School and will be attending the Gulf Coast Junior College in Panama City, Fla., and Albany Junior College in Albany, respectively, this September.

Lowe, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Lowe, is a Sergeant in the U. S. Air Force, stationed at Lyndall Air Force Base, Florida.

Gleason, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Gleason, will attend the Simmons School of Embalming and Mortician Service at Syracuse in September.

A combined 18th birthday and engagement party was celebrated by the Krom family on June 21.

Grange News

Ulster Grange

Ulster Grange 969 will hold its annual fair and bazaar on July 4 in the Grange hall. Booths will be erected and articles of clothing will be sold.

A cafeteria supper will be served.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Being an amateur cook (it's a hobby which has resulted in my doing most of the culinary chores around our house!), I happened to stumble onto a new wrinkle that may be of interest to your female readers.

After frying beef steak or veal, or with the drippings from beef or veal roasts, I use water to make the gravy. For poultry and pork drippings, I use milk, or condensed milk and water.

Depending on how much gravy we want, I pour off part of the grease, pour in the liquid I want to use and then stir in the thickening immediately. Before the liquid has even started to heat. Sure prevents lumpy gravy.

As it cooks, I stir continually, adding either thickening or more liquid for the right consistency.

After seasoning, it pours or dips like a cream soup and is delicious.

Mrs. John Coffey Heads Columbiettes

Hudson Valley Chapter of Columbiettes elected Mrs. John F. Coffey of Kingston president for 1968-1969. Also elected from Kingston at the June 22 meeting, held at Knights of Columbus Home, Middletown, were Mrs. Frank Tiano, outer guard; and Mrs. Edward Ahl, trustee. Those elected from Saugerties included: Mrs. Edward Curry, vice president, Mrs. Philip Sweeney, corresponding secretary, and Miss Lucille Nau, treasurer.

Others elected were Mrs. Joseph Furfaro, recording secretary and Mrs. John Bohner, re-elected financial secretary, both being from Triune Auxiliary, Pearl River. Those elected to office from Middletown were Miss Doris Finnegan, inner guard and Miss Clair Hallinan and Mrs. Cassie Oddo, trustees.

Also attending from Kingston Auxiliary were Mrs. Joseph Bruno, Mrs. Frank Castiglione and Mrs. Charles Senor.

Mrs. Joseph Hastings of Nanuet, president of Hudson Valley Chapter 1966-1967, presided during the meeting and elections. President Hastings thanked all the officers and members for their cooperation during her term of office and also for having sent her to the 1968 New York State Convention, June 7, 8 and 9 at the Americana Hotel, New York City. She also reminded that installation of the new officers will take place in the fall.

Steelworkers Industry In Contract Negotiations

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The United Steelworkers union (USW), faced with new warnings that its wage demands would cripple the industry, plunged into a new week of top-level contract negotiations today with the 11 major steelmakers.

Economists claimed the union's demands for a money increase of about six per cent cast a "somber outlook" on the basic steel industry. The producers earlier said they would be forced to boost prices if labor costs increased.

In a magazine published by Mellon Bank, economists said such a settlement would cost the industry an additional $233 million each year, or about 19 per cent of last year's pre tax earnings. Employment already costs the industry 3.9 billion a year, the report said.

"There are few industries less able than steel to afford a wage settlement of a magnitude which would add six or seven per cent to employment costs," an article in Mellon's Market Indicator said.

"Essentially, the steel industry has been bedeviled by highly unfavorable cost-price relationships, which show little sign of improvement." Last year's profits, the article said, dropped a "substantial" 22 per cent.

"Indeed, the somber outlook for the industry earnings that would seemingly result from such an agreement would inevitably raise some serious questions regarding the future prosperity—and hence employment opportqnities — in the industry," it said.

The union began negotiating an economic package with the industry last Monday. The negotiators were faced with an Aug. 1 deadline to settle a contract for about 450,000 workers.

The industry-wide talks were held in secret and neither side would comment on their progress.

Meanwhile, one of the union's strongest districts planned to present its own package of contract demands to the USW negotiators early this week.

The list was drawn up by local presidents of District 15 last Friday in the belief the negotiators would stress wage increases at the expense of improvements in the fringe benefit package.

District 15, representing about 43,000 workers in the nearby Monongahela Valley, called for retirement after 20 years with a pension of $10 a month for each year of service. Currently, the union retirement plan requires 30 years service with a $5 benefit for every year of service.

Msgr. Boland Dies

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — The Rt. Rev.Msgr. John P. Boland, 80, well known throughout the state for his work in the labor mediation, is dead, the victim of a small fire apparently started by a cigar he was smoking.

Police said the elderly Roman Catholic priest's clothing caught fire after a nurse left him to prepare a meal Sunday. Msgr. Boland was confined to a wheelchair for the past 10 years.

Killed in Crash

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (UPI) — Donald R. Graham, 40, of Hilton, was killed when his car left a road near his home and struck a tree Saturday.

Red Cross Safety Tips On Home Swimming Pools

Advice on how to make certain that residential swimming pools are scenes of pleasure rather than tragedy was offered today by J. Brian Steeves, water safety chairman of the Ulster County Chapter of the American Red Cross.

Mindful of the fact that nearly a million American families, or more than four million persons, now utilize home pools of various sizes and shapes, the Red Cross seeks to reduce fatalities and accidents to the absolute minimum.

Steeves said families owning or using home pools should heed the following safety tips in order to make private pools and enjoyable and safe place for themselves and their friends:

The Advice

Consult your local health department for regulations on pool sanitation, learn how to test the purity of water; Be sure the deck is as slip-proof as possible, rough cement or small tiles make a safe surface;

Clearly mark shallow and deep sections of the pool, run buoy lines across to separate: Allow no one to swim alone, Provide supervision for youngsters at all times. Be sure all pool users know how to swim — If there are a number of new swimmers or poor swimmers in the neighborhood, consider giving swimming lessons (If formal classes are not practical, parents will find great value in using the Red Cross manual for parents, "Teaching Johnny to Swim, which is a do-it-yourself booklet in working with children and is available at your local Red Cross chapter.); Fence pool, and include a gate which can be padlocked when the pool is not in use; Make some provision for shade so pool users can be sheltered from the sun; Install a Home Pool Safety Post — with ring buoy, reaching pole, and emergency phone numbers— Your Red Cross chapter can supply, upon request, posters giving instructions for setting up safety post for pond or home pool; Keep a first aid kit on hand and see that it is properly equipped; Allow no running or horseplay around thepool; Be sure some member of the family knows how to administer first aid, especially artificial respiration. Your Ulster County Red Cross Chapter can tell you when the next first aid class starts or make arrangements for your group to have one; Do not permit bottles or glassware around the pool; To help keep the pool clean and guard against infections, provide an antiseptic footbath and some sort of shower arrangement if possible; Remember that a diving board can be a hazard. Be sure the water is deep enough for diving from the board and that the board is properly placed. Caution swimmers to stay away from the area directly in front of the board, small swimming pools with little deep water should not have diving boards; Check your insurance policies to determine whether or not you are covered for accidents in the pool area. Your attorney can tell you what your legal liabilities is.

Paltz Planning Police Changes

Even with New Paltz village police having moved into new headquarters in the town hall this week, another change may be due soon.

Recently, two New Paltz residents and one Dutchess County man took a civil service examination for the post of sergeant.

This would indicate that a formal changeover from a police force to a police department may be due.

Village Mayor Henry DuBois has said that the board will not announce whether they will change the force's structure until after the test results are known, within about two months.

However, Village Trustee Leland E. Heinze predicted even more changes in the law enforcement setup.

Hailing the "pioneering efforts" in the new communications center, Heinze claimed that "in the not-too-distant future," area residents may be seeing "a joint police force."

Braves Rout Newburgh, 17-1, for Third League Win

Kingston Braves backed Charlie Janes 2-hit pitching with a 19-hit barrage of their own to crush Newburgh Nuclears, 17 to 1, in a Hudson Valley Rookie League contest Sunday at Newburgh.

Joe Schabot, the Braves' right fielder, inflicted the heaviest damage on the Nuclears, racking up a "5 for 5" performance, with four singles and a triple and two RBIs.

An unearned run in the third inning robbed Janes, the Kingston High school strikeout ace, of a shutout.

The Braves, meanwhile assaulted Jack Hunter for five runs in the first inning and chased him with a seven-run barrage in the fourth. Steve Miller mopped up. Jones fanned only nine, well below his normal quota, and walked two.

Hawkins Triples

Jerry Hawkins slammed a triple and two singles. Pete Watzka had a trio of singletons and Chick Boice and Mike Patrick two singles apiece, as the Braves staged their finest batting show of the season.

The victory was the third win in four starts for Manager Paul Gianuzzi's tossers. However, one was a second-round game played in advance on the regular date and does not appear in the current standings.

Cappillino, Speirs City Loop Winners

Pitchers again dominated the action in the City Baseball League, as the Kingston Merchants blanked the Lions Club, 2-0, on Greg Cappillino's 5-hitter and the Rosendale Merchants defeated Donnie Vans, 5-1, behind the 2-hit pitching of Bob Speirs.

Frank McGowan of the Lions Club lost a 3-hitter when the Kingston Merchants made two first-inning runs stand up for the victory.

Cappillino, the former Highland High school star, walked two and struck out 12. McGowan, who was relieved by Charlie Moore in the sixth, fanned three but was in trouble with nine walks. McGowan had two hits. Len Whitten singled in one of the two Merchants runs in the first inning.

Speirs, the Ulster Community southpaw, yielded Donnie Vans two hits and a lone run in the fourth inning. Ed Zullo tripled and scored on Chick Boice's single. Spiers fanned seven and walked one to get the nod over Gene Stoutenburg, who allowed ten hits and struck out three.

Rosendale got to Stoutenburg early, picking up two runs on Joe Schabot's double behind an error on Joe Gorman and Bernie Schaeffer's single.

Singles by Doug Doyle and Frank Cerone send Rosendale ahead, 3-0, in the third. The winners closed out the scoring with a pair in the sixth, when Ken Williams singled home Speirs and Chip Schoonmaker, who singled ahead of him.

Speirs and Williams each had two hits for Rosendale.

McCraw, John Help Stanky With a Day

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

A day full of Eddie Stanky is easy to take for a ballplayer who has just had a week full of sergeants.

So Tommy John and Tom McCraw, sprung from National Guard duty by weekend passes to spend Sunday with Stankey and the White Sox, led Chicago to a 12-0 romp over Detroit.

John pitched a five-hitter for his seventh straight victory and McCraw slammed three hits including a pair of doubles and scored twice.

Elsewhere in the American League Sunday, New York trimmed Oakland 4-2, California socked Washington 8-4, Cleveland topped Boston 7-5 in 10 innings, and Baltimore dropped Minnesota 6-4.

McCraw and John, both members of an Indiana Air National Guard unit, are halfway through their annual two-week tour of duty at Alpena, Mich. They flew to Detroit for Sunday's game.

Bill Voss and Sandy Alomar, untroubled by military problems, helped John and McCraw carry off the Detroit maneuvers. Voss walloped a grand slam home run—his third major league homer and second in two days against the Tigers—and Alomar slapped four hits, stole three bases, and scored four runs.

John, whose 7-0 record is even more impressive when you consider the White Sox' troubles this season, struck out five and walked none for his first shutout of the year.

Roy White tagged a two-run homer in the seventh inning, giving the Yankees their victory over Oakland. White's seventh homer of the year snapped a 2-2 tie.

Steve Hamilton came out of the bullpen to strike out Reggie Jackson, ending an eighth inning Oakland threat and saving the victory for Steve Barber. Jackson had homered and singled and scored the A's second run earlier.

Hoffman Shuts Out Dino's Tossers 3-0

Hobie Armstrong's lead off home run on the first pitch of the game gave Ray's Chevrolet pitcher, Richie Hoffman all the support he needed. Hoffman hurled a four-hit shutout, winning 3-0 over Dino's Tavern of Middletown Sunday in the Hudson Valley Softball League.

The contest, played at Middletown's Fancher - Davidge Park, saw Armstrong power losing flinger Skip Eggleston's first delivery some 300-feet, sailing over the left-centerfield wall and into the parking lot. The shot, high and arching, cleared the fence with plenty to spare.

Hoffman, who struck out six and walked none, got a perfect fielding performance from his teammates. He made their strong effort stronger by being ultra effective with his dropball pitch.

Using the drop and fast ball effectively in the stifling heat, Hoffman handcuffed Vern Darmstader, Ron Barnes, Charlie Cotton and Dan Duff, a quartet of feared Dino's batters.

Ray's other pair of runs came in the fourth on a leadoff double by Mel Williams and a series of three errors by Dino's.

Hoffman walked none and scattered four singles. He gave up a pair to Dick Cotton, one to Tony (Whitey) Zovistoski and another to Dick Harding.

In addition to the homer, Armstrong tagged Eggleston for a single as did Hoffman and Ron Secreto. The loser fanned 13 while issuing a trio of walks.

In other games, Green Haven dumped Didey's of Newburgh, 4-2 and Beacon blanked Stewart Air Force, 5-0.

No Hustle Irks Leo 200 Bucks

By MIKE BRYSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

A lot of things irk Leo Durocher. One of them is a lack of hustle from his Chicago Cubs.

The Lip decided to do something about it Saturday—he slapped a $200 fine on one of his players for loafing on the basepaths.

Every single Cub hustled Sunday. . .all the way to a 6-2 conquest of St. Louis' National League leaders. It was the second victory in the three-game series for Chicago, loser of 11 of 12 games before the Cardinals came to town.

But St. Louis held on to its 6½ game lead as Cincinnati whipped San Francisco 5-3 and Los Angeles edged Atlanta 3-2. In other games, New York nipped Houston 1-0 and Pittsburgh stopped Philadelphia 5-2.

What made the Cubs' victory especially sweet was that it came against old nemesis Steve Carlton.

The left-hander, who had banished the Cubs twice earlier this season including once on a one-hitter, was the victim of a three-run uprising in the first inning, then was chased with two more in the fifth.

Singles by Glenn Beckert, Billy Williams and Randy Hundley staked starter Bill Hands, 7-5, to the early lead. The Cubs mixed another single by Williams, Ernie Banks' double and an infield out for the two in the fifth and Jim Hickman lashed a solo homer in the eighth.

Bob Tolan had an eighth-inning homer for the Cards.

Pete Rose's two-run homer and four singles by Lee May powered Cincinnati to a 5-0 lead before San Francisco staged a late eruption.

The Giants combined singles by Jim Hart, Bobby Bonds, pinchhitter Dave Marshall and Dick Dietz for two runs in the eighth, and Hart singled in another in the ninth before Gerry Arrigo and Clay Carroll quieted things down.

Los Angeles made Ken Boyer's second RBI of the day in the third inning stand up to turn back Atlanta. The Braves had tied it 2-2 in the third on Felipe Alou's two-run double.

But the Dodgers came right back on Len Gabrielson's double, Tom Haller's single and Boyer's ground out. Jim "Mudcat" Grant, 3-3, won on a five-hitter.

Kuriger, Kithcart Top Lions

Tom Kuriger and Marshall Kithcart combined their talents to lead Kingston Lions to a 14-5 romp over KPA in the Babe Ruth League.

Kuriger allowed only three hits, struck out 13 and collected two singles. Kithcart slugged four doubles and knocked in five runs in four trips to the plate. Dan Brown had two singles for the winners, who scored eight runs in the seventh inning.

Two of the three KPA hits off Kurgier were doubles by Frank Veterre.

Zeeh, Peschel In Tennis Final

Pete Zeeh of Kingston and Paul Peschel advanced to the final round of the Powelton Club's invitational tennis tournament at Newburgh over the weekend.

Zeeh defeated J. Fisher in a first round match, 6-3, 6-0, then eliminated Robert Smith of Middletown, 6-4, 6-2. In the semi-finals he defeated John Chen, 6-4, 7-5.

First seeded Peschel won over Ken Miron of Newburgh by default in the first round, then toppled C. Warburton, 6-2, 6-0, before a 6-1, 6-1 semi-final win over Mike Payne of Newburgh.

The finals are tentatively scheduled for Tuesday evening.

Class 2 Entries Due in Softball

Entries for the class "B" Fast Pitch softball tournament to be held July 13-14 and 20-21 in Middletown must be in to tournament director Ken Van Sciver by July 8.

The tourney, first of its kind in the State ASA, is open to any team in the nine counties that make up District 10—Columbia, Greene, Ulster, Dutchess, Putnam, Orange, Sullivan, Rockland and Westchester.

This year, for the first time, a team may compete in either the class "A" or class "B" tournament, but not in both. The two top finishers of the "B" division will go to Syracuse for the State championships later in the summer.

The entry fee for ASA registered teams is 20 dollars, 28 dollars for non-registered teams.

Lassie League–Summer Softball

The Saugerties Lassie League will begin its first softball season July 12 at the lighted softball diamond at Cantine Field in Saugerties.

The girls will play a double header every Friday, weather permitting, for the following seven Fridays.

Mary Ann Maines will manage the Cuties, a group of married gals who have played under that banner periodically since 1965. Other teams and managers are The Pussycats, Charlie Mullaney; The Leaders, Ann Bogart; and F-X Curle, Tom Manning.

The competition, open to all Saugerties girls over 12, will utilize 11-girl teams, a free substitution system, and play five-inning games.

Wood's Victory Is Number Four

Ellenville's Harold Wood, the 1967 Limited Sportsman champ at Orange County Fair Speedway, took home his fourth feature win there Saturday night, staging a come-from-behind rally to nip Eddie Yonkers.

Wood overtook Yonkers, the leader throughout, on the final lap, making it four wins in seven weeks. John Pennings of High Woods was third.

Will Cagle won his third Modified feature, grabbing the lead after the 11th lap and outracing Sonny Strupp home. Rags Carter was third.

In the Semi-Late Model class, Dick Bohm won the feature after the top three front-runners went out with mechanical trouble.

Mets Win, 4-1

The Pee Wee League version of the Mets defeated the Tigers, 4 to 1, behind the 2-hit pitching of Terrt Myers. Wayne Brooks homered for the lone Tiger run.

Legion Checks Saugerties, 6-2

Pete Helmich fired a 1-hitter and struck out 16 batters. Kingston Post No. 150 American Legion Juniors started their march toward the New York State championship with a decisive 6-2 victory over Lamouree-Hackett Post 72 of Saugerties at Cantine Field.

The teams meet in the second game of the double elimination county playoffs on Monday July 8 at 8 p. m. at Dietz Stadium.

The Kingston High School whiz walked four and lost his shutout on two tainted runs in the sixth inning, when Rick Cyr singled for the only Saugerties hit.

Mike Weishaupt paced Kingston's attack with a double and two singles. Greg Rios had two singles and Gary Schatzel a single and double. Rick Sorenson singled to account for the eight Kingston hits off Gary Silinovich and Bill Wrolsen.

Kingston collected its six runs with two runs in each of the first, third and seventh innings.

Locals Score Early

The locals put two runs on the board in the first inning when Gary Schatzel doubled to left with one out. Charlie Moore tapped to the pitcher and Greg Rios singled scoring Schatzel. Rios stole second and came home on Mike Weishaupt's single.

Rios singled Schatzel, who scored three times, home in the third inning and completed the circuit himself on a passed ball, infield out and another passed ball.

Trailing 4-0, Saugerties scored its two runs in the sixth, as Helmich hit Randy Fury with a pitch to start the inning. Fury stole second, Wrolsen walked and Cyr singled to load the bases.

Fury scored when Schatzel threw wild past third trying for a DP on Bill Perks liner. Wrolsen went all the way to third and later scored on a wild pitch.

Schatzel triggered his third straight rally with a walk in the seventh. The shortstop booted Rios' grounder and the runners wound up on second and third. Weishaupt's single scored both.

Cash Battle Wins Wiltwyck:

MR-Fans Enjoy Record Evening

It was a truly night for records. The warm weather, the fantastic racing card, and a general feeling of excitement all combined to give Monticello Raceway its best night ever. Four marks, two in racing and a pair in betting, fell by the wayside Saturday night with the crowd of 12,678 and Monticello officials both savoring the show.

The Mighty M staged double feature races, slating a pair of $5,000 free-for-all paces, the second honoring Wiltwyck Country Club.

The Wiltwyck, the sixth, saw the first racing mark go down the drain. Cash Battle (3), reined by Ralph Spencer, posted the second fastest time of the season at MR, a two-length victory in 2:01.1. Cash Battle came the last half on the top end in :59.3, clipping four-fifths of a second off his lifetime mark. Only Song Cycle's 1:59.1 mile last week is faster at the Mighty M in 1968.

In the first feature, the fourth race, Charlie King pulled the "I'm on top, come get me," strategy and romped home easily a three-length winner behind C.K. Adios. The time was a nifty 2:02.4

Named for his driver, C. K. Adios let Deputy Hanover (3) gain the lead in the first turn. Coming out of that turn, King brushed C. K., zoomed past Deputy as if he were standing still and moved back on the rail leading before the first quarter. He kept the lead throughout, coming home in a blistering :29.2 final quarter — amazing considering he led for all but the initial three-sixteenths of the mile.

In the final race, three-year-old Torpid Vic, piloted by Carl Ernst, cut a fifth-of-a-second off his best mile ever, winning handily in 2:02.2.

The fans loved the card, applauding throughout. The way they marched to the windows satisfied MR management.

The evening's first perfecta race, the third, saw the perfecta wagering record go down with the patrons dumping in $51,882. Short lived, the betters plunked down $62,610 the next perfecta race, the fifth.

Total handle for the night was $857,530, snapping the old standard of $760,423 set August 5, 1967, when 14,785 were on hand.

Two Seconds Won By Pesky Hawk

Pesky Hawk, a two-year-old colt owned and trained by Linda Van De Mark of Quarter V Ranch in Hurley, placed second twice in a field of 53 horses at the Tri-State Horse Show in Port Jervis Sunday.

The young stallion, a permanent registered quarter horse, was broken only a month ago. He notched seconds in Senior Western Pleasure and Break Your Gait and Out.

Josh Logan Ready For Another Biggie

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) —Director Josh Logan laments: "Whenever they plan a big picture, they say, 'Get Logan.' Some day I'd like to direct a picture for under a million dollars—and I'd be willing to do it for nothing."

Logan is preparing to start another big one, but he's not really as unhappy as he sounds. He seems to enjoy dealing with big casts and masses of extras, as he did in "Picnic," "Fanny," "South Pacific" and "Camelot."

The new one is "Paint Your Wagon," into which Paramount is sinking an estimated $10 million. That's a lot of money for a musical that failed to set broadway afire. It was one of the early collaborations of Alan Jay Lerner and Frederick Loewe.

"It certainly wasn't a very good play," Logan admitted. "I could scarcely sit there when I saw it on Broadway; the only thing that held me were the wonderful songs. The story was a good idea, but it never came off. Alan told me that he rewrote the play three times, but he never was satisfied with it. The story was simply too vast a panorama.

"When Alan was assigned to produce 'Paint Your Wagon' for Paramount, he decided to throw the script out and use as many of the songs as possible."

Lerner hired Paddy Chayefsky to fashion the new story line. He did so, said Logan, by expanding brief scenes at the beginning and end of the play script. The leading characters of an old man, his daughter and a Mexican sweetheart were abandoned. The old man was made younger and cast with Lee Marvin. A new character named Partner was created; he'll be played by Clint Eastwood. The new girl will be portrayed by Jean Seberg.

All will do their own singing, although Logan doesn't think that's important in a film musical. This despite the criticism of the dubbed songs for Audrey Hepburn in "My Fair Lady."

"I don't think it really matters who does the singing," said the director. "Too much is made of voices in musicals. Take a girl like Vanessa Redgrave. Even though she sang every note to her songs in 'Camelot' and spent a lot of time perfecting her singing, she was still accused of having her songs dubbed.

"In 'South Pacific' only one of the singers—Mitzi Gaynor—was not dubbed. Even Juanita Hall didn't do her own songs because Rodgers and Hammerstein thought she had lost her quality."

"Paint Your Wagon" will be filmed almost entirely on location near Baker, Ore.

Brothers Drown

ITHACA, N.Y. (UPI) — Two Cortland brothers drowned Sunday while they swam in a forbidden area below the 215-foot high Taughannock Falls, police said.

The two were identified as Kenneth and Michael Pipcak, both in their late teens. They were swimming in the pool below the falls when caught in an undertow.

INDEX NO. 1968-2712
NOTICE OF SALE

In pursuance of judgement of foreclosure and sale, made and entered in the above-entitled action the 10th day of June, 1968, I, the undersigned, the Referee in said judgment named will sell at public auction at the Ulster County Courthouse, 285 Wall Street, in the City of Kingston, New York on the 12th day of July, 1968 at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, the premises directed by said judgment to be sold, and therein described as follows:

ALL THAT TRACT PIECE OR PARCEL OF LAND, situate in the Town of Olive, County of Ulster and State of New York.

BEGINNING on the northeast on the line of Jarvis Burger and Rose Apuzzo thence northwest along the lines of Ole Peterson, Charles Carlson and David Smith lot, now Ole Peterson in the same direction to a chestnut tree, a corner on the lands of Sarah Smith deceased and Rose Apuzzo thence northeast on the line of said Sarah Smith to a wood road leading from the wood lot called the Aaron Van Leuven lot, thence along said wood lot in a northeasterly direction to the corner of a stone wall on the farm of Rose Apuzzo formerly owned by Abram F. Markle, thence southeast along said wall to a oak tree a corner between Rose Apuzzo and Harry Hansen, thence southwest along the lands of Harry Hanson and Jarvis Burger to the place of beginning, containing 35 acres of land be the same more or less.

EXCEPTING AND RESERVING therefrom so much as was conveyed by John F. Darling and wife, as described in the following libers: 595/534; 604/370; 607 265; 689/411; 711/126; 726/191; 743/466; 768/453; 887/183; and 889/243.

BEING a portion of the premises conveyed to John F. Darling and Gertrude L. Darling, by deed dated November 4, 1935 and recorded in the Ulster County Clerk's Office in Liber 378 of Deeds at page 516. It being the intention of the grantor herein to convey all of the remaining property in the Town of Olive which was of John Darling and wife, deceased.

The said John F. Darling died a resident of the County of Ulster on the 22nd day of December 1961.

The said Gertrude L. Darling, died a resident of the County of Ulster the 25th day of October, 1963.

ALSO, ALL THAT TRACT PIECE OR PARCEL OF LAND, situate in the Town of Olive, in the County of Ulster and State of New York, described as follows:

BEGINNING at a stake northwest of the Darling residence on a wood road, thence southwest along lands of Darling 182 feet to corner on lands of Simone, thence 132 feet west along lands of Simone to stone wall; thence 182 feet along said wall North to said wood road, thence along said wood road East 132 feet to place of beginning. Containing one-half acre of land be the same more or less.

BEING the same premises conveyed to Gladys J. Bashall by deeds dated March 26, 1962 recorded in Liber 1119 at page 723 and February 9, 1962 and recorded in Liber 1119 at page 721.

Said premises are to be subject to outstanding general and school taxes.

Dated: June 10th, 1968.

AN OPPORTUNITY IN SALES

We are a well established company supplying the Christmas Club service to financial institutions through representatives operating in exclusive territories. Our men think for themselves, are personable, able to manage their own affairs and to work with little supervision. They travel a lot during the week within their territories and are good family men.

We seek a man from the Kingston area who will work hard for a good income. He will assume an established territory consisting of Eastern New York and the State of Vermont.

This is an unusual opportunity and we would like to find the right man for it. If you think you fit this picture, write in detail and in confidence to:

L. H. Watts, Vice President

Dear Abby

Good Act Down the Drain

By ABIGALE VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a divorcee with children. In my capacity as a secretary I had access to all the details of a very messy divorce involving an executive in my company. (His wife deserted him, and he recently divorced her and was given custody of their children.)

I invited him to a party at my home, and on the invitation I wrote, "If I can be of any help in your present predicament, please let me know."

He did not even acknowledge my invitation.

I am very confused about this. Did I use poor taste in offering my help? Did I perhaps embarrass him? Or should I take this as an indication that he doesn't want anything to do with me? Your opinion would be appreciated.

CONFUSED

DEAR CONFUSED: Your offer to help him in his "present predicament" was an innocent blunder, since you learned the details of it from your access to other sources, and not from him. You may gave humiliated, if not irritated, him by your invitation. Let things well-intentioned intrusion into his private affairs. Meanwhile, he should have acknowledged your invitation. Let things summer

DEAR ABBY: A friend of mine who married and moved out of town wrote that she and her husband were coming to town next month. We see each other only once a year and keep in touch by letter. She wrote: "We would love to see you, so why don't you throw a party, inviting some people we know? We'd sure enjoy it."

I had intended to invite her and her husband for an evening, but I didn't plan on throwing a party, mainly because we have no mutual friends.

My husband is furious. He says she has a lot of nerve, and I should not invite her here at all.

She really is a nice person, and our friendship goes back a long way. How can I get out of this gracefully?

STUCK

DEAR STUCK: Proceed with your original plan and ignore her suggestion to "throw a party." Since you consider ger a "nice person," why not dig up a couple of other chums whose friendship goes back a long way and have an all-girl party in the afternoon? That way your husband will gave no complaints, and you won't feel guilty.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: May I say a word about male surgery to prevent unwanted children? My husband had a vasectomy and I am here to testify that it is the greatest! We are in out 70s and are still lovers. We have no regrets for not having our own children, and we've helped 45 delinquent children to become better citizens.

For people with a background of inherited birth defects, or those with occupations which keep them on the run, or for folks like us who were the oldest of large, poor families and have had it, it is a blessing.

Opening lead—♥ J

By Oswald and James Jacoby

Oswald: "When you have to choose between two suits to attack, you may have to decide by sheer guesswork but most of the time there is some guidelines. You try the suit that promises the greater reward if your play works or if each suit promises the same reward you try the one that allows you to reserve the other suit play for later."

Jim: "Here is a hand which illustrates the latter role. Most players who tried the club finesse wound up down one."

Oswald: "This hand really is a good example. I can imagine the successful declarers complaining that their finesses never win."

Jim: "Part of the trouble here is that most people don't realize just what a finesse is. For instance, the lead of a spade from dummy up to the king would be just as much a finesse as the lead of a club up to the ace-queen. The club finesse allows declarer to make a trick with his queen if East holds the king. The spade finesse allows the king to make a trick if East holds the ace."

Oswald: Perhaps it would simplify matters if we defined a finesse as the attempt to make a trick with a card by leading up to it when the card would not take the trick if you led it."

Jim: "Or maybe we should define a finesse as an attempt to make a card do the work of a higher card because of its position."

Oswald: "Whatever definition you use, it should be obvious that if South starts his finessing by leading a club he will lose his contract any time West holds the king of the suit, since he will have a sure spade loser later. If he starts by leading a spade toward his king and West holds the ace, he will lose that trick but still have a chance to try the club finesse. If East holds the ace of spades South will be able to discard one of dummy's clubs on the king of spades and make his contract without the club finesse."

Quick Quiz

Q — Why are all animals given reverence in India?

A — Because the people believe in transmigration. This is the belief that when the body dies the soul of a person may be born again into the body of an animal.

Horoscope

By SYDNEY OMARR

It's In The Stars

("The wise man controls his destiny . . . astrology points the way.")

FORECAST FOR TUESDAY
JULY 2, 1968

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Attention focuses on partnerships, including marriage. Important that you are aware of legal nuances. Get expert aid where legal matters are concerned.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Practical affairs dominate. Costs should be evaluated. Applies specifically to vacation activity. Emotions run high. Give logic a chance to compete with emotions.

GEMINI (May 21 - June 20): Good lunar aspect today coincides with romance, creative interests. Featured is change, excitement of discovery. Wonderful for dealing with opposite sex.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Accent on home base. Means innovations which improve comforts, security are advisable. Stress originality. No day to follow. Be a leader. Get going—others will comply.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Short journey emphasized. Relatives and visits could highlight day. Hunch pays off. Heed inner feelings. Don't go against grain of your own nature. Rid yourself of irritating influence.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 - Sept. 22): Money, personal possessions hold attention. Be flexible. Look beyond immediate indications. Gain shown through written word. A little study today could result in profit.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 - Oct. 22): Greater freedom indicated. You can meet people, go places and do things. Moon in your sign stresses personality, appearance. Be confident, optimistic.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Some secrets could be revealed. Be alert. One behind-the scenes works in your behalf. Know this—respond accordingly. Avoid jumping to conclusions. There is delay—but it is necessary.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Some of your desires are fulfilled, due to co-operation from family. Know this, strive for domestic harmony. Don't work against your own interests.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 - Jan. 19): Review ambitions. You could be focusing on wrong direction. Take time to study aspirations, trends. Go with the tide. Gain co-operation of those in authority.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Favorable lunar aspect today coincides with change of personal philosophy. You add to knowledge. Read, write and advertise. Don't be shy. Say what you mean—mean what you say.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Interest spurred in the occult, hidden affairs. You could find out where money is going. Means you make discovery which plugs economic leak.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you may possess musical ability; you are sensitive, receptive and creative. Opposite sex finds you attractive. Change of domestic scene is on horizon.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Cycle high for LIBRA, SCORPIO. Special word to CANCER: orignnal approach could work wonders.

Mature, Relaxed Les Crane

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—It is always a pleasure to see a performer mature, relax and suddenly find the right groove. It has to happen from within, and when it does it is comfortable for the audience, too. And that is why Les Crane is good television company these days.

It is the same Les Crane who, before Joey Bishop, had the late-night ABC-TV series that didn't work out. But it wasn't really the same Les Crane as a performer.

It used to be, in the early days, that he had an edginess to his video manner, and was employing somewhat of a personally controversial technique that he didn't seem to really believe in 100 per cent. Now, however, he has suddenly blossomed into a most gracious host, and—combined with his admitted gifts as an interviewer—the result is that his syndicated television talk show is one of the best and most rewarding contemporary programs on the air.

Changes Attitude

What happened to bring about the personal change?

"I really wanted to be a success before," he said, "and that, more than anything else, prevented me from being successful.

"I was pushing, pressing, and that television machine is like an X-ray machine, if you are pushing, pressing—if you any anything less than natural and at peace with yourself—it shows it."

Sitting poolside at the house that he and his actress-wife, Tina Louise, recently moved into in the Hidden Valley section of Coldwater Canyon, Crane added:

"Now I don't care any more. The show I'm doing is the only one I'm thinking about. And I think Tina had a lot to do with my change of attitude. She's very cool. She made me relax—as much as anyone in this business can."

Series of Vehicles

Crane first came to public attention with a late-night show in New York. Then, on the five ABC-TV owned and operated stations, he had a week-long tryout of an outstanding, gutty and showmanlike program. But when ABC-TV followed up by giving him the nationwide late-night series, so many people messed around with it that it would up a pale imitation of NBC-TV's Johnny Carson show. Later the network brought him back in a program with Nipsey Russell, but that didn't work out either.

After that, he did some television shows and a movie, "An American Dream," before hitting his stride on his new series.

"When you want to be a success," he says, "the thing you worry about most is failure." Nowadays, however, worry seems to be a thing of the past, and Crane is a very loose cat, as witness his outlook: "Every day a guy should say: Today is the first day of the rest of my life."

As I say, Mr. Les Crane is very good company these days.

Humphrey on Peace for Vietnam--Mighty Close to Finding the Way

By United Press International

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey says the United States is "mighty close" to finding the way to peace in Vietnam despite Communist efforts to use the Paris talks for propaganda and the current Red offensive in South Vietnam.

"We're mighty close to finding our way, as I see it," Humphrey said on a Sunday television program (Opinion: Washington—Metromedia).

"I believe with patience, perseverance, tenacity, that we can find that peaceful settlement," the vice president said.

He urged American negotiators in Paris to be steadfast because the North Vietnamese are using their present offensive to "break our will."

"There is no doubt that Hanoi is using the talks, in part, as a propaganda mechanism," he said, but "let's not be propagandized away from the conference table; let's not be baited into a massive escalation in this war . . ."

Enough for Nixon

Humphrey made the statements as a key New York supporter—a former Johnson administration official—suggested that the vice president and President Johnson have differed on the conduct of the war.

At the same time, a top administration official sharply criticized Humphrey's opponent for the Democratic presidential nomination—Eugene J. McCarthy—for his plan to go to Paris to observe the talks.

Eugene P. Foley, former small business administrator under Johnson, said in New York of possible Johnson-Humphrey differences on the conduct of the war: "I believe it's pretty well known that Vice President Humphrey and George Ball . . . were more or less allies in counseling against certain activities and certain policies connected with the Vietnam War."

Declining to be more specific, he said "These are matters that really can't openly be discussed at this time."

It was Ball, the U.N. ambassador, who criticized McCarthy Sunday. "I can't believe he takes this seriously," Ball said of the Minnesota senator's plan to "look in on" the negotiations.

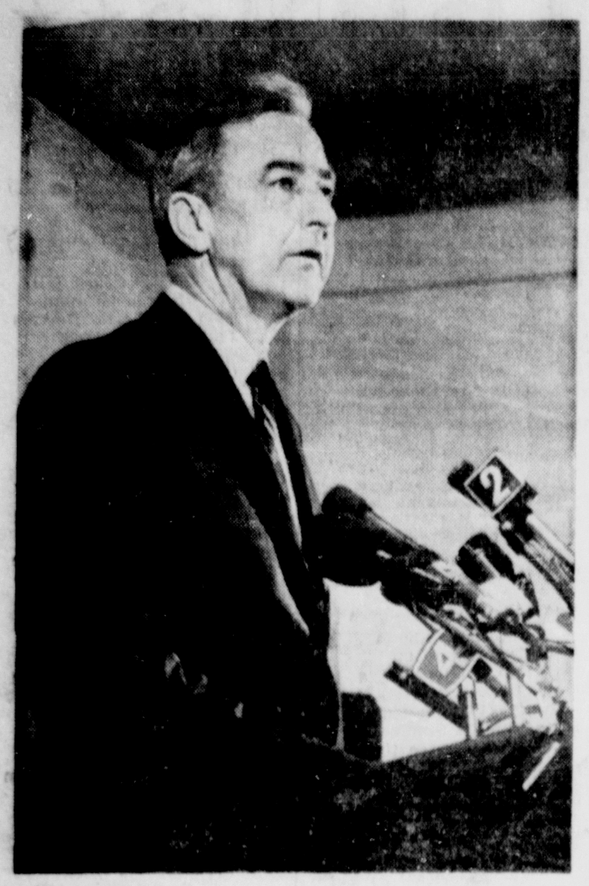
Ball added that such "interference . . . would be mischievous" and said he hoped McCarthy would reconsider.

Suggests Differences

In other developments:

Delegates—A UPI tabulation of convention delegates showed that Richard M. Nixon has, on paper, enough votes to win the Republican presidential nomination. The tabulation showed him with 691 committed and leaning votes with 667 needed to win. Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller had 278 and Gov. Ronald Reagan had 158. Humphrey picked up 126 more votes at weekend Democratic conventions in Missouri, Oklahoma, North Dakota and New Mexico to raise his total to 1,054, with 1,312 needed to nominate. McCarthy was credited with 385 7-10.

Rockefeller—The New York governor Sunday urged states to form community service programs to encourage private initiative in the social services. He stressed such community support would aim especially at city ghetto areas.



FOR GOPer IF . . . —Sen. Eugene McCarthy addressed the Michigan delegation in East Lansing and according to some delegates, left the impression that he would support a Republican candidate if Vice President Humphrey won the nomination. He is shown at a press conference following the address. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

The Deficit Outlook Good

WASHINGTON (AP) — Armed with higher taxes and a congressional mandate to cut spending, the federal government headed into a new fiscal year today with the prospect of compiling its smallest deficit in three or perhaps four years.

The budget deficit in the fiscal year which ended at midnight Sunday ran to about $25 billion by the administration's own estimate—the fourth largest in history.

President Johnson gave the government its deficit-cutting tools last Friday when he signed the 10 per cent income tax surcharge and accepted at the same time the $6 billion in spending cuts he doesn't want.

Americans will begin paying higher taxes in paychecks withholding after July 13.

The tax boost and spending cut could drop the deficit for the new fiscal year to as low as $2.5 billion if present spending estimates remain unchanged, an unlikely prospect.

The government last ran a deficit that low in fiscal 1965 at $1.1 billion. The red ink rose to $3.7 billion in 1966 and to $8.8 billion in the fiscal year which ended one year ago.

The only official word from the administration is that the deficit in the new year should move to well below the $8 billion projected last January.

Spending for the Vietnam war at about $27 billion caused the large deficit in the fiscal year just ended. War costs are now figured at about $28.4 billion in the new fiscal year.

Only three World War II deficits were higher all totaled more than $50 billion, with the one in 1943 reading $57.4 billin.

Pope Paul Defends Papal Doctrines

By ERNEST A. LOTITO

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—Some theologians feel the Roman Catholic Church should expand change to allow married priests and women clergy. But Pope Paul has rebuked Catholics who show "a passion for change and novelty."

The pontiff defended the doctrines of papal infallibility and the virgin birth along with celibacy of priests in addressing 50,000 persons at a Mass Sunday night.

It marked the start of his sixteh year in office and the end of a Catholic "year of faith." The ceremony began at twilight and ended in floodlighted darkness in St. Peter's Square.

John Patrick Cardinal Cody of Chicago was among 42 cardinals who concelebrated Mass with the Pope. Patrick Louis Cardinal O'Boyle of Washington and Archbishop Terence James Cooke of New York were among church dignitaries who attended.

The Pope's sternest words were in a "Credo of the People of God" in which he criticized Catholics who "allow themselves to be seized by a kind of passion for change and novelty."

Catholic sources suggested his defense of doctrine appeared intended mainly for liberal churchmen in Holland and other countires who have come up with ideas regarded as heretical by conservative Catholics.

Vatican observers said the Pope appeared to be suggesting that the liberals stop perpetuating their ideas or face disciplinary action.

He touched on such doctrines as have been called into question:

—The virginity of Mary.

—The real presence of the body and blood of Christ in the Eucharist.

—The infallibility of the Pope.

The pontiff urged priests to remember their situation "will always be paradoxical and incomprehensible to those who have no faith."
